Expressions of future goals and similar expressions reflecting something other than historical fact are intended to identify forward-looking statements, but are not the exclusive means of identifying such statements. These forward-looking statements involve a number of risks and uncertainties, which are described in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange. The actual results of the Company may differ materially from those indicated by these forward-looking statements as a result of various risks and uncertainties. These include the following risks and uncertainties that relate specifically to the Zen Technology acquisition: (i) the risk that the Zen Technology acquisition will not be consummated, including as a result of the failure of any of the conditions precedent set forth in the acquisition agreement; (ii) the ability to obtain government approvals required for closing the Zen Technology acquisition; (iii) the risk that the Zen Technology businesses will not be integrated successfully into the Company; (iv) the risk that the expected benefits of the acquisition may not be realized, including the realization of accretive effects from the acquisition, the strengthening of relationships with key clients, and cross-selling opportunities; and (v) the Company's increased indebtedness after the acquisition. Other risks and uncertainties that may affect the actual results include: differences between authorized amounts and amounts received by the Company under government contracts; failure of government customers or prime contractors to exercise options under contracts; changes in federal government (or other applicable) procurement laws, regulations, policies and budgets; the Company's ability to attract and retain qualified personnel; and the important factors discussed in the Risk Factors section of the annual report on Form 10-K filed by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission and available directly from the Commission at www.sec.gov.
