Item 8.01. Other Events.

On June 11, 2015, the procedural schedule in Pacific Gas and Electric Company's ("Utility") 2015 Gas Transmission and Storage ("GT&S") rate case was amended to provide time to determine which natural gas transmission projects and programs should be considered safety-related and therefore subject to the $850 million cost disallowance adopted by the California Public Utilities Commission ("CPUC") on April 9, 2015. (See PG&E Corporation's and the Utility's joint Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2015 for more information about the CPUC's penalty decision.) The ruling determines that a CPUC decision to authorize GT&S revenue requirements should be issued before a decision is issued to reduce the authorized revenue requirements by the cost of programs and projects determined to be safety-related and subject to the $850 million disallowance. The procedural schedule estimates that a decision to authorize GT&S revenue requirements could be issued in January 2016, followed by a separate decision to determine the cost disallowance for safety-related projects and programs that could be issued in May 2016. The ruling states that it is anticipated that the GT&S rate case would be completed in accordance with the schedule set forth in the ruling, but in any event, within 18 months of the date of the ruling, or by December 2016.
