Item 8.01 - Other Events

Pacific Gas and Electric Company's ("Utility") 2015 Gas Transmission and Storage ("GT&S") Rate Case

On November 13, 2014, a ruling was issued in the Utility's 2015 GT&S rate case pending at the California Public Utilities Commission ("CPUC"). In the GT&S rate case, the Utility has requested that the CPUC authorize a $555 million increase in annual natural gas transmission and storage revenues beginning on January 1, 2015. The ruling sets a new procedural schedule that calls for hearings to be held from January 20 to February 13, 2015 and a final decision to be issued in August 2015. As previously disclosed, after the Utility reported that it had made prohibited ex parte communications in the GT&S rate case, the original schedule was suspended and the Utility was ordered to show cause ("OSC") why it should not be sanctioned for violating the CPUC's rules. (See PG&E Corporation's and the Utility's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2014.) The ruling states that the CPUC has not yet considered the proposed decisions that recommend sanctions be imposed on the Utility to resolve the OSC. (As previously disclosed, one of the proposed decisions recommends a ratemaking disallowance of no more than half of the revenue increase, as authorized by a final CPUC decision in the 2015 GT&S rate case, that would have been amortized (collected from ratepayers) over the period between the original date scheduled for a final decision (March 2015) and the new date to be scheduled for a final decision. The CPUC is scheduled to consider the proposed decisions at its meeting on November 20, 2014.) The new ruling permits the parties to submit recommendations regarding potential remedies to be imposed on the Utility for causing the procedural delay noting that there was no basis to conclude that additional remedies were not warranted independent of the OSC proceeding. In addition, the ruling states that if a final CPUC decision is issued in the three investigative enforcement proceedings pending against the Utility within the schedule of the 2015 GT&S rate case, the schedule and scope of issues to be considered may be further amended to consider the impact the final decisions in the investigations may have on the Utility's requested revenue requirements.
