Item 11. Executive Compensation

COMPENSATION DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overview

This compensation discussion and analysis explains the material elements of the compensation awarded to, earned by, or paid to each of Ming Hsieh, our President and Chief Executive Officer, Paul Kim, our Chief Financial Officer, Michael Hollowich, our Executive Vice President, Operations, and James Jasinski, our Executive Vice President, Federal and State Systems. These individuals are also referred to herein as our named executive officers.

Compensation Program Objectives and Philosophy

The compensation committee of our board of directors currently oversees the design and administration of our executive compensation program. Our compensation committee's primary objectives in structuring and administering our executive officer compensation program are to:

1. attract, motivate and retain talented and dedicated executive officers;
2. tie annual and long-term cash and stock incentives to achievement of measurable corporate and individual performance objectives; and
3. reinforce business strategies and objectives for enhanced stockholder value.

To achieve these goals, our compensation committee maintains compensation plans that tie a portion of executives' overall compensation to key strategic goals such as financial and operational performance, as measured by metrics such as revenue and adjusted operating income. Our compensation committee evaluates individual executive performance with a goal of setting compensation at levels the committee believes are comparable with those of executives at other companies of similar size and stage of growth, while taking into account our relative performance and our own strategic goals.

Our compensation committee performs at least annually a review of our executive officers' compensation to determine whether we provide adequate incentives and motivation to our executive officers and whether we adequately compensate our executive officers relative to comparable officers in other similarly situated companies. In February 2007 our compensation committee reviewed compensation and retained a compensation consulting firm to assist it in evaluating our compensation practices.

The principal elements of our executive compensation program are base salary, annual cash bonus awards, long-term equity incentives in the form of stock options and restricted stock, other benefits and perquisites, post-termination severance and acceleration of stock option and restricted stock vesting for certain named executive officers upon termination and/or a change in control. Our other benefits and perquisites consist of life and health insurance benefits and a qualified 401(k) savings plan.

We view these components of compensation as related but distinct. Although our compensation committee does review total compensation, we do not believe that significant compensation derived from one component of compensation should negate or offset compensation from other components. We determine the appropriate level for each compensation component based in part, but not exclusively, on competitive benchmarking consistent with our recruiting and retention goals, our view of internal equity and consistency, and other considerations we deem relevant, such as rewarding extraordinary performance.

When determining compensation for our Chief Executive Officer, our compensation committee gives significant consideration to the distinct nature of our ownership, which has existed since prior to our initial public offering in 2004 (the IPO) and continues today. Specifically, Mr. Hsieh, our Chief Executive Officer, was our sole stockholder prior to our IPO, continues to hold a majority of our common stock and has received significant liquidity since our IPO.

Role of Executive Officers in Compensation Decisions

Our compensation committee reviews and approves the compensation paid to our Chief Executive Officer. With regard to the compensation paid to each executive officer other than the Chief Executive Officer, the Chief Executive Officer reviews, on an annual basis, the compensation paid to each such executive officer during the past year and submits to the compensation committee his recommendations regarding the compensation to be paid to such persons during the next year. Following a review of such recommendations, the committee will take such action regarding such compensation as it deems appropriate, including approving compensation in an amount the compensation committee deems reasonable.

Management plays a significant role in the compensation-setting process for executive officers, other than the Chief Executive Officer, by:

evaluating employee performance;

recommending business performance targets and establishing objectives; and recommending salary levels, bonuses and equity-based awards.

Management also prepares meeting information for most compensation committee meetings, and the Chief Executive Officer participates in committee meetings at the compensation committee's request to provide:

background information regarding our strategic objectives;

his evaluation of the performance of the executive officers; and compensation recommendations as to executive officers (other than himself).

Benchmarking of Compensation.

The compensation committee believes it is important when making its compensation-related decisions to be informed as to current practices of similarly situated companies. As a result, the compensation committee reviews third-party surveys and other information collected from public sources for executive officers at peer companies. Prior to 2007, the compensation committee had not engaged third party consultants to advise the compensation committee on compensation matters. However, in early 2007, the compensation committee commissioned a study conducted by an outside consulting firm that specializes in executive compensation. This study reviewed the cash and equity compensation practices of two groups of companies with annual revenues ranging from $100 million to $200 million: (i) a group of 32 companies in the industries in which we compete and (ii) a group of 65 technology companies. The names of the companies reviewed by the study are listed below. While benchmarking may not always be appropriate as a stand-alone tool for setting compensation due to the aspects of our business and objectives that may be unique to us, we generally believe that gathering this information is an important part of our compensation-related decision-making process.

The following companies were reviewed in the study prepared by our outside consulting firm: Actel Corp., Actuate Corporation, Advent Software, Inc., American Science & Engineering, Anadigics, Inc., Applied Signal Technology, Ask.com, Avonex, Bcgi, Blue Coat Systems,

Edgar Filing: Cogent, Inc. - Form 10-K/A

Bookham Technology, CAE, Inc., CCC Information Services, Cirrus Logic, Inc., ComGlobal Systems, Inc., Nektar Therapeutics, Digimarc Corporation, Dupont/ EKC Technology, E-Loan, Emageon, Inc., Exponent, First Aviation Services, Intevac, Lightbridge, Inc., Magma Design Automation, Inc., Mindspeed Technologies, Miva, Moody's Corporation, Navisite, NDS Goup plc, ENOVIA MatrixOne, Novatel Wireless, Omnicell, Inc., Packeteer, Pegasystems, Inc., Photon Dynamics, Pixelworks, Inc., Presstek, Provide Commerce, Proxim Wireless, Radiant Systems, Inc., Rambus, Inc., Redback Networks, S1 Corporation, SBS Technologies, Inc., Secure Computing Corp., Software AG, SonoSite, Inc., Sonus Networks, Sparton, SurfControl plc, Symyx Technologies, Inc., Synaptics, Terayon Communication Systems, TiVo, Ultraclean Technology, Ultratech, Vicor, Vignette Corporation, Walt Disney Internet Group and Websense, Inc.

Base Compensation

We provide our named executive officers and other executives with base salaries that we believe enable us to hire and retain individuals in a competitive environment and to reward individual performance and contribution to our overall business goals, while taking into account the unique circumstances of our company. We review base salaries for our named executive officers annually and increases are generally based on our performance and individual performance. We also take into account the base compensation that is payable by companies that we believe to be our competitors and by other public companies with which we believe we generally compete for executives. The base salary of our Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Hsieh, is reviewed and recommended by our compensation committee, whose members are all of our independent directors.

In February 2007 the compensation committee reviewed the salaries of our named executive officers and made the following determinations:

Mr. Hsieh. In reviewing Mr. Hsieh's base salary for 2007, the committee focused on our results of operations for 2006, Mr. Hsieh's continued majority ownership of our company, the liquidity Mr. Hsieh has received through sales of our common stock since our IPO, and the report provided by our outside consulting firm, which showed that Mr. Hsieh's base salary trails that of the chief executive officers of the companies with which we compete for executives. Based on Mr. Hsieh's continued majority ownership of our company and the significant liquidity Mr. Hsieh has received since our IPO, as well as the decline in revenues we experienced in 2006, our compensation committee determined that only a modest increase in Mr. Hsieh's base salary was appropriate at that time.

Mr. Kim. In reviewing Mr. Kim's base salary for 2007, the compensation committee focused on the compensation information provided by our outside consultants and our need to retain the services of Mr. Kim, as well as the recommendation of our Chief Executive Officer. The compensation information showed that Mr. Kim's base salary trailed that of the chief financial officers of the companies with which we compete for executives. As a result, the committee determined that, in order to continue to retain Mr. Kim's services in a highly competitive market, it was appropriate to increase Mr. Kim's base salary so that it would be at or near the 50th percentile of salaries for chief financial officers at our peer companies. Mr. Kim's 2007 base salary was increased by 13% over his 2006 base salary.

Messrs. Hollowich and Jasinski. In reviewing the base salaries of Messrs. Hollowich and Jasinski for 2007, the committee focused on the salary and compensation information provided by our outside consultants, which showed that these executive officers received base salaries that were comparable to executives holding similar positions at peer companies, the liquidity these executive officers had received through sales of shares of our common stock since our IPO, and the recommendations of our Chief Executive Officer. Based on these factors, our compensation committee determined that only modest increases in the base salaries of Messrs. Hollowich and Jasinski were appropriate at that time.

Annual Cash Bonus Awards

We believe a cash-based incentive compensation program is important in order to focus our management on achieving key company and personal objectives. However, prior to 2007 we did not have formal cash-based compensation programs on a year-to-year basis. In February 2007, our compensation committee evaluated our cash bonus compensation practices in light of the objectives of our compensation program. Based on this evaluation, our compensation committee determined that it was appropriate for our executive officers to be eligible for cash compensation pursuant to a formal annual cash bonus plan. Under the terms of the bonus plan, the compensation committee establishes performance objectives and annual target bonus amounts for each executive officer. In determining the appropriate level of bonus for each officer the compensation committee considers information provided through independent, third-party surveys and other information collected from public sources for similar positions at peer companies, relative base salary and bonus amounts for each individual and internal equity with non-executive employees.

2007 Bonus Plan

In the first quarter of 2007, the compensation committee worked with senior management to establish the bonus amounts and performance objectives under the bonus plan. For fiscal 2007, each executive officer was eligible to receive a bonus that ranged from 2% to 70% of the individual's base salary. As described in greater detail below, the performance objectives consisted of company objectives and individual objectives. For each performance objective the committee assigned a relative weighting to provide guidelines for setting actual cash payouts for each executive officer based on a percentage of the individual's base salary.

The compensation committee retained wide discretion to interpret the terms of the bonus plan, including interpreting and determining whether the performance objectives had been met and the amount of cash bonus that may be paid pursuant to the bonus plan.

For the 2007 bonus plan, our company objectives consisted of achieving at least $120 million in revenue and $41 million in adjusted operating income for 2007, reaching a favorable result in our lawsuit to protect our intellectual property, expanding our customer base, and winning contracts with large customers. Importantly, the compensation committee determined that we had to achieve at least 80% of the revenue and adjusted operating income targets in order for our named executive officers to receive any pay-outs under the 2007 bonus plan. Adjusted operating income is a non-GAAP financial measure we calculate by excluding stock based compensation expense and legal expenses relating to our action against Northrop Grumman from operating expenses.

The following is a discussion of the personal objectives under the 2007 bonus plan for each of our named executive officers, as well as a discussion of the determinations our compensation committee made with respect to pay-outs to our named executive officers under the 2007 bonus plan.

Mr. Hsieh. For the 2007 bonus plan, Mr. Hsieh's personal performance objectives were closely tied to our company objectives. Specifically, his personal objectives consisted of (i) growing our business (this objective was allocated the greatest weight in determining the bonus Mr. Hsieh could receive), (ii) leading our efforts to reach a favorable result in our lawsuit to protect our intellectual property, and (iii) advancing strategic alternatives that fuel our growth or bring value to our company. Because we did not achieve meaningful revenue growth in 2007 over 2006 levels, the compensation committee determined that Mr. Hsieh should not receive any bonus pay-out under the 2007 bonus plan.

Mr. Kim. For the 2007 bonus plan, Mr. Kim's personal performance objectives consisted of (i) continuing to build a public infrastructure for the company, including Sarbanes-Oxley compliance, (ii) successfully managing our investor relations program, (iii) supporting our vice presidents, (iv) controlling corporate costs, (v) assisting our Chief Executive Officer in evaluating strategic alternatives that fuel our growth or bring value to our company, and (vi) helping manage the risks associated with being a public company. The committee assigned the greatest weight to objectives (i) and (ii). Objectives (iii), (iv) and (v) were assigned roughly equal weighting to each other, and objective (vi) less weight than the others. Our compensation committee determined that Mr. Kim performed well enough against his personal objectives to receive a bonus under the 2007 bonus plan near the mid-point of his bonus range; however, because we did not achieve the revenue and adjusted operating income targets for 2007 (although we did achieve greater than 80% of those targets), the compensation committee reduced the actual amount of the bonus paid to Mr. Kim.

Mr. Hollowich. For the 2007 bonus plan, Mr. Hollowich's personal performance objectives consisted of (i) supervising our efforts to win contracts with large customers, (ii) supervising our efforts to win contracts with state and local governments, and (iii) helping us reach a favorable result in our lawsuit to protect our intellectual property. The committee assigned the greatest weight to objective (i), followed by objectives (ii) and (iii). Our compensation committee determined that Mr. Hollowich performed well enough against his personal objectives to receive a bonus under the 2007 bonus plan near the mid-point of his bonus range; however, because we did not achieve the revenue and adjusted operating income targets for 2007 (although we did achieve greater than 80% of those targets), the compensation committee reduced the actual amount of the bonus paid to Mr. Hollowich.

Mr. Jasinski. For the 2007 bonus plan, Mr. Jasinski's personal performance objectives consisted of (i) supervising our efforts to win contracts with large customers, and (ii) helping us reach a favorable result in our lawsuit to protect our intellectual property. The committee assigned the greatest weight to objective (i). Our compensation committee determined that Mr. Jasinski performed well enough against his personal objectives to receive a bonus under the 2007 bonus plan near the mid-point of his bonus range; however, because we did not achieve the revenue and adjusted operating income targets for 2007 (although we did achieve greater than 80% of those targets), the compensation committee reduced the actual amount of the bonus paid to Mr. Jasinski.

2007 Discretionary Bonuses

The compensation committee may also award discretionary bonuses based on our achievements and the individual's contributions to those achievements. Based on the contributions Mr. Hsieh and Mr. Jasinski made in achieving the settlement of our litigation with Northrop Grumman in 2007, the compensation committee awarded discretionary bonuses of $200,000 to Mr. Hsieh and $60,000 to Mr. Jasinski. However, Mr. Hsieh declined to accept the discretionary bonus and, as a result, he did not and will not receive a 2007 discretionary bonus.

Equity Compensation

We believe that equity ownership by our executive officers provides important incentives to build stockholder value and align the interests of executive officers with those of our stockholders. The compensation committee develops its equity award determinations based on its judgments as to whether the complete compensation packages provided to our executives, including prior equity awards, are sufficient to retain, motivate and adequately award the executives. This judgment is based in part on information provided by reviewing the equity compensation practices of companies we believe to be our competitors and by other public companies with which we believe we generally compete for executives.

We grant equity compensation to our executive officers and other employees under our Amended and Restated 2004 Equity Incentive Plan, or the 2004 Plan. Beginning on January 1, 2006, we began accounting for stock-based payments in accordance with the requirements of FASB Statement 123R.

We granted substantial equity awards, in the form of stock options, to our named executive officers (other than our Chief Executive Officer) prior to our IPO. These options have a 10 year term, vest through 2008 and have exercise prices ranging from $0.60 to $4.50. Certain of these option grants are subject to post-termination and change in control provisions. In light of the continued vesting of the awards, as well as the appreciation in value and increase in liquidity resulting from our IPO, it was the position of our compensation committee until 2007 that the pre-IPO grants continued to sufficiently incentivize our executives (excluding our Chief Executive Officer), and thus the objectives of our compensation program were met without granting additional equity awards to our named executive officers. Further, as previously discussed, our Chief Executive Officer was our sole stockholder prior to our IPO and continues to control a majority of our outstanding capital stock. In light of these circumstances, our compensation committee determined that it is not necessary to grant equity awards to Mr. Hsieh in order to fulfill the objectives of our executive compensation program.

In February 2007 our compensation committee determined that it would be appropriate to grant additional equity incentives to our named executive officers (other than our Chief Executive Officer). This determination was primarily based on the committee's conclusion that, in light of the fact that all stock options held by our named executive officers would fully vest in 2008, we needed to provide additional long-term equity compensation to our executive officers to further incentivize them to stay with us for longer periods of time.

Throughout 2007 the committee analyzed several equity alternatives, primarily focusing on grants of stock options or restricted stock. Based on this analysis, the committee determined that granting shares of restricted stock to our named executive officers would best align the interests of our named executive officers with those of our stockholders. It is the view of our compensation committee that restricted stock awards provide a strong incentive to our executives by providing them with actual stock ownership, in contrast to stock options, which may or may not ultimately result in realizable value to recipients. Additionally, we believe a restricted stock program will consume fewer shares than a similarly structured stock option program in order to achieve similar incentive levels, resulting in less dilution to our stockholders. Further, we also believe that expanding our use of restricted stock may result in lower overall stock compensation expense.

In November 2007, and in connection with grants of restricted stock to a broad group of our employees, our compensation committee approved the issuance of shares of restricted stock to each of Messrs. Kim, Hollowich and Jasinski. The compensation committee set the number of shares granted to each of these individuals based on the recommendations of our Chief Executive Officer, while also taking into account the equity compensation practices of peer companies. Generally, 25% of the shares subject to these grants vest on each anniversary of the grant date, with the result that 100% of the shares subject to these grants will be fully vested on the fourth anniversary of the grant date. If the employment of a named executive officer terminates prior to the vesting of some or all of the shares, then the unvested shares will be forfeited back to us; provided that Mr. Kim is entitled to acceleration of vesting in the event of a change in control of our company. These grants were specifically timed to coincide with a period when individuals are typically not prohibited from selling shares of our common stock under our securities trading policy, with the intent that, upon vesting, individuals could have the ability to sell shares of our stock to satisfy tax liabilities that may arise.

We do not have any stock ownership guidelines for our executive officers.

Executive Benefits and Perquisites

We provide the opportunity for our named executive officers and other executives to receive certain perquisites and general health and welfare benefits. We also offer participation in our defined contribution 401(k) plan. After one year of service we match employee contributions under our 401(k) plan, up to an amount equal to 3% of an individual's annual base salary. We provide these benefits to create additional incentives for our executives and to remain competitive in the general marketplace for executive talent.

Change in Control and Severance Benefits

Pursuant to the employment agreement entered in connection with his hiring in January 2004, as well as the agreement governing restricted stock issued in 2007, we provide the opportunity for our Chief Financial Officer to receive additional compensation and benefits in the event of severance or change in control. Our severance and change in control provisions for our Chief Financial Officer are summarized below in Employment Agreements and Potential Payments Upon Termination or Change in Control. Our compensation committee believes that Mr. Kim's interests are best aligned with the interests of our stockholders, and we will be better able to retain his services, if he has the benefit of severance and change in control arrangements.

Code Section 162(m)

It is our policy generally to qualify compensation paid to executive officers for deductibility under Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code. Section 162(m) generally prohibits us from deducting the compensation of officers that exceeds $1,000,000 unless that compensation is based on the achievement of objective performance goals. We believe our 2004 Plan is structured to qualify stock options, restricted share and stock unit awards under such plan as performance-based compensation and to maximize the tax deductibility of such awards. However, we reserve the discretion to pay compensation to our officers that may not be deductible.

2008 Compensation Decisions

In February 2008 our compensation committee approved the following annual base salaries for our named executive officers: (i) $287,000 for Mr. Hsieh, (ii) $262,500 for Mr. Kim, and (iii) $207,000 for each of Messrs. Hollowich and Jasinski. On April 24, 2008, the committee approved a 2008 cash-based incentive bonus program, pursuant to which each named executive may, based upon the achievement of company and individual performance objectives, receive a bonus that ranges from 2% to 70% of an individual's base salary.

Assuming a change in control occurred on December 31, 2007 and Mr. Kim's employment was terminated, he would have been entitled to change in control benefits totaling an aggregate of $1,812,323. These benefits are detailed below. The compensation committee believes it is important to provide these benefits in order to retain the services of Mr. Kim.

Pursuant to the employment agreement of Mr. Kim, if he terminates his employment following a Control Event we are required to provide continued payment of Mr. Kim's base salary for the twelve months following the termination of employment. Assuming Mr. Kim terminated his employment as of December 31, 2007 following a Control Event, Mr. Kim would be entitled to be paid $245,333 over the twelve month period following such termination in accordance with our regular payroll practices.

For purposes of Mr. Kim's employment agreement and option agreement, a Control Event is (a) a sale of substantially all of our assets to a natural person not currently affiliated, directly or indirectly, with us or to an entity in which at least 50% of the voting power is held by a person or persons who are not shareholders of us immediately prior to the consummation of such transaction (such natural person or entity, a Non-Affiliate), (b) a sale or transfer, by us or any of our shareholders, to a Non-Affiliate of shares of capital stock or other securities having at least 50% of our voting power following such sale, or (c) a consolidation, merger or other reorganization involving us in which the surviving corporation, whether or not us, is a Non-Affiliate, in each case in a single transaction or a series of related transactions, other than a public offering of such capital stock pursuant to a registration statement declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

For purposes of Mr. Kim's restricted stock agreement, Change in Control means the occurrence of any of the following: (i) any person (as such term is used in Sections 13(d) and 14(d) of the Exchange Act) becomes the beneficial owner (as defined in Rule 13d-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act), directly or indirectly, of stock of the Company representing more than fifty percent (50%) of the total combined voting power of our then-outstanding voting stock; or (ii) a transaction or series of related transactions in which the stockholders of the Company immediately before the transaction(s) do not retain immediately after the transaction(s) direct or indirect beneficial ownership of more than fifty percent (50%) of the total combined voting power of our outstanding voting securities or the entity to which our assets were transferred, as the case may be; or (iii) our liquidation or dissolution.

Board Member Independence

The Board of Directors has determined that, except for Mr. Hsieh, all of the members of the Board of Directors are independent as independence is defined in the Nasdaq Stock Market qualification standards. Mr. Hsieh is not considered independent because he is currently employed by the Company. Cogent is a controlled company under the Nasdaq Stock Market qualitative listing standards, and therefore it is entitled to exemptions from certain of the Nasdaq Stock Market qualitative listing standards. These requirements are generally intended to increase the likelihood that a Board of Directors will make decisions in the best interests of stockholders. Specifically, Cogent is not required to have a majority of its directors be independent or to have compensation, nominating and corporate governance committees comprised solely of independent directors.

Edgar Filing: Cogent, Inc. - Form 10-K/A

Cogent currently does not avail itself of the controlled company exemptions. However, Cogent may avail itself of the controlled company exemptions in the future.
