PROSPECTUS SUMMARY

You should carefully read the entire prospectus supplement, the accompanying base prospectus and the other documents incorporated by reference herein to understand fully the terms of the limited partnership units, as well as the tax and other considerations that are important in making your investment decision. Unless otherwise indicated, the information in this prospectus supplement assumes no exercise of the underwriter's over-allotment option.

For purposes of this prospectus supplement and the accompanying base prospectus, unless otherwise indicated, the terms us, we, our and similar terms refer to Buckeye Partners, L.P., together with its subsidiaries.

Buckeye Partners, L.P.

We are a publicly traded master limited partnership organized in 1986 under the laws of the State of Delaware. We are principally engaged in the transportation, terminalling and storage of refined petroleum products for major integrated oil companies, large refined products marketing companies and major end-users of petroleum products on a fee basis through facilities owned and operated by us. We also operate pipelines owned by third parties under contracts with major integrated oil and chemical companies and perform pipeline construction activities, generally for these same customers.

We own and operate one of the largest independent refined petroleum products pipeline systems in the United States in terms of volumes delivered, with approximately 5,350 miles of pipeline serving 17 states. We also operate approximately 2,100 miles of pipeline under agreements with major oil and chemical companies. Further, we own and operate 44 refined petroleum products terminals with aggregate storage capacity of approximately 17.2 million barrels in Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Our pipelines service approximately 100 delivery locations, transporting refined petroleum products including gasoline, turbine fuel, diesel fuel, heating oil and kerosene from major supply sources to terminals and airports located within major end-use markets. These pipelines also transport other refined products, such as propane and butane, refinery feedstocks and blending components. Our transportation services are typically provided on a common-carrier basis under published tariffs for our customers. Our geographical diversity, connections to multiple sources of supply and extensive delivery system help create a stable base business. We are an independent transportation provider that is not affiliated with any oil company or marketer of refined products and generally do not own the petroleum products that we transport.

We currently conduct all of our operations through seven operating subsidiaries. These seven operating subsidiaries are:

- Buckeye Pipe Line Company, L.P., or Buckeye Pipe Line, which owns a 2,643-mile interstate common carrier refined petroleum products pipeline system serving major population centers in eight states. It is the primary turbine fuel provider to John F. Kennedy International Airport, LaGuardia Airport, Newark International Airport and certain other airports within its service territory.
- Laurel Pipe Line Company, L.P., or Laurel, which owns a 345-mile intrastate common carrier refined products pipeline connecting five Philadelphia area refineries to 10 delivery points across Pennsylvania.
- Wood River Pipe Lines LLC, or Wood River, which owns six refined petroleum products pipelines with aggregate mileage of approximately 925 miles located in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Ohio.
- Buckeye Pipe Line Transportation LLC, or BPL Transportation, which owns a refined petroleum products pipeline system with aggregate mileage of approximately 478 miles located in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. We acquired this pipeline system from ExxonMobil Corporation, or ExxonMobil, in May 2005.

- Everglades Pipe Line Company, L.P., or Everglades, which owns a 37-mile intrastate common carrier refined petroleum products pipeline connecting Port Everglades, Florida to Ft. Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport and Miami International Airport. It is the primary turbine fuel provider to Miami International Airport.
- Buckeye NGL Pipe Lines LLC, or Buckeye NGL, which owns an approximately 350-mile natural gas liquids pipeline, acquired in January 2006, extending generally from the Wattenberg, Colorado area to Bushton, Kansas.
- Buckeye Pipe Line Holdings, L.P., or BPH, which, through its subsidiary Buckeye Terminals, LLC, or Buckeye Terminals, owns (or in certain instances leases from our other operating subsidiaries) and operates 44 refined petroleum products terminals with aggregate storage capacity of approximately 17.2 million barrels. BPH also owns interests in 535 miles of pipelines in the Midwest, Southwest and West Coast. BPH operates, through its subsidiary Buckeye Gulf Coast Pipe Lines, L.P., or Buckeye Gulf Coast, pipelines in the Gulf Coast region for third parties. BPH also holds minority stock interests in two midwest products pipelines and a natural gas liquids pipeline system.

The Partnership operates its business through three operating segments: Pipeline Operations, Terminalling and Storage and Other Operations.

Business Strategy

Our objective is to increase the value of our limited and general partner interests by consistently increasing our cash flow and, accordingly, our cash available for distributions to our unitholders. Our business strategy to accomplish this objective is to:

- Own and operate high-quality logistics assets;
- Increase throughput on our pipelines and terminals that have available capacity;
- Expand our existing pipelines and terminals to facilitate customer-generated growth;
- Maintain and enhance the integrity of our pipelines and terminals;
- Focus on customer service in order to remain the provider of choice in the markets we serve; and
- Pursue selective strategic acquisition opportunities that complement our existing asset base or provide entry into new markets.

We pursue acquisitions that we expect to be accretive to distributable cash flow on a per limited partnership unit basis. Consistent with our balanced risk profile, we focus our acquisition efforts on stable cash flow businesses with a substantial fee-based component. Since 1999, we have invested approximately $1.1 billion in acquisitions of various pipeline and terminal businesses and major capital expansion projects. In recent years, major independent and integrated oil and gas companies have sold midstream assets, continuing the trend of rationalization of the energy infrastructure in the United States. We expect this trend will continue and believe we are well-positioned to continue to take advantage of these opportunities.

Competitive Strengths

We believe the following competitive strengths position us to successfully execute our business strategy:

- Strategic location of assets. We own one of the largest independent refined petroleum products pipeline systems in the United States and our terminal and storage facilities are strategically located, allowing us to promote higher levels of overall throughput and incrementally increase pipeline volumes on our system. Our assets are primarily located in Petroleum Administration for Defense Districts I and II, or PADDs I and II, areas which have historically experienced demand for refined products in excess of local supply. The strategic location of our assets enables us to take advantage of domestic imbalances and international imports of refined products.

- Cash flow stability due to the fee-based nature of businesses. We provide pipeline transportation services at posted tariffs, storage services for a fee and pipeline operation and maintenance services pursuant to contracts. Buckeye Pipe Line, our largest operating subsidiary, has a market-based tariff program, approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, or FERC, providing us with more flexibility in our tariff pricing than is available under the producer price index pricing formula, which is used by most petroleum products pipelines. Our pipeline system is connected to various refineries, third-party pipelines and import marine terminals, which provide flexibility in sourcing throughput. These connections, together with our strong customer relationships, enable us to maintain stable pipeline throughput. In addition, since we generally do not take title to the products we transport, we have limited direct exposure to volatile commodity prices.
- Alignment of employee and management interests with those of our unitholders. The owner of our general partner is primarily compensated through incentive compensation payments based upon the level of cash distributions paid to our unitholders. As a result of this compensation arrangement and our senior management's ownership interest in our general partner (through their ownership interest in MainLine L.P., the indirect owner of our general partner), we believe our general partner's interest is aligned with the interests of our limited partners, and our senior management team has a strong financial incentive to manage our business so as to increase the level of cash distributions paid to our unitholders. In addition, Buckeye Pipe Line Services Company, or Services Company, which employs the employees who manage and operate our operating subsidiaries, has an employee stock ownership plan in which the majority of its employees participate. After completion of this offering, the plan will own approximately 6% of our outstanding limited partnership units, which allows participating employees to benefit from our success as a business.
- Experienced management team. Members of our senior management team have extensive experience in the energy sector and have demonstrated a track record of generating consistent cash distributions and successfully growing our business.

Business Activities

The following discussion describes the business activities of our three operating segments.

Pipeline Operations

We own and operate refined petroleum products pipelines which receive petroleum products from refineries, connecting pipelines and bulk and marine terminals, and transport those products to other locations. In 2005, 2004 and 2003, refined petroleum products transportation accounted for approximately 75%, 82% and 86% of our consolidated revenues, respectively.

We transported an average of approximately 1,385,400 barrels of refined petroleum products per day in 2005. The following table shows the volume and percentage of refined petroleum products transported over the last three years.

Volume and Percentage of Refined Petroleum Products Transported^(a)

(Volume in thousands of barrels per day)

Our Pipeline Operations segment provides pipeline transportation service in the following states: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, Nevada, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

Pennsylvania New York New Jersey Buckeye Pipe Line serves major population centers in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey through 928 miles of pipeline. Refined petroleum products are received at Linden, New Jersey from approximately 17 major source points, including two refineries, six connecting pipelines and nine storage and terminalling facilities. Products are then transported through two lines from Linden, New Jersey to Macungie, Pennsylvania. From Macungie, the pipeline continues west through a connection with the Laurel pipeline to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (serving Reading, Harrisburg, Altoona/Johnstown and Pittsburgh) and north through eastern Pennsylvania into New York (serving Scranton/Wilkes-Barre, Binghamton, Syracuse, Utica, Rochester and, via a connecting carrier, Buffalo). Buckeye Pipe Line leases capacity in one of the pipelines extending from Pennsylvania to upstate New York to a major oil pipeline company. Products received at Linden, New Jersey are also transported through one line to Newark International Airport and through two additional lines to JFK and LaGuardia airports and to commercial refined products terminals at Long Island City and Inwood, New York. These pipelines supply JFK, LaGuardia and Newark International Airports with substantially all of each airport's turbine fuel requirements.

In addition, BPL Transportation's pipeline system acquired from ExxonMobil in May 2005 delivers refined products from the Valero refinery located in Paulsboro, New Jersey to destinations in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York. A portion of the pipeline system extends from Paulsboro, New Jersey to deliver products to Malvern, Pennsylvania. From Malvern, a pipeline segment delivers product to locations in upstate New York, while another segment delivers refined products to central Pennsylvania. Two shorter pipeline segments connect the Valero refinery to the Colonial pipeline system and the Philadelphia International Airport, respectively.

The Laurel pipeline system transports refined petroleum products through a 345-mile pipeline extending westward from five refineries and a connection to the Colonial pipeline system in the Philadelphia area to Reading, Harrisburg, Altoona/Johnstown and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Illinois Indiana Michigan Missouri Ohio Buckeye Pipe Line and Norco Pipe Line Company, LLC, or Norco, a subsidiary of BPH, transport refined petroleum products through 2,025 miles of pipeline in northern Illinois, central Indiana, eastern Michigan, western and northern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. A number of receiving lines and delivery lines connect to a central corridor which runs from Lima, Ohio through Toledo, Ohio to Detroit, Michigan. Refined petroleum products are received at refinery and other pipeline connection points near Toledo, Lima, Detroit and East Chicago, Illinois. Major market areas served include Peoria, Illinois; Huntington/Fort Wayne, Indianapolis and South Bend, Indiana; Bay City, Detroit and Flint, Michigan; Cleveland, Columbus, Lima and Toledo, Ohio and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Wood River owns six refined petroleum products pipelines with aggregate mileage of approximately 925 miles located in the midwestern United States. Refined petroleum products are received at the ConocoPhillips Wood River refinery in Illinois and transported to the Chicago area, to a terminal in the St. Louis, Missouri area and to the Lambert-St. Louis Airport, to receiving points across Illinois and Indiana and to Buckeye Pipe Line's pipeline in Lima, Ohio. At our tank farm located in Hartford, Illinois, one of Wood River's pipelines also receives refined petroleum products from the Explorer pipeline which are transported to our 1.3 million barrel terminal located on the Ohio River in Mt. Vernon, Indiana. Wood River also owns an approximately 26-mile pipeline that extends from Marathon's Wood River Station in Southern Illinois to a third party terminal in the East St. Louis, Missouri area.

Colorado-Kansas. Buckeye NGL owns an approximately 350-mile natural gas liquids pipeline that extends generally from the Wattenberg, Colorado area to Bushton, Kansas. This pipeline was acquired from BP Pipelines (North America) Inc. in January, 2006.

Other Refined Products Pipelines. Buckeye Pipe Line serves Connecticut and Massachusetts through 112 miles of pipeline that transports refined products from New Haven, Connecticut to Hartford, Connecticut and Springfield, Massachusetts.

Everglades transports primarily turbine fuel on a 37-mile pipeline from Port Everglades, Florida to Ft. Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport and Miami International Airport. Everglades supplies Miami International Airport with substantially all of its turbine fuel requirements.

WesPac Pipelines-Reno LLC, or WesPac Reno, owns a 3-mile pipeline serving the Reno/Tahoe International Airport. WesPac Pipelines-San Diego LLC, or WesPac San Diego, owns a 4.3-mile pipeline serving the San Diego International Airport. WesPac Pipelines Memphis LLC, or WesPac Memphis, has constructed and operates an 11-mile pipeline and related terminal facilities to serve Memphis International Airport. Each of the WesPac entities originally was a joint venture between BPH and Kealine Partners. In May 2005, BPH purchased the membership interest in WesPac Reno owned by Kealine Partners for approximately $2.5 million. Thus, as of December 31, 2005, BPH owned 100% of WesPac Reno. BPH has a 75% ownership interest in WesPac Memphis and a 50% ownership interest in WesPac San Diego. Kealine Partners owns the remaining interest in these two joint ventures. As of December 31, 2005, we had provided $40.3 million in intercompany debt financing to these WesPac entities.

Terminalling and Storage

Through BPH and its subsidiary, Buckeye Terminals, our Terminalling and Storage segment owns and operates 44 terminals located in Indiana, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania that provide bulk storage and throughput services and have the capacity to store an aggregate of approximately 17.2 million barrels of refined petroleum products. In addition, Buckeye Terminals owns five currently idle terminals with an aggregate storage capacity of approximately 924,000 barrels. Together, our terminalling and storage activities provided approximately 17% of total revenue in 2005.

Our refined products terminals receive refined products from pipelines and distribute them to third parties, who in turn deliver them to end-users and retail outlets. Our refined products terminals play a key role in moving refined products to the end-user market by providing storage and inventory management, distribution, blending to achieve specified grades of gasoline, and other ancillary services that include the injection of ethanol and other additives. Typically, our terminal facilities consist of multiple storage tanks and are equipped with automated truck loading equipment that is available 24 hours a day. This automated system provides for control of allocations, credit and carrier certification.

Edgar Filing: BUCKEYE PARTNERS L P - Form 424B5

Our refined products terminals derive most of their revenues from terminalling fees paid by customers. A fee is charged for receiving refined products into the terminal and delivering them to trucks, barges, or pipelines. In addition to terminalling fees, our revenues are generated by charging customers fees for blending and injecting additives, and, in certain instances, leasing terminal capacity to customers on either a short-term or long-term basis. Of our 44 refined products terminals, 31 are connected to the Partnership's pipelines.

In December 2005, Buckeye Terminals acquired a refined products terminal located in Taylor, Michigan from affiliates of Atlas Oil Company. The terminal has aggregate storage capacity of approximately 260,000 barrels, as well as rail offloading capabilities used to offload ethanol for blending with gasoline at the terminal.

The following table sets forth the total average daily throughput for the refined products terminals in each of the years presented:

	Year Ended December 31,
	2005	2004	2003
Refined products throughput (barrels per day)	419,200	160,900	73,000

The following table outlines the number of terminals and storage capacity in barrels by state:

Other Operations

The business of our Other Operations segment consists primarily of pipeline operation and maintenance services and pipeline construction services for third parties pursuant to contractual arrangements. Buckeye Gulf Coast is a contract operator of pipelines owned in Texas by major petrochemical companies. Buckeye Gulf Coast currently has 11 operations and maintenance contracts in place. In addition, Buckeye Gulf Coast owns a 23-mile pipeline located in Texas and leases a portion of the pipeline to a third-party chemical company. Subsidiaries of Buckeye Gulf Coast also own an approximate 63% interest in a crude butadiene pipeline between Deer Park, Texas and Port Arthur, Texas. Volumes of crude butadiene transported on this pipeline, known as the Sabina pipeline, are supported by a long-term throughput agreement with Sabina Petrochemicals, LLC. Buckeye Gulf Coast also provides engineering and construction management services to major chemical companies in the Gulf Coast area. For information regarding the tax treatment of Buckeye Gulf Coast's operations, please read "Tax Considerations" in this prospectus supplement.

Other Investments

BPH owns a 24.99% equity interest in West Shore Pipe Line Company, or West Shore. West Shore owns and operates a pipeline system that originates in the Chicago, Illinois area and extends north to Green Bay, Wisconsin and west and then north to Madison, Wisconsin. The pipeline system transports refined petroleum products to markets in northern Illinois and Wisconsin. The other equity holders of West Shore are a number of major oil companies. The pipeline is operated under contract by Citgo Pipeline Company.

BPH also owns a 20% equity interest in West Texas LPG Pipeline Limited Partnership, or WTP. WTP owns and operates a pipeline system that delivers natural gas liquids to Mont Belvieu, Texas for fractionation. The natural gas liquids are delivered to the WTP pipeline system from the Rocky Mountain region via connecting pipelines and from gathering fields located in West and Central Texas. The majority owners and the operators of WTP are affiliates of ChevronTexaco, Inc.

BPH also owns a 40% equity interest in Muskegon Pipeline LLC, or Muskegon. The majority owner of Muskegon is Marathon Pipe Line LLC. Muskegon owns an approximately 170-mile pipeline that delivers petroleum products from Griffith, Indiana to Muskegon, Michigan. The pipeline is operated by Marathon Pipe Line LLC.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We plan to use the net proceeds from this offering of approximately $63.9 million (after deducting underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses), or approximately $73.5 million if the underwriter's overallotment option is exercised in full, to reduce the indebtedness outstanding under our revolving credit facility.

The current amount outstanding under our revolving credit facility, as of March 1, 2006, is approximately $165.0 million. We have used these funds for working capital purposes, internal growth activities and for the following recent acquisitions:

- The acquisition of a refined petroleum products terminal located in Taylor, Michigan from affiliates of Atlas Oil Company on December 20, 2005 for $20.0 million;
- The acquisition of a refined petroleum products terminal located in Niles, Michigan from affiliates of Shell Oil Products US on January 1, 2006 for approximately $13.0 million; and
- The acquisition by our subsidiary, Buckeye NGL Pipe Lines LLC, of an approximately 350-mile natural gas liquids pipeline extending generally from Wattenberg, Colorado to Bushton, Kansas from BP Pipelines (North America) Inc. on January 31, 2006 for approximately $87.0 million, including a deposit of $7.7 million paid in December, 2005.

Indebtedness under our revolving credit facility bears interest under one of two rate options, selected by us, equal to either (i) the greater of (a) the federal funds rate plus one half of one percent and (b) SunTrust Bank's prime rate or (ii) LIBOR, in each case plus an applicable margin. As of March 1, 2006, the interest rate under our revolving credit facility was a weighted average of 5.10%. Our revolving credit facility has a maturity date of August 6, 2009.

An affiliate of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated is a lender under our revolving credit facility and will receive its respective share of any repayment by us of amounts outstanding under our revolving credit facility from the proceeds of this offering. For more information, please read "Underwriting" in this prospectus supplement.

CAPITALIZATION

The following table sets forth our capitalization as of December 31, 2005 on:

- a historical basis;
- a pro forma basis, giving effect to the debt incurred in connection with the acquisition of (a) a refined petroleum products terminal located in Niles, Michigan from affiliates of Shell Oil Products US; and (b) an approximately 350-mile natural gas liquids pipeline from BP Pipelines (North America) Inc.; and
- a pro forma as adjusted basis, giving effect to the sale of 1,500,000 limited partnership units in this offering and the application of the net proceeds therefrom in the manner described under Use of Proceeds.

We will receive net proceeds from this offering of approximately $63.9 million (after deducting underwriting discounts and estimated offering expenses).

This table should be read in conjunction with our historical consolidated financial statements and the notes to those financial statements that are incorporated by reference in this prospectus supplement and the accompanying base prospectus. This table does not reflect the issuance of up to 225,000 limited partnership units that we may sell to the underwriter upon exercise of its over-allotment option, the proceeds of which will be used to further reduce the indebtedness outstanding under our revolving credit facility.

TAX CONSIDERATIONS

The tax consequences to you of an investment in our limited partnership units will depend in part on your own tax circumstances. For a discussion of the principal federal income tax considerations associated with our operations and the purchase, ownership and disposition of limited partnership units, please read "Material Tax Considerations" in the accompanying base prospectus. You are urged to consult with your own tax advisor about the federal, state, local and foreign tax consequences particular to your circumstances.

We estimate that if you purchase limited partnership units in this offering and own them through the record date for the distribution with respect to the fourth calendar quarter of 2008, then you will be allocated, on a cumulative basis, an amount of federal taxable income for that period that will be less than 30% of the amount of cash distributed to you with respect to that period. If you continue to own limited partnership units purchased in this offering after that period, the percentage of federal taxable income allocated to you may be higher. Our estimate is based upon many assumptions regarding our business and operations, including assumptions as to tariffs, capital expenditures, cash flows and anticipated cash distributions. Our estimate assumes our available cash will approximate the amount necessary to continue to distribute the current quarterly distribution of $0.7375 per unit (based on the last quarterly distribution paid by us) throughout the referenced period. This estimate and the assumptions are subject to, among other things, numerous business, economic, regulatory, competitive and political uncertainties beyond our control. Further, this estimate is based on current tax law and certain tax reporting positions that we have adopted. The Internal Revenue Service could disagree with our tax reporting positions. Accordingly, we cannot assure you that the estimate will be correct. The actual percentage of distributions that will constitute taxable income could be higher or lower, and any differences could be material and could materially affect the value of limited partnership units. Please read "Material Tax Considerations" in the accompanying base prospectus.

Ownership of limited partnership units by tax-exempt entities, including employee benefit plans and individual retirement accounts (known as IRAs), and foreign investors raises issues unique to such persons. Please read "Material Tax Considerations - Tax-Exempt Organizations and Certain Other Investors" in the accompanying base prospectus.

In order to be treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes, we must generate at least 90% of our gross income from specific qualifying sources, such as the transportation of refined petroleum products. Because Buckeye Gulf Coast's operations generally do not generate qualifying income for federal income tax purposes, we have elected to treat Buckeye Gulf Coast as a corporation for federal income tax purposes. Revenue from activities conducted by Buckeye Gulf Coast is taxed at the applicable corporate tax rate. Distributions received from Buckeye Gulf Coast that are treated as dividends for federal income tax purposes constitute qualifying income. For a more complete description of this qualifying income requirement, please read "Material Tax Considerations" in the accompanying base prospectus.

UNDERWRITING

We are offering the limited partnership units described in this prospectus through Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated, the sole underwriter for this offering.

Subject to the terms and conditions stated in the underwriting agreement dated the date of this prospectus supplement, which we will file as an exhibit to a Current Report on Form 8-K, the underwriter has agreed to purchase from us all of the 1,500,000 limited partnership units offered by this prospectus supplement. However, the underwriter is not required to take or pay for the limited partnership units covered by the underwriter's overallotment option described below.

The underwriting agreement provides that the underwriter's obligation to purchase the limited partnership units depends on the satisfaction of the conditions contained in the underwriting agreement, and that if any of the limited partnership units are purchased by the underwriter, all of the limited partnership units must be purchased. The conditions contained in the underwriting agreement include the condition that all the representations and warranties made by us and our affiliates to the underwriter are true, that there has been no material adverse change in our condition or in the financial markets and that we deliver to the underwriter customary closing documents.

Overallotment Option

We have granted to the underwriter an option to purchase up to an aggregate of 225,000 additional limited partnership units at the offering price to the public less the underwriting discount set forth on the cover page of this prospectus supplement exercisable to cover overallotments. Such option may be exercised in whole or in part at any time until 30 days after the date of this prospectus supplement. If this option is exercised, the underwriter will be committed, subject to satisfaction of the conditions specified in the underwriting agreement, to purchase such additional limited partnership units, and we will be obligated, pursuant to the option, to sell these limited partnership units to the underwriter.

Commissions and Expenses

The following table shows the underwriting fees to be paid to the underwriter by us in connection with this offering. These amounts are shown assuming both no exercise and full exercise of the underwriter's overallotment option. This underwriting fee is the difference between the offering price to the public and the amount the underwriter pays to us to purchase the limited partnership units.

	Paid By Us
	No Exercise	Full Exercise
Per limited partnership unit	$1.45	$1.45
Total	$ 2,175,000	$ 2,501,250

We have been advised by the underwriter that the underwriter proposes to offer the limited partnership units directly to the public at the offering price to the public set forth on the cover page of this prospectus supplement and to dealers (which may include the underwriter) at this price to the public less a concession not in excess of $.45 per limited partnership unit. After the offering, the underwriter may change the offering price and other selling terms.

We estimate that total expenses of the offering payable by us, other than underwriting discounts and commissions, will be approximately $250,000.

Indemnification

We and our general partner have agreed to indemnify the underwriter against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and to contribute to payments that may be required to be made in respect of these liabilities.

Lock-up Agreements

We, our general partner, directors and officers of our general partner and some affiliates of our general partner have agreed, subject to certain exceptions, that for a period of 90 days from the date of this prospectus supplement, we and they will not, without the prior written consent of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated, sell, hedge or otherwise dispose of, directly or indirectly, any limited partnership units or any securities convertible or exchangeable for limited partnership units; we may, however, (i) issue limited partnership units to sellers of terminalling facilities or pipelines in connection with acquisitions by us, provided that the underwriter has received similar lock-up agreements from such sellers, (ii) issue limited partnership units to our option holders upon exercise of options granted under our Amended and Restated Unit Option and Distribution Equivalent Plan, and (iii) issue options pursuant to our Amended and Restated Unit Option and Distribution Equivalent Plan not exercisable during the lock-up period. Further, Buckeye Pipe Line Services Company may sell limited partnership units in connection with the liquidation of employee accounts in the Buckeye Pipe Line Services Company Employee Stock Ownership Plan at or about the time an employee ceases to be an employee of Services Company. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated in its sole discretion may release any of the securities subject to these lock-up agreements at any time without notice.

Price Stabilization, Short Positions and Penalty Bids

In connection with this offering, the underwriter may engage in stabilizing transactions, overallotment transactions, syndicate covering transactions and penalty bids in accordance with Regulation M under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

- Stabilizing transactions permit bids to purchase the underlying security so long as the stabilizing bids do not exceed a specified maximum.
- Overallotment transactions involve sales by the underwriter of the limited partnership units in excess of the number of units the underwriter is obligated to purchase, which creates a short position. The short position may be either a covered short position or a naked short position. In a covered short position, the number of limited partnership units over-allotted by the underwriter is not greater than the number of units the underwriter may purchase in the overallotment option. In a naked short position, the number of limited partnership units involved is greater than the number of units in the overallotment option. The underwriter may close out any short position by exercising its overallotment option and/or purchasing limited partnership units in the open market.
- Covering transactions involve purchases of the limited partnership units in the open market after the distribution has been completed in order to cover short positions. In determining the source of the limited partnership units to close out the short position, the underwriter will consider, among other things, the price of limited partnership units available for purchase in the open market as compared to the price at which the underwriter may purchase limited partnership units through the overallotment option. If the underwriter sells more limited partnership units than could be covered by the overallotment option, a naked short position, the position can only be closed out by buying limited partnership units in the open market. A naked short position is more likely to be created if the underwriter is concerned that there could be downward pressure on the price of the limited partnership units in the open market after pricing that could adversely affect investors who purchase in the offering.

These stabilizing transactions, over-allotment transactions and covering transactions may have the effect of raising or maintaining the market price of the limited partnership units or preventing or retarding a decline in the market price of the limited partnership units. As a result, the price of the limited partnership units may be higher than the price that might otherwise exist in the open market. These transactions may be effected on the New York Stock Exchange or otherwise and, if commenced, may be discontinued at any time.

Neither we nor the underwriter make any representation or prediction as to the direction or magnitude of any effect that the transactions described above may have on the price of the limited partnership units. In addition, neither we nor the underwriter make any representation that the underwriter will engage in any stabilizing transactions or that any transaction, if commenced, will not be discontinued without notice.

BUCKEYE PARTNERS, L.P.

Buckeye Partners, L.P. (referred to herein as we, us or the Partnership), is a publicly traded master limited partnership organized in 1986 under the laws of the State of Delaware. Our principal line of business is the transportation, terminalling and storage of refined petroleum products in the United States for major integrated oil companies, large refined products marketing companies and major end users of petroleum products on a fee basis through facilities that we own and operate.

We own and operate one of the largest independent refined petroleum products pipeline systems in the United States in terms of volumes delivered, with approximately 4,900 miles of pipeline serving 13 states. We also operate approximately 1,300 miles of pipeline under agreements with major oil and chemical companies. Further, we own and operate 42 refined petroleum products terminals with aggregate storage capacity of approximately 16.7 million barrels in Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Our pipelines service approximately 100 delivery locations. We transport refined petroleum products including gasoline, turbine fuel, diesel fuel, heating oil and kerosene from major supply sources to terminals and airports located within major end-use markets. We also transport other refined products, such as propane and butane, refinery feedstocks and blending components. Our transportation services are typically provided on a common-carrier basis under published tariffs for our customers. Our geographical diversity, connections to multiple sources of supply and extensive delivery system help create a stable base business. We are not affiliated with oil companies or refined product marketing companies and generally do not own the petroleum products that we transport.

Our sole general partner, Buckeye GP LLC, a Delaware limited liability company, is indirectly owned by Carlyle/Riverstone Global Energy and Power Fund II, L.P., or Carlyle/Riverstone, and certain members of the general partner's management through MainLine L.P., a Delaware limited partnership, and MainLine Sub LLC, a Delaware limited liability company. Carlyle/Riverstone also owns, through affiliates, an interest in Magellan Midstream Holdings, L.P., which owns the general partner interest in Magellan Midstream Partners, L.P., or Magellan Partners, a publicly-owned limited partnership that was formerly known as Williams Energy Partners, L.P.

Each of the Partnership, our general partner, MainLine L.P. and MainLine Sub LLC is a legally distinct entity, with its own assets, debts, obligations and liabilities. The Partnership is not liable for the separate debts, obligations or liabilities of Mainline Sub LLC or MainLine L.P. and has not pledged its assets to secure any such debts, obligations or liabilities.

Although the Partnership and Magellan Partners do not have extensive competing operations, the Partnership does compete directly with Magellan Partners and perhaps other entities in which Carlyle/Riverstone or its affiliates have an interest, for acquisition opportunities throughout the United States and potentially will compete with Magellan Partners and these other entities for new business or extensions of the existing services provided by our operating subsidiaries. Moreover, the Partnership, on one hand, and Magellan Partners or other entities in which Carlyle/Riverstone or its affiliates have an interest, on the other hand, may contract with one another for the purchase and sale of goods or services. As a result of these actual and potential conflicts of interest, the board of directors of our general partner has adopted a conflicts of interest policy and related procedures and has required directors who are affiliated with Carlyle/Riverstone or its affiliates to adopt appropriate procedures to protect the Partnership's proprietary and confidential information. When any director becomes aware of an actual or potential conflict of interest, that director is required to disclose such conflict to the board of directors promptly and the board will determine what actions, if any, should be taken to protect the interests of the Partnership. In certain circumstances, a director will be required to recuse himself from the board's deliberations and any vote on any matter that is the subject of such actual or potential conflict of interest. The conflict of interest policy and procedures are administered by the audit committee of the board of directors of our general partner, acting pursuant to their authority under Section 7.9 of the Partnership's limited partnership agreement.

We currently conduct all of our operations through the following six subsidiaries, which we refer to as our operating subsidiaries:

- Buckeye Pipe Line Company, L.P., or Buckeye Pipe Line, owns a 2,643-mile interstate common carrier refined petroleum products pipeline serving major population centers in nine Midwest and East Coast states.
- Laurel Pipe Line Company, L.P., or Laurel, owns a 345-mile intrastate common carrier refined products pipeline connecting five Philadelphia area refineries to 14 delivery points across Pennsylvania.
- Wood River Pipe Lines LLC, or Wood River, owns five refined petroleum products pipelines with aggregate mileage of approximately 900 miles located in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Ohio. We acquired these pipelines from Shell Oil Products U.S., or Shell, in October 2004.
- Buckeye Pipe Line Transportation LLC, or Transportation, owns five refined petroleum products pipelines with aggregate mileage of approximately 478 miles located in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania that we recently acquired from affiliates of Exxon Mobil Corporation, or ExxonMobil.
- Everglades Pipe Line Company, L.P., or Everglades, owns a 37-mile intrastate common carrier refined petroleum products pipeline connecting Port Everglades, Florida to Ft. Lauderdale Hollywood International Airport and Miami International Airport.
- Buckeye Pipe Line Holdings, L.P., or BPH, collectively with its subsidiaries, owns (or in certain instances leases from our other subsidiaries) and operates 42 refined petroleum products terminals with aggregate storage capacity of approximately 16.7 million barrels, owns interests in 535 miles of pipeline in the Midwest and West Coast, operates pipelines in the Gulf Coast region and holds a minority stock interest in a Midwest products pipeline and a minority partnership interest in a natural gas liquids pipeline system.

In addition to being our general partner, Buckeye GP LLC is the general partner of Buckeye Pipe Line, Laurel, Everglades and BPH, which we refer to herein as our operating partnerships. We own an approximate 99% limited partnership interest in each of our operating partnerships. Buckeye GP LLC owns approximately a 1% general partnership interest in each of our operating partnerships and in the Partnership, for an effective interest in the Partnership of approximately 2%.

Our principal executive offices are located at 5002 Buckeye Road, P. O. Box 368, Emmaus, Pennsylvania, telephone (484) 232-4000. Our website may be accessed at www.buckeye.com. Neither the contents of our website, nor of any other website that may be accessed from our website, are incorporated in this prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

Before you invest in our securities, you should be aware that there are various risks in such an investment, including those described below. You should consider carefully these risk factors together with all of the other information included in this prospectus, any prospectus supplement and the documents we have incorporated by reference in this document before purchasing our securities.

Risks Inherent to our Business

Changes in petroleum demand and distribution may adversely affect our business.

Demand for the service provided by our operating subsidiaries depends upon the demand for petroleum products in the regions served. Prevailing economic conditions, price and weather affect the demand for petroleum products. Changes in transportation and travel patterns in the areas served by our pipelines also affect the demand for petroleum products because a substantial portion of the refined petroleum products transported by our pipelines is ultimately used as fuel for motor vehicles and aircraft. If these factors result in a decline in demand for petroleum products, the business of our operating subsidiaries would be particularly susceptible to adverse effects because they operate without the benefit of either exclusive franchises from government entities or long term contracts.

Energy conservation, changing sources of supply, structural changes in the oil industry and new energy technologies also could adversely affect our business. We cannot predict or control the effect of each of these factors on us or our operating subsidiaries.

Our operating subsidiaries' rate structures are subject to regulation and change by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Buckeye Pipe Line, Wood River, Transportation and Norco Pipe Line Company, LLC, or Norco, a subsidiary of BPH, are interstate common carriers regulated by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, or FERC, under the Interstate Commerce Act and the Department of Energy Organization Act. The FERC's primary ratemaking methodology is price indexing. This methodology is used to establish rates on the pipelines owned by Wood River, Transportation and Norco. The indexing method allows a pipeline to increase its rates by a percentage equal to the change in the annual producer price index for finished goods, or PPI. If the PPI is negative, we could be required to reduce the rates charged by Wood River, Transportation and Norco if they exceed the new maximum allowable rate. In addition, changes in the PPI might not be large enough to fully reflect actual increases in the costs associated with these pipelines.

Buckeye Pipe Line presently is authorized to charge rates set by market forces, subject to limitations, rather than by reference to costs historically incurred by the pipeline, in 15 regions and metropolitan areas. The Buckeye program is an exception to the generic oil pipeline regulations the FERC issued under the Energy Policy Act of 1992. The generic rules rely primarily on an index methodology that allows a pipeline to change its rates in accordance with an index that the FERC believes reflects cost changes appropriate for application to pipeline rates. In the alternative, a pipeline is allowed to charge market-based rates if the pipeline establishes that it does not possess significant market power in a particular market.

The Buckeye rate program was reevaluated by the FERC in July 2000, and was allowed to continue with no material changes. We cannot predict the impact, if any, that a change in the FERC's method of regulating Buckeye Pipe Line would have on our operations, financial condition or results of operations.

Our partnership status may be a disadvantage to us in calculating cost of service for rate-making purposes.

In the past, the FERC ruled that pass-through entities, like us, may not claim an income tax allowance for income attributable to non-corporate limited partners in justifying the reasonableness of their rates. Further, in a 2004 decision involving an unrelated pipeline limited partnership, the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit overruled a prior FERC decision allowing a limited partnership to claim a partial income tax allowance in an opinion that suggested that in the future a limited partnership may not be able to claim any income tax allowance despite being partially owned by a corporation. On December 2, 2004, the FERC issued a Notice of Inquiry (Docket No. PL05-5) seeking comments regarding whether the 2004 Appeals Court decision applies only to the specific facts of that case, or whether it applies more broadly, and, if the latter, what effect that ruling might have on energy infrastructure investments. On May 4, 2005, the FERC adopted a policy statement in Docket No. PL05-5, providing that all entities owning public utility assets oil and gas pipelines and electric utilities would be permitted to include an income tax allowance in their cost-of-service rates to reflect the actual or potential income tax liability attributable to their public utility income, regardless of the form of ownership. Any pass-through entity seeking an income tax allowance would have to establish that its partners or members have an actual or potential income tax obligation on the entity's public utility income. The FERC expressed the intent to implement its policy in individual cases as they arise. We expect the final adoption and implementation by FERC of the policy statement in individual cases will be subject to review by the United States Court of Appeals.

Environmental regulation may impose significant costs and liabilities on us.

Our operating subsidiaries are subject to federal, state and local laws and regulations relating to the protection of the environment. Risks of substantial environmental liabilities are inherent in pipeline operations, and we cannot assure you that the operating subsidiaries will not incur material environmental liabilities. Additionally, our costs could increase significantly and we could face substantial liabilities, if, among other developments:

- environmental laws, regulations and enforcement policies become more rigorous; or
- claims for property damage or personal injury resulting from the operations of the operating subsidiaries are filed.

Existing or future state or federal government regulations banning or restricting the use of MTBE in gasoline and requiring the use of ultra low-sulfur diesel fuel could adversely affect our results of operations, thereby reducing our ability to make distributions to unitholders or service our debt obligations.

Our pipelines transport gasoline containing MTBE, an oxygenate used extensively to reduce motor vehicle tailpipe emissions. In response to concerns about MTBE's adverse impact on ground or surface water, many states, including New York and Connecticut, have banned or restricted the use of MTBE in gasoline. Other states are considering bans or restrictions on MTBE or opting out of the EPA's reformulated gasoline program, either of which events would reduce the use of MTBE. The phase-out of MTBE may result in a reduction in gasoline volumes delivered by our pipelines. In addition, any ban or restriction on the use of MTBE may lead to the greater use of ethanol. Unlike MTBE, which can be blended in gasoline at the refinery, ethanol is blended at the terminal and is not transported by pipelines. Any revenues we would receive for blending ethanol might not offset the loss of revenues we would suffer from the reduced volumes transported in our pipelines.

We are unable to quantify the amount by which our transportation volumes might be affected by the phase-out of MTBE. In addition, new requirements for the use of ultra low-sulfur diesel fuel, which will be phased in commencing in 2006 through 2010, could require significant capital expenditures at certain locations in order to permit our facilities to handle this new product grade. At this time we are unable to predict the timing or amount of capital or operating expenditures that would be required to enable us to transport and store ultra low-sulfur diesel fuel.

Department of Transportation regulations may impose significant costs and liabilities on us.

The operating subsidiaries' pipeline operations are subject to regulation by the Department of Transportation. These regulations require, among other things, that pipeline operators engage in a regular program of pipeline integrity testing to assess, evaluate, repair and validate the integrity of their pipelines, which, in the event of a leak or failure, could affect populated areas, unusually sensitive environmental areas, or commercially navigable waterways. In response to these regulations, the operating subsidiaries conduct pipeline integrity tests on an ongoing and regular basis. Depending on the results of these integrity tests, the operating subsidiaries could incur significant and unexpected capital and operating expenditures, not accounted for in anticipated capital or operating budgets, in order to repair such pipelines to ensure their continued safe and reliable operation.

Terrorist attacks could adversely affect our business.

Since the attacks of September 11, 2001, the United States government has issued warnings that energy assets, specifically our nation's pipeline infrastructure, may be the future target of terrorist organizations. These developments have subjected our operations to increased risks. Any future terrorist attack on our facilities, those of our customers and, in some cases, those of other pipelines, refineries or terminals, could have a material adverse effect on our business.

Our operations are subject to operational hazards and unforeseen interruptions for which we may not be adequately insured.

Our operations are subject to operational hazards and unforeseen interruptions such as natural disasters, adverse weather, accidents, fires, explosions, hazardous materials releases, and other events beyond our control. These events might result in a loss of equipment or life, injury, or extensive property damage, as well as an interruption in our operations. Our operating subsidiaries' operations are currently covered by property, casualty, workers' compensation and environmental insurance policies. In the future, however, we may not be able to maintain or obtain insurance of the type and amount desired at reasonable rates. As a result of market conditions, premiums and deductibles for certain insurance policies have increased substantially, and could escalate further. In some instances, certain insurance could become unavailable or available only for reduced amounts of coverage. For example, insurance carriers are now requiring broad exclusions for losses due to war risk and terrorist acts. If we were to incur a significant liability for which we were not fully insured, it could have a material adverse effect on our financial position, thereby reducing our ability to make distributions to unitholders, or payments to debt holders.

Competition could adversely affect our operating results.

Generally, pipelines are the lowest cost method for long-haul overland movement of refined petroleum products. Therefore, our most significant competitors for large volume shipments are other existing pipelines, many of which are owned and operated by major integrated oil companies. In addition, new pipelines (including pipeline segments that connect with existing pipeline systems) could be built to effectively compete with us in particular locations.

We compete with marine transportation in some areas. Tankers and barges on the Great Lakes account for some of the volume to certain Michigan, Ohio and upstate New York locations during the approximately eight non-winter months of the year. Barges are presently a competitive factor for deliveries to the New York City area, the Pittsburgh area, Connecticut and Ohio.

Trucks competitively deliver product in a number of areas that we serve. While their costs may not be competitive for longer hauls or large volume shipments, trucks compete effectively for incremental and marginal volumes in many areas that we serve. The availability of truck transportation places a significant competitive constraint on our ability to increase our operating subsidiaries' tariff rates.

Privately arranged exchanges of product between marketers in different locations are an increasing but non-quantified form of competition. Generally, these exchanges reduce both parties' costs by eliminating or reducing transportation charges. In addition, consolidation among refiners and marketers that has accelerated in recent years has altered distribution patterns, reducing demand for transportation services in some markets and increasing them in other markets.

Mergers among our customers and competitors could result in lower volumes being shipped on our pipelines and stored in our terminals, thereby reducing the amount of cash we generate.

Mergers between existing customers could provide strong economic incentives for the combined entities to utilize their existing pipeline and terminal systems instead of ours. As a result, we could lose some or all of the volumes and associated revenues from these customers and we could experience difficulty in replacing those lost volumes and revenues. Because most of our operating costs are fixed, a reduction in volumes would result in not only a reduction of revenues, but also a decline in net income and cash flow of a similar magnitude, which would reduce our ability to meet our financial obligations and pay cash distributions.

We are a holding company and depend entirely on our operating subsidiaries' distributions to service our debt obligations and pay cash distributions to our unitholders.

We are a holding company with no material operations. If we do not receive cash distributions from our operating subsidiaries, we will not be able to meet our debt service obligations or to make cash distributions to our unitholders. Among other things, this would adversely affect the market price of our limited partnership units. We are currently bound by the terms of a revolving credit facility which prohibits us from making distributions to our unitholders if a default under the credit facility exists at the time of the distribution or would result from the distribution. Our operating subsidiaries may from time to time incur additional indebtedness under agreements that contain restrictions which could further limit each operating subsidiary's ability to make distributions to us.

We may not be able to realize the expected benefits of our recent acquisition of the Midwest pipelines and terminals from Shell or the Paulsboro pipelines and terminals from ExxonMobil, and the integration of these assets into our operations may be more costly than anticipated.

Our estimates regarding the earnings, operating cash flow, capital expenditures and liability resulting from our acquisition of certain Midwest pipelines and terminals from Shell in October 2004 and certain pipelines and terminals from ExxonMobil in May 2005 may prove to be incorrect. We may not be able to generate significant additional throughput on these assets from third parties other than Shell or ExxonMobil. Further, the competitive pressures in the markets served by the newly acquired assets may be more severe than anticipated. In addition, we may not be able to connect to other pipelines or implement expansion projects on an economic basis. As a result, our financial position and results of operations could be adversely affected.

We may also face difficulties integrating the pipelines and terminals we acquired from Shell and ExxonMobil into our operations on an efficient and timely basis, resulting in significantly higher costs to us than anticipated and thus adversely affecting our financial position and results of operations. During the transition of operational control of these assets from Shell and ExxonMobil to us, we may experience unforeseen operating difficulties as we integrate the acquired assets into our existing operations, including difficulties (i) integrating the financial, technological and management standards, processes, procedures and controls of the acquired assets with those of our existing operations; (ii) managing the increased scope and complexity of our operations; and (iii) mitigating contingent and/or assumed liabilities.

We may incur liabilities from assets we have acquired. These costs and liabilities may not be covered by indemnification rights we have against the sellers of the assets.

Some of the assets we have acquired have been used for many years to distribute, store or transport petroleum products. Releases may have occurred prior to our acquisition from terminals or along pipeline rights-of-way that require remediation. In addition, releases may have occurred in the past that have not yet been discovered, which could require costly future remediation. If a significant release or event occurred in the past the liability for which was not retained by the seller or for which indemnification from the seller is not available, it could adversely affect our financial position and results of operations.

A decline in production at the ConocoPhillips Wood River refinery could materially reduce the volume of refined petroleum products we transport.

A decline in production at the ConocoPhillips Wood River refinery could materially reduce the volume of refined petroleum products we transport on certain of the pipelines owned by Wood River. As a result, our revenues and, therefore, our ability to pay cash distributions on our units could be adversely affected. The ConocoPhillips Wood River refinery could partially or completely shut down its operations, temporarily or permanently, due to factors affecting its ability to produce refined petroleum products such as:

- unscheduled maintenance or catastrophic events, such as a fire, flood, explosion or power outage;
- labor difficulties that result in a work stoppage or slowdown;
- environmental proceedings or other litigation that require the halting of all or a portion of the operations the refinery; or
- legislation or regulation that adversely impacts the economics of refinery operations.

Potential future acquisitions and expansions, if any, may affect our business by substantially increasing the level of our indebtedness and contingent liabilities and increasing our risks of being unable to effectively integrate these new operations.

From time to time, we evaluate and acquire assets and businesses that we believe complement our existing assets and businesses. Acquisitions may require substantial capital or the incurrence of substantial indebtedness. If we consummate any future acquisitions, our capitalization and results of operations may change significantly, and you will not have the opportunity to evaluate the economic, financial and other relevant information that we will consider in determining the application of these funds and other resources.

Acquisitions and business expansions involve numerous risks, including difficulties in the assimilation of the assets and operations of the acquired businesses, inefficiencies and difficulties that arise because of unfamiliarity with new assets and the businesses associated with them and new geographic areas and the diversion of management's attention from other business concerns. Further, unexpected costs and challenges may arise whenever businesses with different operations or management are combined, and we may experience unanticipated delays in realizing the benefits of an acquisition. Following an acquisition, we may discover previously unknown liabilities associated with the acquired business for which we have no recourse under applicable indemnification provisions.

Any debt securities will be junior to our operating subsidiaries' debt.

The debt securities will be issued by the Partnership and will be structurally subordinated to the claims of our operating subsidiaries' creditors. Holders of the debt securities will not be creditors of our operating subsidiaries. The claims to the assets of our operating subsidiaries derive from our own ownership interests in those operating subsidiaries. Claims of our operating subsidiaries' creditors will generally have priority as to the assets of our operating subsidiaries over our own ownership interest claims and will therefore have priority over the holders of our debt, including the debt securities. Our operating subsidiaries' creditors may include:

- general creditors;
- trade creditors;
- secured creditors;
- taxing authorities; and
- creditors holding guarantees.

Risks Relating to Partnership Structure

We may sell additional limited partnership units, diluting existing interests of unitholders.

Our partnership agreement allows us to issue additional limited partnership units and certain other equity securities without unitholder approval. There is no limit on the total number of limited partnership units and other equity securities we may issue. When we issue additional limited partnership units or other equity securities, the proportionate partnership interest of our existing unitholders will decrease. The issuance could negatively affect the amount of cash distributed to unitholders and the market price of the limited partnership units. Issuance of additional units will also diminish the relative voting strength of the previously outstanding units.

Our general partner and its affiliates may have conflicts with the Partnership.

The directors and officers of our general partner and its affiliates have fiduciary duties to manage the general partner in a manner that is beneficial to its sole member. At the same time, the general partner has fiduciary duties to manage the Partnership in a manner that is beneficial to our partners. Therefore, the general partner's duties to us may conflict with the duties of its officers and directors to its sole member.

Such conflicts may arise from, among others, the following factors:

- decisions by our general partner regarding the amount and timing of our cash expenditures, borrowings and issuances of additional limited partnership units or other securities can affect the amount of incentive compensation payments we make to the parent company of our general partner;
- under our partnership agreement we reimburse the general partner for the costs of managing and operating the Partnership; and
- under our partnership agreement, it is not a breach of our general partner's fiduciary duties for affiliates of our general partner to engage in activities that compete with us.

Specifically, our general partner is owned by an affiliate of Carlyle/Riverstone, which also owns, through affiliates, an interest in the general partner of Magellan Partners, and by certain members of our general partner's management. Although neither the Partnership nor Magellan Partners have extensive operations in the geographic areas primarily served by the other entity, the Partnership will compete directly with Magellan Partners and perhaps other entities in which Carlyle/Riverstone or its affiliates have an interest for acquisition opportunities throughout the United States and potentially will compete with Magellan Partners and these other entities for new business or extensions of the existing services provided by our operating subsidiaries, creating actual and potential conflicts of interest between the Partnership and affiliates of our general partner.

The owner of our general partner has a substantial amount of debt. A default under such debt could result in a change of control of our general partner which would be an event of default under our revolving credit facility.

MainLine L.P., or Mainline, the indirect owner of our general partner, financed its purchase of MainLine Sub LLC, or MainLine Sub, the owner of our general partner, through a combination of equity capital and the proceeds from a senior secured credit and guaranty agreement. MainLine's existing credit and guaranty agreement is secured by pledges of substantially all of the assets of MainLine and MainLine Sub, including the interest in our general partner. MainLine's indebtedness under its credit and guaranty agreement is rated BB- by S&P and Ba3 by Moody's. If MainLine were to default on its obligations under its credit and guaranty agreement, its lenders could exercise their rights under these pledges which could result in a change of control of our general partner and a change of control of us. A change of control would constitute an event of default under our revolving credit facility and require the administrative agent, upon request of the lenders providing a majority of the loan commitments or outstanding loan amounts, to declare all amounts payable by us under our revolving credit facility immediately due and payable.

Unitholders have limited voting rights and control of management.

Our general partner manages and controls our activities and the activities of our operating partnerships. Unitholders have no right to elect the general partner or the directors of the general partner on an annual or other ongoing basis. However, if the general partner resigns or is removed, its successor must be elected by holders of a majority of the limited partnership units. Unitholders may remove the general partner only by a vote of the holders of at least 80% of the limited partnership units and only after receiving certain state regulatory approvals required for the transfer of control of a public utility. As a result, unitholders will have limited influence on matters affecting our operations, and third parties may find it difficult to gain control of us or influence our actions.

Our partnership agreement limits the liability of our general partner.

Our general partner owes fiduciary duties to our unitholders. Provisions of our partnership agreement and the partnership agreements for each of our operating partnerships, however, contain language limiting the liability of the general partner to the unitholders for actions or omissions taken in good faith which do not involve gross negligence or willful misconduct. In addition, the partnership agreements grant broad rights of indemnification to the general partner and its directors, officers, employees and affiliates.

Unitholders may not have limited liability in some circumstances.

The limitations on the liability of holders of limited partnership interests for the obligations of a limited partnership have not been clearly established in some states. If it were determined that we had been conducting business in any state without compliance with the applicable limited partnership statute, or that the unitholders as a group took any action pursuant to our partnership agreement that constituted participation in the control of our business, then the unitholders could be held liable under some circumstances for our obligations to the same extent as a general partner.

Under applicable state law, our general partner has unlimited liability for our obligations, including our debts and environmental liabilities, if any, except for our contractual obligations that are expressly made without recourse to the general partner.

In addition, Section 17-607 of the Delaware Revised Uniform Limited Partnership Act provides that under some circumstances a unitholder may be liable to us for the amount of a distribution for a period of three years from the date of the distribution.

Cost reimbursements for management fees and certain other expenses due to MainLine Sub and our general partner may be substantial and could reduce our cash available for distributions.

Prior to making any distribution to unitholders, we will reimburse our general partner for certain expenses incurred in connection with its general partner duties and MainLine Sub for certain expenses incurred while performing services for our general partner. MainLine Sub is entitled to receive an annual management fee for functions it provides to our general partner pursuant to a management agreement between MainLine Sub and our general partner. This management fee includes a senior administrative charge and reimbursement for certain costs and expenses. The disinterested directors of our general partner approve the amount of the management fee on an annual basis. In recognition of increased services from MainLine Sub in the form of assistance with business development opportunities, financing strategies, insurance, investment banking and corporate development advice, the disinterested directors of our general partner have approved a senior administrative charge for 2005 of $1.9 million, and MainLine Sub has agreed not to request an additional increase in the senior administrative charge for calendar years 2005 and 2006 (other than adjustments for inflation capped at the Consumer Price Index) unless there is a material change in the nature of the services rendered to our general partner by MainLine Sub. The payment of management fees and the reimbursement of expenses could adversely affect our ability to pay cash distributions.

Tax Risks to Unitholders

The IRS could treat us as a corporation for tax purposes or changes in law could subject us to entity-level taxation, which would substantially reduce the cash available for distribution to holders of limited partnership units.

The availability to a unitholder of the federal income tax benefits of an investment in the limited partnership units depends, in large part, on our classification as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. No ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, or the IRS, as to this status has been or is expected to be requested. We are instead relying on the opinion of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP, which is not binding on the IRS.

If we were classified as a corporation for federal income tax purposes, we would be required to pay tax on our income at corporate tax rates (currently a 35% federal rate), and distributions received by the unitholders would generally be taxed a second time as corporate distributions. Because a tax would be imposed upon us as an entity, the cash available for distribution to the unitholders would be substantially reduced. Treatment of us as a corporation would cause a material reduction in the anticipated cash flow and after-tax return to the unitholders, likely causing a substantial reduction in the value of the limited partnership units.

The law could be changed so as to cause us to be treated as a corporation for federal income tax purposes or otherwise to be subject to entity-level taxation. Further, because of budgetary considerations, several states are evaluating ways to subject partnerships to entity-level taxation through the imposition of state income, franchise or other forms of taxation. If any state were to impose a tax on us, the cash available for distribution to you would be reduced.

A successful IRS contest of the federal income tax positions that we take may adversely affect the market for limited partnership units.

We have not requested a ruling from the IRS with respect to our classification as a partnership for federal income tax purposes, the classification of any of the revenue from our operations as qualifying income under Section 7704 of the Internal Revenue Code, or any other matter affecting us. Accordingly, the IRS may adopt positions that differ from the conclusions expressed in this prospectus or the positions taken by us. It may be necessary to resort to administrative or court proceedings in an effort to sustain some or all of such conclusions or the positions taken by us. A court may not concur with some or all of our positions. Any contest with the IRS may materially and adversely impact the market for the limited partnership units and the prices at which they trade. In addition, the costs of any contest with the IRS will be borne directly or indirectly by the unitholders and our general partner.

Holder of limited partnership units may be required to pay taxes even if they do not receive any cash distributions.

A unitholder will be required to pay federal income taxes and, in some cases, state and local income taxes on the unitholder's allocable share of our income, even if the unitholder receives no cash distributions from us. We cannot guarantee that a unitholder will receive cash distributions equal to the unitholder's allocable share of our taxable income or even the tax liability to the unitholder resulting from that income. Further, a unitholder may incur a tax liability, in excess of the amount of cash received, upon the sale of the unitholder's limited partnership units.

Ownership of limited partnership units may have adverse tax consequences for tax-exempt organizations and certain other investors.

Investment in limited partnership units by certain tax-exempt entities, regulated investment companies and foreign persons raises issues unique to them. For example, virtually all of our taxable income allocated to organizations exempt from federal income tax, including individual retirement accounts and other retirement plans, will be unrelated business taxable income and thus will be taxable to the unitholder. Recent legislation treats net income derived from the ownership of certain publicly traded partnerships (including us) as qualifying income to a regulated investment company. However, this legislation is only effective for taxable years beginning after October 22, 2004, the date of enactment, and limits a regulated investment company's ownership of interests in one or more publicly traded partnerships to no more than 25% of its total assets. For taxable years beginning on or before the date of enactment, very little of our income will be qualifying income to a regulated investment company. Distributions to foreign persons will be reduced by withholding taxes.

There are limits on the deductibility of losses that may adversely affect holders of limited partnership units.

In the case of taxpayers subject to the passive loss rules (generally, individuals and closely-held corporations), any losses generated by us will only be available to offset our future income and cannot be used to offset income from other activities, including other passive activities or investments. Unused losses may be deducted when the unitholder disposes of the unitholder's entire investment in us in a fully taxable transaction with an unrelated party. A unitholder's share of our net passive income may be offset by unused losses from us carried over from prior years, but not by losses from other passive activities, including losses from other publicly traded partnerships.

Tax gain or loss on disposition of limited partnership units could be different than expected.

A unitholder who sells limited partnership units will recognize the gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized, including the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities, and the unitholder's adjusted tax basis in the limited partnership units. Prior distributions in excess of cumulative net taxable income allocated for a limited partnership unit which decreased a unitholder's tax basis in that limited partnership unit will, in effect, become taxable income if the limited partnership unit is sold at a price greater than the unitholder's tax basis in that limited partnership unit, even if the price is less than the unit's original cost. A portion of the amount realized, whether or not representing gain, may be ordinary income. Furthermore, should the IRS successfully contest some conventions used by us, a unitholder could recognize more gain on the sale of limited partnership units than would be the case under those conventions, without the benefit of decreased income in prior years.

The reporting of partnership tax information is complicated and subject to audits.

We will furnish each unitholder with a Schedule K-1 that sets forth the unitholder's share of our income, gains, losses and deductions. In preparing these schedules, we will use various accounting and reporting conventions and adopt various depreciation and amortization methods. We cannot guarantee that these schedules will yield a result that conforms to statutory or regulatory requirements or to administrative pronouncements of the IRS. Further, our tax return may be audited, which could result in an audit of a unitholder's individual tax return and increased liabilities for taxes because of adjustments resulting from the audit.

There is a possibility of loss of tax benefits relating to nonconformity of limited partnership units and nonconforming depreciation conventions.

Because we cannot match transferors and transferees of limited partnership units, uniformity of the tax characteristics of the limited partnership units to a purchaser of limited partnership units of the same class must be maintained. To maintain uniformity and for other reasons, we have adopted certain depreciation and amortization conventions which we believe conform to Treasury Regulations under Section 743(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. A successful challenge to those conventions by the IRS could adversely affect the amount of tax benefits available to a purchaser of limited partnership units and could have a negative impact on the value of the limited partnership units.

Holders of limited partnership units will likely be subject to state, local and other taxes in states where holders of limited partnership units live or as a result of an investment in the limited partnership units.

In addition to United States federal income taxes, unitholders will likely be subject to other taxes, such as state and local taxes, unincorporated business taxes and estate, inheritance or intangible taxes that are imposed by the various jurisdictions in which the unitholder resides or in which we do business or own property. A unitholder will likely be required to file state and local income tax returns and pay state and local income taxes in some or all of the various jurisdictions in which we do business or own property and may be subject to penalties for failure to comply with those requirements. It is the responsibility of each unitholder to file all applicable United States federal, state, local and foreign tax returns. Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP has not rendered an opinion on the tax consequences of an investment in us other than with regard to the United States federal income tax consequences.

Holders of limited partnership units may have negative tax consequences if we default on our debt or sell assets.

If we default on any of our debt, the lenders will have the right to sue us for non-payment. This could cause an investment loss and negative tax consequences for unitholders through the realization of taxable income by unitholders without a corresponding cash distribution. Likewise, if we were to dispose of assets and realize a taxable gain while there is substantial debt outstanding and proceeds of the sale were applied to the debt, our unitholders could have increased taxable income without a corresponding cash distribution.

Risks Related to the Debt Securities

The debt securities will be unsecured obligations. As such, the debt securities will be effectively junior to any secured debt we may have, to the existing and future debt and other liabilities of our subsidiaries that do not guarantee the debt securities and to the existing and future secured debt of any subsidiaries that guarantee the debt securities.

The debt securities will be unsecured debt and will rank equally in right of payment with all of our other existing and future unsubordinated debt. The debt securities will be effectively junior to all our future secured debt, to the existing and future debt of our subsidiaries that do not guarantee the debt securities and to the secured debt of any subsidiaries that guarantee the debt securities. Initially, there will be no subsidiary guarantors for the debt securities, and there may be none in the future. Since our operating subsidiaries will likely not guarantee the debt securities, the debt securities will be effectively subordinated to all debt of our operating subsidiaries.

If we are involved in any dissolution, liquidation or reorganization, our secured debt holders would be paid before holders of the debt securities receive any amounts to the extent of the value of the assets securing their debt and creditors of our subsidiaries may also be paid before holders of the debt securities receive any amounts. In that event, holders of the debt securities may not be able to recover any principal or interest due under the debt securities.

We do not have the same flexibility as other types of organizations to accumulate cash, which may limit cash available to service the debt securities or to repay them at maturity.

On a quarterly basis, we distribute 100% of our available cash to our unitholders of record and our general partner, subject to reasonable reserves as described below. As a result, we do not have the same flexibility as corporations or other entities that do not pay dividends or have complete flexibility regarding the amounts they will distribute to their equity holders. Available cash is generally defined as consolidated cash receipts less consolidated cash expenditures and such retentions for working capital, anticipated cash expenditures and contingences as our general partner deems appropriate. The timing and amount of our distributions could significantly reduce the cash available to pay the principal, premium (if any) and interest on the debt securities. The board of directors of our general partner will determine the amount and timing of such distributions and has broad discretion to establish and make additions to our reserves or the reserves of our operating subsidiaries as it determines are necessary or appropriate.

Although our payment obligations to our unitholders are subordinate to our payment obligations to holders of the debt securities, the value of our units will decrease in correlation with decreases in the amount we distribute per unit. Accordingly, if we experience a liquidity problem in the future, we may not be able to issue equity in sufficient amounts to recapitalize our debt, including the debt securities.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Some information in this prospectus or any prospectus supplement may contain forward-looking statements. Such statements use forward-looking words such as anticipate, continue, estimate, expect, may, will, or other similar words. These statements discuss future expectations or contain projections. Specific factors which could cause actual results to differ from those in the forward-looking statements, include:

- price trends and overall demand for refined petroleum products in the United States in general and in our service areas in particular (economic activity, weather, alternative energy sources, conservation and technological advances may affect price trends and demands);
- changes, if any, in laws and regulations, including, among others, safety, tax and accounting matters or Federal Energy Regulatory Commission regulation of our tariff rates;
- liability for environmental claims;
- security issues affecting our assets, including, among others, potential damage to our assets caused by acts of war or terrorism;
- unanticipated capital expenditures and operating expenses to repair or replace our assets;
- availability and cost of insurance on our assets and operations;
- our ability to successfully identify and complete strategic acquisitions and make cost saving changes in operations;

As of October 14, 2005, there were issued and outstanding 37,916,646 limited partnership units representing an approximate 99% limited partnership interest in Buckeye Partners, L.P. The limited partnership units and the 243,914 general partnership units generally participate pro rata in our income, gains, losses, deductions, credits and distributions, subject to the Incentive Compensation Agreement described below.

Buckeye Partners, L.P. currently has a unit option and distribution equivalent plan which authorizes the granting of options to purchase up to 1,400,000 limited partnership units to selected employees of Buckeye Pipe Line Services Company. As of October 14, 2005, there were 248,600 limited partnership units issuable upon the exercise of options granted under this plan.

The rights of the holders of the Buckeye Partners, L.P. limited partnership units are governed by the terms of the Partnership's limited partnership agreement and the Fourth Amended and Restated Incentive Compensation Agreement, dated December 15, 2004, between the Partnership and MainLine Sub LLC, or the Incentive Compensation Agreement.

Liquidation

In the event of a liquidation, dissolution and winding up of the Partnership, the limited partnership units, along with the general partnership units, will be entitled to receive pro rata, to the extent of positive balances in their respective capital accounts, any assets remaining after satisfaction of our liabilities and establishment of reasonable reserves.

Voting

Each holder of limited partnership units is entitled to one vote for each limited partnership unit on all matters submitted to a vote of the unitholders. Certain events, as more fully described in our partnership agreement, require the approval of a two-thirds majority of the limited partners. Other events, as more fully described in our partnership agreement, require the approval of a minimum of 80% of the limited partners.

Incentive Compensation

The Incentive Compensation Agreement provides that if a quarterly cash distribution exceeds a target of $0.325 per limited partnership unit, we will pay MainLine Sub, for each outstanding limited partnership unit, incentive compensation equal to:

- (1) 15% of the amount, if any, by which the quarterly distribution per limited partnership unit exceeds $0.325 but is not more than $0.35, plus
- (2) 25% of the amount, if any, by which the quarterly distribution per limited partnership unit exceeds $0.35 but is not more than $0.375, plus
- (3) 30% of the amount, if any, by which the quarterly distribution per limited partnership unit exceeds $0.375 but is not more than $0.40, plus
- (4) 35% of the amount, if any, by which the quarterly distribution per limited partnership unit exceeds $0.40 but is not more than $0.425, plus
- (5) 40% of the amount, if any, by which the quarterly distribution per limited partnership unit exceeds $0.425 but is not more than $0.525, plus
- (6) 45% of the amount, if any, by which the quarterly distribution per limited partnership unit exceeds $0.525.

MainLine Sub is also entitled to incentive compensation for special cash distributions exceeding a target special distribution amount per limited partnership unit. The target special distribution amount generally means the amount which, together with all amounts distributed per limited partnership unit prior to the special distribution compounded quarterly at 13% per annum, would equal $10.00, the initial public offering price of the limited partnership units split two-for-one, compounded quarterly at 13% per annum from the date of the closing of the initial public offering in December 1986. No special cash distributions have ever been paid by the Partnership.

Amendments to the Terms of the Registrant's Limited Partnership Units

DESCRIPTION OF DEBT SECURITIES

The debt securities will be our direct unsecured general obligations and will be issued under an Indenture, dated July 10, 2003, as supplemented, between us and SunTrust Bank, as trustee, and a supplemental indenture thereto. This Indenture, as supplemented by any supplemental indentures relating to debt securities to be issued hereunder, is referred to herein as the Indenture, and SunTrust Bank, as trustee, is referred to herein as the Trustee.

The debt securities will be governed by the provisions of the Indenture and those made part of the Indenture by reference to the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, as amended. We and the Trustee have entered into supplements to the Indenture, and may enter into future supplements to the Indenture from time to time. We have summarized selected provisions of the Indenture below. The Indenture has been incorporated by reference as an exhibit to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part. You should read the Indenture for provisions that may be important to you, because the Indenture, and not this description, govern your rights as a holder of debt securities. In the summary below, we have included references to section numbers of the Indenture so that you can easily locate these provisions. Capitalized terms used in the summary have the meanings specified in the Indenture.

Specific Terms of Each Series of Debt Securities in the Prospectus Supplement

A prospectus supplement and a supplemental indenture relating to any series of debt securities being offered will include specific terms relating to the offering. These terms will include some or all of the following:

- the form and title of the debt securities;
- the total principal amount of the debt securities;
- the portion of the principal amount which will be payable if the maturity of the debt securities is accelerated;
- any right we may have to defer payments of interest by extending the dates payments are due and whether interest on those deferred amounts will be payable as well;
- the dates on which the principal of the debt securities will be payable;
- the interest rate which the debt securities will bear and the interest payment dates for the debt securities;
- any optional redemption provisions;
- any sinking fund or other provisions that would obligate us to repurchase or otherwise redeem the debt securities;
- any changes to or additional Events of Default or covenants; and
- any other terms of the debt securities.

No Limitation on Amount of Debt Securities

The Indenture does not limit the amount of debt securities that may be issued. The Indenture allows debt securities to be issued up to any principal amount that may be authorized by us and may be in any currency or currency unit designated by us.

Registration of Notes

Debt securities of a series may be issued in certificated or global form. (Sections 2.01 and 2.02)

Denominations

The prospectus supplement for each issuance of debt securities will state whether the securities will be issued in amounts other than $1,000 each or multiples thereof.

No Personal Liability of General Partner

Our general partner and its directors, officers, employees and sole member will not have any liability for our obligations under the Indenture or the debt securities. Each holder of debt securities by accepting a debt security waives and releases our general partner and its directors, officers, employees and sole member from all such liability. (Section 1.15) The waiver and release are part of the consideration for the issuance of the debt securities.

Consolidation, Merger or Sale

We will only consolidate or merge with or into any other partnership or corporation or sell, lease or transfer all or substantially all of our assets according to the terms and conditions of the Indenture, which includes the following requirements:

- the remaining or acquiring partnership or corporation is organized under the laws of the United States, any state or the District of Columbia;
- the remaining or acquiring partnership or corporation assumes our obligations under the Indenture; and
- immediately after giving effect to the transaction no Event of Default exists.

The remaining or acquiring partnership or corporation will be substituted for us in the Indenture with the same effect as if it had been an original party to the Indenture. Thereafter, the successor may exercise our rights and powers under the Indenture, in our name or in its own name. Any act or proceeding required or permitted to be done by our Board of Directors or any of our officers may be done by the board of directors or officers of the successor. If we sell or transfer all or substantially all of our assets, we will be released from all of our liabilities and obligations under the Indenture and under the debt securities. (Sections 8.01 and 8.02)

Modification of the Indenture

Under the Indenture, generally, our rights and obligations and the rights of the holders may be modified with the consent of the holders of a majority in aggregate principal amount of the outstanding debt securities of each series affected by the modification. No modification of the principal or interest payment terms, and no modification reducing the percentage required for modifications, is effective against any holder without its consent. Buckeye Partners, L.P. and the Trustee may amend the Indenture without the consent of any holder of the debt securities to make technical changes, such as:

- correcting errors;
- providing for a successor trustee;
- qualifying the Indenture under the Trust Indenture Act; or
- adding provisions relating to a particular series of debt securities. (Sections 9.01 and 9.02)

Events of Default

Event of Default when used in an Indenture, will mean any of the following:

- failure to pay the principal of or any premium on any debt security when due;

- failure to pay interest on any debt security for 30 days;
- failure to perform any other covenant in the Indenture that continues for 90 days after being given written notice;
- failure to pay when due principal of or interest on debt greater than $100 million of the Partnership or any Subsidiary or acceleration of such debt;
- specific events in bankruptcy, insolvency or reorganization of the Partnership or its subsidiaries; or
- any other Event of Default included in the Indenture or a supplemental indenture. (Section 5.01)

An Event of Default for a particular series of debt securities does not necessarily constitute an Event of Default for any other series of debt securities issued under the Indenture. The Trustee may withhold notice to the holders of debt securities of any default (except in the payment of principal or interest) if it considers such withholding of notice to be in the interests of the holders. (Section 6.02)

If an Event of Default for any series of debt securities occurs and continues, the Trustee or the holders of not less than 25% in aggregate principal amount of the debt securities outstanding of that series may declare the entire principal of and accrued and unpaid interest, if any, on all the debt securities of that series to be due and payable immediately. If this happens, subject to specific conditions, the holders of a majority of the aggregate principal amount of the debt securities of that series can void the declaration. (Section 5.02)

Other than its duties in case of a default, a Trustee is not obligated to exercise any of its rights or powers under the Indenture at the request, order or direction of any holders, unless the holders offer the Trustee indemnity or security satisfactory to the Trustee. (Section 6.01) If they provide this satisfactory indemnification or security, the holders of a majority in principal amount of any series of debt securities may direct the time, method and place of conducting any proceeding or any remedy available to the Trustee, or exercising any power conferred upon the Trustee, for any series of debt securities unless contrary to law. (Section 5.12)

Limitations on Liens

The Indenture provides that the Partnership will not, nor will it permit any Restricted Subsidiary (as defined below) to, create, assume, incur or suffer to exist any lien upon any Principal Property (as defined below) or upon any shares of capital stock of any Restricted Subsidiary (if such Restricted Subsidiary is a corporation) owning or leasing any Principal Property, whether owned or leased on the date of the Indenture or thereafter acquired, to secure any debt of the Partnership or any other person (other than the debt securities issued thereunder), without in any such case making effective provision whereby all of the debt securities outstanding thereunder shall be secured equally and ratably with, or prior to, such debt so long as such debt shall be so secured. The following are excluded from this restriction:

- (1) Permitted Liens (as defined below);
- (2) any lien upon any property or assets created at the time of acquisition of such property or assets by the Partnership or any Restricted Subsidiary or within one year after such time to secure all or a portion of the purchase price for such property or assets or debt incurred to finance such purchase price, whether such debt was incurred prior to, at the time of or within one year after the date of such acquisition;
- (3) any lien upon any property or assets to secure all or part of the cost of construction, development, repair or improvements thereon or to secure debt incurred prior to, at the time of, or within one year after completion of such construction, development, repair or improvements or the commencement of full operations thereof (whichever is later), to provide funds for any such purpose;

(4) any lien upon any property or assets existing thereon at the time of the acquisition thereof by the Partnership or any Restricted Subsidiary (whether or not the obligations secured thereby are assumed by the Partnership or any Restricted Subsidiary); provided, however, that such lien only encumbers the property or assets so acquired;

(5) any lien upon any property or assets of a person existing thereon at the time such person becomes a Restricted Subsidiary by acquisition, merger or otherwise; provided, however, that such lien only encumbers the property or assets of such person at the time such person becomes a Restricted Subsidiary;

(6) any lien upon any property or assets of the Partnership or any Restricted Subsidiary in existence on the Issue Date (as defined below) or provided for pursuant to agreements existing on the Issue Date;

(7) liens imposed by law or order as a result of any proceeding before any court or regulatory body that is being contested in good faith, and liens which secure a judgment or other court-ordered award or settlement in an aggregate amount not in excess of $1 million as to which the Partnership or the applicable Restricted Subsidiary has not exhausted its appellate rights;

(8) liens arising in connection with Sale-Leaseback Transactions (as defined below) permitted under the Indenture as described below;

(9) any extension, renewal, refinancing, refunding or replacement, or successive extensions, renewals, refinancings, refundings or replacements of liens, in whole or in part, referred to in clauses (1) through (7) above; provided, however, that any such extension, renewal, refinancing, refunding or replacement lien shall be limited to the property or assets covered by the lien extended, renewed, refinanced, refunded or replaced and that the obligations secured by any such extension, renewal, refinancing, refunding or replacement lien shall be in an amount not greater than the amount of the obligations secured by the lien extended, renewed, refinanced, refunded or replaced and any expenses of the Partnership and its Restricted Subsidiaries (including any premium) incurred in connection with such extension, renewal, refinancing, refunding or replacement; or

(10) any lien resulting from the deposit of moneys or evidence of indebtedness in trust for the purpose of defeasing debt of the Partnership or any Restricted Subsidiary.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, under the Indenture, the Partnership may, and may permit any Restricted Subsidiary to, create, assume, incur, or suffer to exist any lien upon any Principal Property to secure debt of the Partnership or any person other than the debt securities, that is not excepted by clauses (1) through (9), inclusive, above without securing the debt securities issued under the Indenture, provided that the aggregate principal amount of all debt then outstanding secured by such lien and all similar liens, together with all net sale proceeds from Sale-Leaseback Transactions, excluding Sale-Leaseback Transactions permitted by clauses (1) through (4), inclusive, of the first paragraph of the restriction on sale-leasebacks covenant described below, does not exceed 10% of Consolidated Net Tangible Assets (as defined below). In the case of any lease that is terminable by the lessee upon the payment of a penalty or other termination payment, such amount shall be the lesser of the amount determined assuming termination upon the first date such lease may be terminated, in which case the amount shall also include the amount of the penalty or termination payment, but no rent shall be considered as required to be paid under such lease subsequent to the first date upon which it may be so terminated, or the amount determined assuming no such termination.

Pari Passu Debt means any Funded Debt of the Partnership, whether outstanding on the Issue Date or thereafter created, incurred or assumed, unless, in the case of any particular Funded Debt, the instrument creating or evidencing the same or pursuant to which the same is outstanding expressly provides that such Funded Debt shall be subordinated in right of payment to the debt securities.

Payment and Transfer

Principal, interest and any premium on fully registered securities will be paid at designated places. Payment will be made by check mailed to the persons in whose names the debt securities are registered on days specified in the Indenture or any prospectus supplement. Other forms of payment relating to the debt securities will be paid at a place designated by us and specified in a prospectus supplement. (Section 3.07)

Fully registered securities may be transferred or exchanged at the corporate trust office of the Trustee or at any other office or agency maintained by us for such purposes, without the payment of any service charge except for any tax or governmental charge. (Section 3.05)

Discharging Our Obligations

We may choose to either discharge our obligations on the debt securities of any series in a legal defeasance, or to release ourselves from our covenant restrictions on the debt securities of any series in a covenant defeasance. We may do so at any time after we deposit with the Trustee sufficient cash or government securities to pay the principal, interest, any premium and any other sums due to the stated maturity date or a redemption date of the debt securities of the series. If we choose the legal defeasance option, the holders of the debt securities of the series will not be entitled to the benefits of the Indenture except for registration of transfer and exchange of debt securities, replacement of lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated debt securities, conversion or exchange of debt securities, sinking fund payments and receipt of principal and interest on the original stated due dates or specified redemption dates. (Section 13.02)

We may discharge our obligations under the Indenture or release ourselves from covenant restrictions only if, in addition to making the deposit with the Trustee, we meet some specific requirements. Among other things:

- we must deliver an opinion of our legal counsel that the discharge will not result in holders having to recognize taxable income or loss or subject them to different tax treatment. In the case of legal defeasance, this opinion must be based on either an IRS letter ruling or change in federal tax law;
- we may not have a default on the debt securities discharged on the date of deposit;
- the discharge may not violate any of our agreements; and
- the discharge may not result in our becoming an investment company in violation of the Investment Company Act of 1940. (Section 13.03)

Book Entry, Delivery and Form

The debt securities of a series may be issued in whole or in part in the form of one or more global certificates that will be deposited with a depository identified in a prospectus supplement.

Unless otherwise stated in any prospectus supplement, The Depository Trust Company, New York, New York, or DTC, will act as depository. Book-entry notes of a series will be issued in the form of a global note that will be deposited with DTC. This means that we will not issue certificates to each holder. One global note will be issued to DTC who will keep a computerized record of its participants (for example, your broker) whose clients have purchased the notes. The participant will then keep a record of its clients who purchased the notes. Unless it is exchanged in whole or in part for a certificate note, a global note may not be transferred; except that DTC, its nominees and their successors may transfer a global note as a whole to one another.

Beneficial interests in global notes will be shown on, and transfers of global notes will be made only through, records maintained by DTC and its participants.

DTC has provided us the following information: DTC is a limited-purpose trust company organized under the New York Banking Law, a banking organization within the meaning of the New York Banking Law, a member of the United States Federal Reserve System, a clearing corporation within the meaning of the New York Uniform Commercial Code and a clearing agency registered under the provisions of Section 17A of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. DTC holds securities that its participants (Direct Participants) deposit with DTC. DTC also records the settlement among Direct Participants of securities transactions, such as transfers and pledges, in deposited securities through computerized records for Direct Participant s accounts. This eliminates the need to exchange certificates. Direct Participants include securities brokers and dealers, banks, trust companies, clearing corporations and other organizations.

According to DTC, the foregoing information with respect to DTC has been provided to the financial community for informational purposes only and is not intended to serve as a representation, warranty or contract modification of any kind.

DTC s book-entry system is also used by other organizations such as securities brokers and dealers, banks and trust companies that work through a Direct Participant. The rules that apply to DTC and its participants are on file with the SEC.

DTC is owned by a number of its Direct Participants and by the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., The American Stock Exchange, Inc. and the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.

We will wire principal and interest payments to DTC s nominee. We and the Trustee will treat DTC s nominee as the owner of the global notes for all purposes. Accordingly, we, the Trustee and any paying agent will have no direct responsibility or liability to pay amounts due on the global notes to owners of beneficial interests in the global notes.

It is DTC's current practice, upon receipt of any payment of principal or interest, to credit Direct Participants' accounts on the payment date according to their respective holdings of beneficial interests in the global notes as shown on DTC's records. In addition, it is DTC's current practice to assign any consenting or voting rights to Direct Participants whose accounts are credited with notes on a record date, by using an omnibus proxy. Payments by participants to owners of beneficial interests in the global notes, and voting by participants, will be governed by the customary practices between the participants and owners of beneficial interests, as is the case with notes held for the account of customers registered in street name. However, payments will be the responsibility of the participants and not of DTC, the Trustee or us.

Notes represented by a global note will be exchangeable for certificate notes with the same terms in authorized denominations only if:

- DTC notifies us that it is unwilling or unable to continue as depository or if DTC ceases to be a clearing agency registered under applicable law and a successor depository is not appointed by us within 90 days; or
- we determine not to require all of the notes of a series to be represented by a global note and notify the Trustee of our decision.

The Trustee

Resignation or Removal of Trustee. Under the Indenture and the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, as amended, governing Trustee conflicts of interest, any uncured Event of Default with respect to any series of debt securities will force the Trustee to resign as trustee under the Indenture. Any resignation will require the appointment of a successor trustee under the applicable Indenture in accordance with its terms and conditions.

The Trustee may resign or be removed by us with respect to one or more series of debt securities and a successor trustee may be appointed to act with respect to any such series. The holders of a majority in aggregate principal amount of the debt securities of any series may remove the Trustee with respect to the debt securities of such series. (Section 6.10)

Limitations on Trustee if it is Our Creditor. The Indenture contains limitations on the right of the Trustee thereunder, in the event that it becomes a creditor of the Partnership, to obtain payment of claims in some cases, or to realize on property received in respect of any such claim as security or otherwise. (Section 6.13)

Certificates to Be Furnished to Trustee. The Indenture provides that, in addition to other certificates that may be specifically required by other provisions of the Indenture, every application by us for action by the Trustee shall be accompanied by an officers' certificate stating that, in the opinion of the signers, all conditions precedent to such action have been complied with. (Section 1.02)

MATERIAL TAX CONSIDERATIONS

This section is a summary of material tax considerations that may be relevant to prospective unitholders. This section and the opinions of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP, our tax counsel, that are set out herein are based upon the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, the regulations promulgated thereunder and administrative rulings and court decisions, all as currently in effect and all of which are subject to change. Subsequent changes in such authorities may cause the tax consequences to vary substantially from the consequences described below.

No attempt has been made in the following discussion to comment on all federal income tax matters affecting us or the unitholders. Moreover, the discussion focuses on unitholders who are individuals and who are citizens or residents of the United States, and has only limited application to corporations, estates, trusts, non-resident aliens or other unitholders subject to specialized tax treatment, such as tax-exempt institutions, foreign persons, individual retirement accounts, real estate investment trusts or mutual funds. Accordingly, each prospective unitholder should consult, and should depend on, the unitholder's own tax advisor in analyzing the federal, state, local and foreign tax consequences of the ownership or disposition of the limited partnership units.

Legal Opinions and Advice

Our tax counsel is of the opinion, subject to the qualifications set forth in the discussion that follows, that for federal income tax purposes (i) each of Buckeye Partners and the operating partnerships will be treated as a partnership, (ii) each of Wood River and Transportation will be disregarded as an entity separate from the Partnership and (iii) owners of limited partnership units, with certain exceptions as described in Partner Status below, will be treated as partners of Buckeye Partners. In addition, all statements as to matters of law contained in this section are the opinion of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP, unless such statements are made by us or others.

An opinion of counsel represents only that particular counsel's best legal judgment and does not bind the IRS or the courts. No assurance can be provided that the opinions and statements set forth herein would be sustained by a court if contested by the IRS. Any such contest with the IRS may materially and adversely impact the market for the limited partnership units and the prices at which limited partnership units trade even if we prevail. In addition, the costs of any contest with the IRS will be borne directly or indirectly by the unitholders and our general partner. Furthermore, no assurance is given that the federal income tax consequences of an investment in us will not be significantly modified by future legislative or administrative changes or court decisions. Any such modification may have retroactive effect.

We have not requested, and do not expect to request, a ruling from the IRS with respect to our classification as a partnership for federal income tax purposes or with respect to any other matter affecting us or holders of our limited partnership units.

Partnership Status

A partnership is not a taxable entity and incurs no federal income tax liability. Instead, each partner is required to take into account the partner's proportionate share of the items of income, gain, loss and deduction of the partnership in computing such partner's federal income tax liability, regardless of whether distributions are made. Distributions of cash by a partnership to a partner are generally not taxable unless the amount of cash distributed to a partner is in excess of the partner's tax basis in the partner's partnership interest.

Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP is of the opinion that each of the Partnership and the operating partnerships has been and will be classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes, and that each of Wood River and Transportation has been and will be disregarded as an entity separate from the Partnership for federal income tax purposes, provided that:

- (1) None of the Partnership, the operating partnerships, Wood River and Transportation have elected or will elect to be treated as a corporation;
- (2) The Partnership, the operating partnerships, Wood River and Transportation have been and will be operated in accordance with (i) all applicable partnership and limited liability company statutes and (ii) the partnership agreement, operating partnership agreement or limited liability company operating agreement (whichever is applicable);
- (3) For each of our taxable years from and after our formation, 90% or more of our gross income has been and will be derived (i) from the exploration, development, production, processing, refining, transportation or marketing of any mineral or natural resource, including oil, gas or products thereof, or (ii) from other items of qualifying income within the meaning of Section 7704(d) of the Internal Revenue Code;
- (4) We would not be a regulated investment company as described in Section 851(a) of the Internal Revenue Code if we were a domestic corporation.

Buckeye Partners believes that such assumptions have been true in the past and expects that such assumptions will be true in the future.

Section 7704 of the Internal Revenue Code provides that publicly traded partnerships will, as a general rule, be taxed as corporations. However, an exception exists with respect to publicly traded partnerships of which 90% or more of the gross income for every taxable year consists of qualifying income, as described in clause (3) above. If we fail to meet this qualifying income exception in any taxable year, other than a failure that is determined by the IRS to be inadvertent and which is cured within a reasonable time after discovery, we will be treated as if we transferred all of our assets (subject to liabilities) to a newly formed corporation, as of the first day of such taxable year, in return for stock in that corporation, and as if we then distributed that stock to our partners in liquidation of their interests in us. This contribution and liquidation should be tax-free to our partners and to us, so long as we do not have liabilities at that time in excess of the tax basis of our assets. Thereafter, we would be treated as a corporation for federal income tax purposes.

If we or any of the operating partnerships, Wood River or Transportation were treated as a corporation in any taxable year, either as a result of a failure to meet the qualifying income exception or otherwise, the net income of such entity would be subject to tax at corporate rates. In addition, if we were treated as a corporation, any distribution we made to a unitholder would be treated as taxable dividend income to the extent of our current or accumulated earnings and profits, then, in the absence of earnings and profits, would be treated as a nontaxable return of capital to the extent of the unitholder's tax basis in the unitholder's limited partnership units, and then would be treated as taxable capital gain after the unitholder's tax basis in the limited partnership units had been reduced to zero. Accordingly, treatment of us or any of our operating partnerships, Wood River or Transportation as a corporation would result in a material reduction in a unitholder's cash flow and after-tax return and thus would likely result in a substantial reduction of the value of the limited partnership units.

The discussion below is based on the assumption that, for federal income tax purposes, each of the Partnership and the operating partnerships will be classified as a partnership and each of Wood River and Transportation will be disregarded as an entity separate from the Partnership.

Tax Treatment of Unitholders

Partner Status

Unitholders who have become our limited partners will be treated as our partners for federal income tax purposes. Assignees who have executed and delivered transfer applications, and are awaiting admission as limited partners, and unitholders whose limited partnership units are held in street name or by a nominee and who have the right to direct the nominee in the exercise of the rights attendant to the ownership of their limited partnership units, will be treated as our partners for federal income tax purposes. Because there is no direct authority addressing assignees of limited partnership units who are entitled to execute and deliver transfer applications but who fail to do so, such assignees may not be treated as our partners for federal income tax purposes. Further, assignees of limited partnership units who are entitled to execute and deliver transfer applications but fail to do so may not receive some federal income tax information or reports furnished to record holders of limited partnership units. No part of our income, gain, deductions or losses is reportable by a unitholder who is not a partner for federal income tax purposes, and any distributions received by such a unitholder should therefore be fully taxable as ordinary income. These holders should consult their own tax advisors with respect to their status as our partners for federal income tax purposes.

An owner of limited partnership units whose limited partnership units have been transferred to a short seller to complete a short sale would appear to lose the status as a partner with respect to such limited partnership units for federal income tax purposes and may recognize gain or loss on such transfer. If such a person is not a partner, no part of our income, gain, deduction or loss with respect to those limited partnership units would be reportable by that person, any payments received by that person in lieu of cash distributions with respect to those limited partnership units would be fully taxable and all of such payments would appear to be treated as ordinary income. Unitholders desiring to assure their status as partners should modify any applicable brokerage account agreements to prohibit their brokers from borrowing their limited partnership units.

In the following portions of this section, the word unitholder refers to a holder of our limited partnership units who is one of our partners.

Allocation of Partnership Income, Gain, Loss and Deduction

In general, our items of income, gain, loss and deduction will be allocated among the general partner and the unitholders in accordance with their respective percentage interests in us.

Certain items of our income, gain, loss or deduction will be allocated as required or permitted by Section 704(c) of the Internal Revenue Code to account for the difference between the tax basis and fair market value of property heretofore contributed to us. Allocations may also be made to account for the difference between the fair market value of our assets and their tax basis at the time of any offering made pursuant to this prospectus.

In addition, certain items of recapture income which we recognize on the sale of any of our assets will be allocated to the extent provided in regulations, which generally require such depreciation recapture to be allocated to the partner who (or whose predecessor in interest) was allocated the deduction giving rise to the treatment of such gain as recapture income.

Alternative Minimum Tax

Each unitholder will be required to take into account the unitholder's share of our items of income, gain, loss or deduction for purposes of the alternative minimum tax. A portion of our depreciation deductions may be treated as an item of tax preference for this purpose. A unitholder's alternative minimum taxable income derived from us may be higher than the unitholder's share of our net income.

because we may use accelerated methods of depreciation for federal income tax purposes. Prospective unitholders should consult their tax advisors as to the impact of an investment in limited partnership units on their liability for the alternative minimum tax.

Treatment of Distributions by Buckeye Partners

Our distributions to a unitholder generally will not be taxable to the unitholder for federal income tax purposes to the extent of the tax basis the unitholder has in the unitholder's limited partnership units immediately before the distribution. Our cash distributions in excess of a unitholder's tax basis generally will be gain from the sale or exchange of the limited partnership units, taxable in accordance with the rules described under Disposition of Limited Partnership Units, below. Any reduction in a unitholder's share of our liabilities for which no partner, including the general partner, bears the economic risk of loss (nonrecourse liabilities) will be treated as a distribution of cash to that unitholder. In particular, our issuance of additional limited partnership units (including, for example, as a result of this offering) may decrease each unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities, resulting in a deemed cash distribution.

A non-pro rata distribution of money or property may result in ordinary income to a unitholder if such distribution reduces the unitholder's share of our unrealized receivables, including depreciation recapture, or substantially appreciated inventory items, both as defined in Section 751 of the Internal Revenue Code (collectively, Section 751 assets). In that event, the unitholder will be treated as having received as a distribution the portion of the Section 751 assets that used to be allocated to such partner and as having exchanged such portion of our assets with us in return for the non-pro rata portion of the actual distribution made to the unitholder. This latter deemed exchange will generally result in the unitholder's realization of ordinary income, the amount of which is the excess of (1) the non-pro rata portion of such distribution over (2) the unitholder's tax basis for the share of such Section 751 assets deemed relinquished in the exchange.

Basis of Limited Partnership Units

A unitholder will have an initial tax basis for the unitholder's limited partnership units equal to the amount the unitholder paid for the limited partnership units, plus the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities. The unitholder's basis will be increased by the unitholder's share of our income and by any increase in the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities. The unitholder's basis will be decreased, but not below zero, by the unitholder's share of our distributions, by the unitholder's share of our losses, by any decrease in the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities and by the unitholder's share of our expenditures that are not deductible in computing our taxable income and are not required to be capitalized.

Limitations on Deductibility of Buckeye Partners' Losses

The deduction by a unitholder of that unitholder's share of our losses will be limited to the amount of that unitholder's tax basis in the limited partnership units and, in the case of an individual unitholder or a corporate unitholder who is subject to the at risk rules, to the amount for which the unitholder is considered to be at risk with respect to our activities, if that is less than the unitholder's tax basis. A unitholder must recapture losses deducted in previous years to the extent that our distributions cause the unitholder's at risk amount to be less than zero at the end of any taxable year. Losses disallowed to a unitholder or recaptured as a result of these limitations will carry forward and will be allowable to the extent that the unitholder's tax basis or at risk amount, whichever is the limiting factor, subsequently increases. Upon the taxable disposition of a limited partnership unit, any gain recognized by a unitholder can be offset by losses that were previously suspended by the at risk limitation but may not be offset by losses suspended by the basis limitation.

In general, a unitholder will be at risk to the extent of the unitholder's tax basis in the unitholder's limited partnership units, excluding any portion of that basis attributable to the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities, reduced by any amount of money the unitholder borrows to acquire or hold the unitholder's limited partnership units if the lender of such borrowed funds owns an interest in us, is related to such a person or can look only to limited partnership units for repayment. A unitholder's at risk amount will increase or decrease as the tax basis of the unitholder's limited partnership units increases or decreases, other than tax basis increases or decreases attributable to increases or decreases in the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities.

The passive loss limitations generally provide that individuals, estates, trusts, certain closely-held corporations and personal service corporations can deduct losses from passive activities, which include any trade or business activity in which the taxpayer does not materially participate, only to the extent of the taxpayer's income from those passive activities. Moreover, the passive loss limitations are applied separately with respect to each publicly traded partnership. Consequently, any passive losses generated by us will be available to our partners who are subject to the passive loss rules only to offset future passive income generated by us and, in particular, will not be available to offset income from other passive activities, investments or salary. Passive losses that are not deductible because they exceed a unitholder's share of our income may be deducted in full when the unitholder disposes of the unitholder's entire investment in us in a fully taxable transaction to an unrelated party. The passive activity loss rules are applied after other applicable limitations on deductions such as the at risk rules and the basis limitation.

Limitations on Interest Deductions

The deductibility of a non-corporate taxpayer's investment interest expense is generally limited to the amount of such taxpayer's net investment income. The IRS has announced that Treasury Regulations will be issued to characterize net passive income from a publicly traded partnership as investment income for purposes of the limitations on the deductibility of investment interest. In addition, a unitholder's share of our portfolio income will be treated as investment income. Investment interest expense includes (i) interest on indebtedness properly allocable to property held for investment, (ii) our interest expense attributed to portfolio income, and (iii) the portion of interest expense incurred to purchase or carry an interest in a passive activity to the extent attributable to portfolio income. The computation of a unitholder's investment interest expense will take into account interest on any margin account borrowing or other loan incurred to purchase or carry a limited partnership unit. Net investment income includes gross income from property held for investment and amounts treated as portfolio income pursuant to the passive loss rules less deductible expenses, other than interest, directly connected with the production of investment income and certain gains attributable to the disposition of property held for investment.

Tax Treatment of Operations

Accounting Method and Taxable Year

We currently use the calendar year as our taxable year and we have adopted the accrual method of accounting for federal income tax purposes. Each unitholder will be required to include in income the unitholder's share of our income, gain, loss and deduction for each of our taxable years that ends within or with each of the unitholder's taxable years. In addition, a unitholder who disposes of all of the unitholder's limited partnership units following the close of our taxable year but before the close of the unitholder's taxable year must include the unitholder's share of our income, gain, loss and deduction in income for the unitholder's taxable year with the result that the unitholder will be required to report in income for the unitholder's taxable year the unitholder's share for more than one year of our income, gain, loss and deduction.

Initial Tax Basis, Depreciation, Amortization and Certain Nondeductible Items

We use the adjusted tax basis of our various assets for purposes of computing depreciation and cost recovery deductions and gain or loss on any disposition of such assets. If we dispose of depreciable property, all or a portion of any gain may be subject to the recapture rules and taxed as ordinary income rather than capital gain.

The costs incurred in promoting the issuance of limited partnership units (i.e., syndication expenses) must be capitalized and cannot be deducted by us currently, ratably or upon our termination. Uncertainties exist regarding the classification of costs as organization expenses, which may be amortized, and syndication expenses, which may not be amortized, but underwriting discounts and commissions are treated as syndication costs.

Section 754 Election

We have made the election permitted by Section 754 of the Internal Revenue Code, which generally permits us to adjust the tax basis of our assets as to each purchaser of our limited partnership units pursuant to Section 743(b) of the Internal Revenue Code to reflect the purchaser's purchase price. This election, however, does not apply to a person who purchases limited partnership units directly from us. The Section 743(b) adjustment is intended to provide a purchaser with the equivalent of an adjusted tax basis in the purchaser's share of our assets equal to the value of such share that is indicated by the amount that the purchaser paid for the limited partnership units.

A Section 754 election is advantageous if the transferee's tax basis in the transferee's limited partnership units is higher than such limited partnership units' share of the aggregate tax basis of our assets immediately prior to the transfer because the transferee would have, as a result of the election, a higher tax basis in the transferee's share of our assets. Conversely, a Section 754 election is disadvantageous if the transferee's tax basis in the transferee's limited partnership units is lower than such limited partnership units' share of the aggregate tax basis of our assets immediately prior to the transfer. The Section 754 election is irrevocable without the consent of the IRS.

We intend to compute the effect of the Section 743(b) adjustment so as to preserve our ability to determine the tax attributes of a limited partnership unit from its date of purchase and the amount paid therefor. In that regard, we have adopted depreciation and amortization conventions that we believe conform to Treasury regulations under Section 743(b) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The calculations involved in the Section 754 election are complex and are made by us on the basis of certain assumptions as to the value of our assets and other matters. There is no assurance that the determinations made by us will prevail if challenged by the IRS and that the deductions resulting from them will not be reduced or disallowed altogether.

Valuation of Buckeye Partners' Property and Basis of Properties

The federal income tax consequences of the ownership and disposition of limited partnership units will depend in part on our estimates of the fair market values and our determinations of the adjusted tax basis of our assets. Although we may from time to time consult with professional appraisers with respect to valuation matters, we will make many of the fair market value estimates ourselves. These estimates and determinations are subject to challenge and will not be binding on the IRS or the courts. If such estimates or determinations of basis are subsequently found to be incorrect, the character and amount of items of income, gain, loss or deductions previously reported by unitholders might change, and unitholders might be required to adjust their tax liability for prior years and might incur interest and penalties with respect to these adjustments.

Entity-Level Collections

If we are required or elect under applicable law to pay any federal, state, local or foreign income tax on behalf of any partner, we are authorized to pay those taxes from our funds. Such payment, if made, will be treated as a distribution of cash to the partner on whose behalf the payment was made. If the payment is made on behalf of a person whose identity cannot be determined, we are authorized to treat the payment as a distribution to all current unitholders.

Disposition of Limited Partnership Units

Recognition of Gain or Loss

A unitholder will recognize gain or loss on a sale of limited partnership units equal to the difference between the amount realized and the unitholder's tax basis in the limited partnership units sold. A unitholder's amount realized is measured by the sum of the cash and the fair market value of other property received plus the unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities. Because the amount realized includes a unitholder's share of our nonrecourse liabilities, the gain recognized on the sale of limited partnership units could result in a tax liability in excess of any cash received from such sale.

Gain or loss recognized by a unitholder, other than a dealer in limited partnership units, on the sale or exchange of a limited partnership unit will generally be a capital gain or loss. Capital gain recognized by an individual on the sale of limited partnership units held for more than one year will generally be taxed at a maximum rate of 15% (such rate to be increased to 20% for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2008). A portion of this gain or loss (which could be substantial), however, will be separately computed and will be classified as ordinary income or loss under Section 751 of the Internal Revenue Code to the extent attributable to assets giving rise to depreciation recapture or other unrealized receivables or to inventory items owned by us. Ordinary income attributable to unrealized receivables, inventory items and depreciation recapture may exceed net taxable gain realized upon the sale of the limited partnership units and will be recognized even if there is a net taxable loss realized on the sale of the limited partnership units. Thus, a unitholder may recognize both ordinary income and a capital loss upon a disposition of limited partnership units. Net capital loss may offset capital gains and no more than $3,000 ($1,500 in the case of a married individual filing a separate return) of ordinary income in the case of individuals and may only be used to offset capital gain in the case of corporations.

The IRS has ruled that a partner who acquires interests in a partnership in separate transactions must combine those interests and maintain a single adjusted tax basis. Upon a sale or other disposition of less than all of such interests, a portion of that tax basis must be allocated to the interests sold based upon relative fair market values. On the other hand, a selling unitholder who can identify limited partnership units transferred with an ascertainable holding period may elect to use the actual holding period of the limited partnership units transferred. A unitholder electing to use the actual holding period of limited partnership units transferred must consistently use that identification method for all later sales or exchanges of limited partnership units.

Certain provisions of the Internal Revenue Code treat a taxpayer as having sold an appreciated partnership interest, one in which gain would be recognized if it were sold or assigned at its fair market value, if the taxpayer or a related person enters into (i) a short sale, (ii) an offsetting notional principal contract or (iii) a futures or forward contract with respect to the partnership interest or substantially identical property. Moreover, if a taxpayer has previously entered into a short sale, an offsetting notional principal contract or a futures or forward contract with respect to a partnership interest, the taxpayer will be treated as having sold such position if the taxpayer or a related person acquires the partnership interest or substantially similar property. The Secretary of the Treasury is also authorized to issue regulations that treat a taxpayer that enters into transactions or positions that have substantially the same effect as the preceding transactions as having constructively sold the financial position.

Allocations Between Transferors and Transferees

In general, we will prorate our annual taxable income and losses on a monthly basis and such income and losses as so prorated will be subsequently apportioned among the unitholders in proportion to the number of limited partnership units owned by each of them as of the opening of the principal national securities exchange on which the limited partnership units are then traded on the first business day of the month. However, gain or loss realized on a sale or other disposition of our assets other than in the ordinary course of business will be allocated among the unitholders as of such date for the month in which that gain or loss is recognized. As a result, a unitholder transferring limited partnership units in the open market may be allocated income, gain, loss and deduction accrued after the date of transfer.

If this method is not allowed under the Treasury Regulations, or only applies to transfers of less than all of the unitholder's interest, our taxable income or losses might be reallocated among the unitholders. We are authorized to revise our method of allocation between transferors and transferees, as well as among partners whose interests otherwise vary during a taxable period, to conform to a method permitted under future Treasury Regulations.

Notification Requirements

A unitholder who sells or exchanges limited partnership units is required to notify us in writing of that sale or exchange within 30 days after the sale or exchange. We are required to notify the IRS of that transaction and to furnish certain information to the transferor and transferee. However, these reporting requirements do not apply with respect to a sale by an individual who is a citizen of the United States and who effects the sale or exchange through a broker. Additionally, a transferor and a transferee of a limited partnership unit will be required to furnish statements to the IRS, filed with their income tax returns for the taxable year in which the sale or exchange occurred, that set forth the amount of the consideration paid or received for the limited partnership unit. Failure to satisfy these reporting obligations may lead to the imposition of substantial penalties.

Constructive Termination

Buckeye Partners will be considered terminated if there is a sale or exchange of 50% or more of the total interests in our capital and profits within a 12-month period. Any such termination would result in the closing of our taxable year for all unitholders. In the case of a unitholder reporting on a taxable year that does not end with our taxable year, the closing of our taxable year may result in more than 12 months of our taxable income or loss being includable in that unitholder's taxable income for the year of termination. New tax elections required to be made by us, including a new election under Section 754 of the Internal Revenue Code, must be made subsequent to a termination and a termination could result in a deferral of our deductions for depreciation. A termination could also result in penalties if we were unable to determine that the termination had occurred. Moreover, a termination might either accelerate the application of, or subject us to, any tax legislation enacted prior to the termination.

Uniformity of Units

Because we cannot match transferors and transferees of limited partnership units, we must maintain uniformity of the economic and tax characteristics of the units for holders of these units. To maintain uniformity and for other reasons, we have adopted certain depreciation and amortization conventions which we believe conform to Treasury Regulations under Section 743(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. A successful challenge to those conventions by the IRS could adversely affect the amount of tax benefits available to holders of limited partnership units and could have a negative impact on the value of the limited partnership units.

Tax-Exempt Organizations and Certain Other Investors

Ownership of limited partnership units by employee benefit plans, other tax-exempt organizations, non-resident aliens, foreign corporations, other foreign persons and regulated investment companies raises issues unique to such persons and, as described below, may have substantially adverse tax consequences. Employee benefit plans and most other organizations exempt from federal income tax, including individual retirement accounts and other retirement plans, are subject to federal income tax on unrelated business taxable income. Much of the taxable income derived by such an organization from the ownership of a limited partnership unit will be unrelated business taxable income, and thus will be taxable to such a unitholder.

A regulated investment company, or mutual fund, is required to derive 90% or more of its gross income from interest, dividends, gains from the sale of stocks or securities or foreign currency or certain related sources. We anticipate that no significant amount of our gross income will include that type of income. Recent legislation also includes net income derived from the ownership of an interest in a qualified publicly traded partnership as qualified income to a regulated investment company. We expect that we will meet the definition of a qualified publicly traded partnership. However, this legislation is only effective for taxable years beginning after October 22, 2004, and limits a regulated investment company's ownership of interests in one or more publicly traded partnerships to no more than 25% of its total assets.

Non-resident aliens and foreign corporations, trusts or estates which hold limited partnership units will be considered to be engaged in business in the United States on account of ownership of limited partnership units. As a consequence they will be required to file federal tax returns in respect of their share of our income, gain, loss, or deduction and pay federal income tax at regular rates on any net income or gain. Generally, a partnership is required to pay a withholding tax on the portion of the partnership's income which is effectively connected with the conduct of a United States trade or business and which is allocable to the foreign partners, regardless of whether any actual distributions have been made to such partners. However, under rules applicable to publicly traded partnerships, we will withhold taxes at the highest marginal rate applicable to individuals on actual cash distributions made to foreign unitholders. Each foreign unitholder must obtain a taxpayer identification number from the IRS and submit that number to our transfer agent, EquiServe, First Chicago Trust Division, in order to obtain credit for the taxes withheld. A change in applicable law may require us to change these procedures.

Because a foreign corporation that owns limited partnership units will be treated as engaged in a United States trade or business, such a corporation will also be subject to United States branch profits tax at a rate of 30% (or any applicable lower treaty rate) of the portion of any reduction in the foreign corporation's U.S. net equity which is the result of our activities. In addition, such a unitholder is subject to special information reporting requirements under Section 6038C of the Internal Revenue Code.

In a published ruling, the IRS has taken the position that gain realized by a foreign unitholder who sells or otherwise disposes of a limited partnership unit will be treated as effectively connected with a United States trade or business of the foreign unitholder, and thus subject to federal income tax, to the extent that such gain is attributable to appreciated personal property used by the limited partnership in a United States trade or business. Moreover, a foreign unitholder is subject to federal income tax on gain realized on the sale or disposition of a unit to the extent that such gain is attributable to appreciated United States real property interests; however, a foreign unitholder will not be subject to federal income tax under this rule unless such foreign unitholder has owned more than 5% in value of our units during the five-year period ending on the date of the sale or disposition, provided the units are regularly traded on an established securities market at the time of the sale or disposition.

Administrative Matters

Information Returns and Audit Procedures

We intend to furnish to each unitholder, within 90 days after the close of each calendar year, certain tax information, including a Schedule K-1, that sets forth such unitholder's share of our income, gain, loss and deduction for our preceding taxable year. In preparing this information, which will generally not be reviewed by counsel, we will use various tax accounting and reporting conventions. We cannot assure prospective unitholders that the IRS will not successfully contend in court that such tax accounting and reporting conventions are impermissible. Any such challenge by the IRS could negatively affect the value of the limited partnership units.

The IRS may audit our federal income tax information returns. Adjustments resulting from any such audit may require each unitholder to adjust a prior year's tax liability, and possibly may result in an audit of the unitholder's own return. Any audit of a unitholder's return could result in adjustments not related to our returns as well as those related to our returns. Partnerships generally are treated as separate entities for purposes of federal tax audits, judicial review of administrative adjustments by the IRS and tax settlement proceedings. The tax treatment of partnership items of income, gain, loss and deduction is determined in a partnership proceeding rather than in separate proceedings with the partners. The Internal Revenue Code provides for one partner to be designated as the "tax matters partner" for these purposes. Our partnership agreement appoints our general partner as our tax matters partner.

The tax matters partner will make certain elections on our behalf and on behalf of the unitholders and can extend the statute of limitations for assessment of tax deficiencies against unitholders with respect to items in our returns. The tax matters partner may bind a unitholder with less than a 1% profits interest in us to a settlement with the IRS unless that unitholder elects, by filing a statement with the IRS, not to give such authority to the tax matters partner. The tax matters partner may seek judicial review, by which all of the unitholders are bound, of a final partnership administrative adjustment and, if the tax matters partner fails to seek judicial review, such review may be sought by any unitholder having at least a 1% interest in our profits and by unitholders having in the aggregate at least a 5% profits interest. However, only one action for judicial review will go forward, and each unitholder with an interest in the outcome may participate. However, if we elect to be treated as a large partnership, which we do not intend to do, a unitholder will not have a right to participate in settlement conferences with the IRS or to seek a refund.

A unitholder must file a statement with the IRS identifying the treatment of any item on the unitholder's federal income tax return that is not consistent with the treatment of the item on our return. Intentional or negligent disregard of the consistency requirement may subject a unitholder to substantial penalties.

Nominee Reporting

Persons who hold an interest in us as a nominee for another person are required to furnish to us the following information: (a) the name, address and taxpayer identification number of the beneficial owner and the nominee; (b) whether the beneficial owner is (i) a person that is not a United States person, (ii) a foreign government, an international organization or any wholly-owned agency or instrumentality of either of the foregoing, or (iii) a tax-exempt entity; (c) the amount and description of limited partnership units held, acquired or transferred for the beneficial owner; and (d) certain information including the dates of acquisitions and transfers, means of acquisitions and transfers, and acquisition cost for purchases, as well as the amount of net proceeds from sales. Brokers and financial institutions are required to furnish additional information, including whether they are United States persons and certain information on limited partnership units that they acquire, hold or transfer for their own account. A penalty of $50 per failure, up to a maximum of $100,000 per calendar year, is imposed by the Internal Revenue Code for failure to report such information to us. The nominee is required to supply the beneficial owner of the limited partnership units with the information furnished to us.

Reportable Transactions.

If we were to engage in a reportable transaction, we (and possibly you and others) would be required to make a detailed disclosure of the transaction to the IRS. This could increase the likelihood that our federal income tax return (and possibly your tax return) would be audited by the IRS. Please read Information Returns and Audit Procedures above. Moreover, depending on the circumstances you could be subject to one or more of the following provisions of the American Jobs Creation Act of 2004: accuracy-related penalties in a greater amount, or subject to more limited exceptions, than described below under Accuracy-Related Penalties, an extended statute of limitations and, for those persons otherwise entitled to deduct interest on federal tax deficiencies, nondeductibility of interest on any resulting tax liability. We do not expect to engage in any reportable transactions.

Accuracy-Related Penalties

An additional tax equal to 20% of the amount of any portion of an underpayment of tax that is attributable to one or more specified causes, including negligence or disregard of rules or regulations, substantial understatements of income tax and substantial valuation misstatements, is imposed by the Internal Revenue Code. No penalty will be imposed, however, with respect to any portion of an underpayment if it is shown that there was a reasonable cause for that portion and that the taxpayer acted in good faith with respect to that portion.

A substantial understatement of income tax in any taxable year exists if the amount of the understatement exceeds the greater of 10% of the tax required to be shown on the return for the taxable year or $5,000 ($10,000 for most corporations). The amount of any understatement subject to penalty generally is reduced if any portion is attributable to a position adopted on the return (i) with respect to which there is, or was, substantial authority or (ii) as to which there is a reasonable basis and the pertinent facts of such position are disclosed on the return.

More stringent rules apply to tax shelters, a term that in this context does not appear to include us. If any item of our income, gain, loss or deduction included as a share of our income by a unitholder might result in such an understatement of income for which no substantial authority exists, we must disclose the pertinent facts on our return. In addition, we will make a reasonable effort to furnish sufficient information for unitholders to make adequate disclosure on their returns to avoid liability for this penalty.

A substantial valuation misstatement exists if the value of any property, or the adjusted basis of any property, claimed on a tax return is 200% or more of the amount determined to be the correct amount of such valuation or adjusted basis. No penalty is imposed unless the portion of the underpayment attributable to a substantial valuation misstatement exceeds $5,000 ($10,000 for most corporations). If the valuation claimed on a return is 400% or more than the correct valuation, the penalty imposed increases to 40%.

State, Local and Other Tax Considerations

In addition to federal income taxes, a unitholder will be subject to other taxes, such as state and local income taxes, unincorporated business taxes, and estate, inheritance or intangible taxes that may be imposed by the various jurisdictions in which such unitholder resides or in which we do business or own property. Although an analysis of those various taxes is not presented here, each prospective unitholder should consider their potential impact on such unitholder's investment in us. We currently conduct business in 14 states including California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas. A unitholder will be required to file state income tax returns and to pay state income taxes in some or all of the states in which we do business or own property and may be subject to penalties for failure to comply with those requirements. In certain states, tax losses may not produce a tax benefit in the year incurred and also may not be available to offset income in subsequent taxable years. Some of the states may require that we, or we may elect to, withhold a percentage of income from amounts to be distributed to a unitholder who is not a resident of the state. Our withholding of an amount, which may be greater or less than a particular unitholder's income tax liability to the state, generally does not relieve the non-resident unitholder from the obligation to file an income tax return. Any amount that is withheld will be treated as distributed to unitholders. Based on current law and our estimate of future operations, we anticipate that any amounts required to be withheld will not be material.

It is the responsibility of each unitholder to investigate the legal and tax consequences of the unitholder's investment in us under the laws of pertinent states and localities. Accordingly, each prospective unitholder should consult, and must depend upon, the unitholder's own tax counsel or other advisor with regard to those matters. Further, it is the responsibility of each unitholder to file all state, local and foreign, as well as U.S. federal, tax returns that may be required of such unitholder. Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP has not rendered an opinion on the state, local or foreign tax consequences of an investment in us.
