Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On July 31, 2014, Tesla Motors, Inc. (Tesla) entered into a material definitive agreement (the Agreement) with Panasonic Corporation (Panasonic) relating to the Gigafactory, a facility where Tesla intends to integrate battery cell and battery pack production in one location. Pursuant to the Agreement, Panasonic has committed to manufacture and supply lithium ion battery cells at the Gigafactory for use in Tesla products, and invest in the associated manufacturing equipment. Tesla has committed to prepare and provide the facilities required for Panasonic's activities at the Gigafactory, and will assemble the cells and components from other suppliers into battery modules and packs at the Gigafactory. Further details of implementing the parties' obligations will be set forth in additional agreements over the course of the Gigafactory development.

Tesla and Panasonic previously entered into a Supply Agreement in October 2011, which was subsequently amended in October 2013, for the supply of cells manufactured by Panasonic at its factories in Japan at long-term preferential prices through 2017 (the Supply Agreement). The Agreement further provides that the parties will amend the Supply Agreement to govern the purchases that Tesla will continue to make from Panasonic thereunder.

Panasonic is a stockholder of Tesla, having purchased $30.0 million of Tesla's common stock in a private placement transaction that closed in November 2010.
