GEORGIA GULF CORP /DE/
Form 425
July 19, 2012

Filed by Georgia Gulf Corporation Pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933 and deemed filed pursuant to Rule 14a-12 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934

Subject Company: Georgia Gulf Corporation

Commission File No. 001-09753

On July 19, 2012, Georgia Gulf Corporation distributed the following communication:

Dear Fellow Georgia Gulf Employee,

Today we announced a merger in which we will acquire PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives business. This will transform the combined companies into a leader in chemicals and building products in North America and around the world. The new company should create opportunities for our customers, our shareholders and our employees.

The merger, which is valued at approximately $2.1 billion, is expected to close in late 2012 or early 2013 following customary regulatory approvals and approval by our shareholders. You can read our press release on the Georgia Gulf website for more details.

This is an exciting development for Georgia Gulf. By combining our operations with PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives production facilities in North America and its nearly 2,000 skilled employees, the new organization is expected to become:

- a Fortune 500 company with anticipated annual revenues of more than $5 billion
- the third-largest chlor-alkali producer in North America and fourth-largest in the world
- the second-largest vinyl chloride monomer (VCM) producer in North America
- one of the lowest-cost chlor-alkali producers in the world due to our access to abundant domestic natural gas

Just as significant, the size and strength of the new company should provide opportunities for investments in the future as we continue on our path toward executing our strategies.

Our strategic efforts have focused on a number of items, and one key was to improve our chlor-alkali integration. While we looked at a number of alternatives, this merger was the most attractive option. It significantly increases our chlorine and caustic soda production capacity while at the same time increasing our options in the vinyl chain.

The geographic proximity of PPG's largest chlor-alkali production facility in Lake Charles, Louisiana—a short distance from our VCM plant on the other side of Interstate 10—adds further opportunities going forward. These plants have a long-term relationship, and the merger will allow us to optimize the assets in coming years.

Of course, increasing chlor-alkali integration is just one part of our larger corporate strategy. Across the organization, we continue to focus on our other businesses in Building Products, Compounds and Additives, and Aromatics. The strong cash flow and enhanced earnings that should result from combining with PPG's chlor-alkali and derivatives business will better position us to support initiatives that drive those objectives, as well as other activities in our pursuit of continuing to improve our organization.

As we told investors earlier in the year, Georgia Gulf's management team and the board of directors are confident in our strategic plan and its ability to create significant long-term shareholder value and exciting new possibilities for our employees. Once the merger is completed, we believe the substantial increase in sales, adjusted EBITDA and growth opportunities will considerably strengthen our position as a global chemicals and building products manufacturer.

As I mentioned earlier, this is an exciting moment in Georgia Gulf's 27-year history—and with your continued dedication to execution, excellence and safety, I am confident that we will achieve much more in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

Paul
