Wells Fargo Board of Directors Issues Statement on ISS report

Extreme ISS voting recommendation fails to recognize substantial Board actions to address issues; issued without considering findings of Board's independent investigation

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7, 2017 The Board of Directors of Wells Fargo & Company (NYSE: WFC) issued the following statement regarding today's report on Wells Fargo by Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) in connection with the April 25, 2017 Annual Meeting of Stockholders:

The extreme and unprecedented ISS voting recommendation on directors fails to recognize the active engagement of the Board and the substantial actions it has already taken to strengthen oversight and increase accountability at all levels of Wells Fargo, including important improvements to corporate governance. The Board and management are working tirelessly to rebuild the trust of customers, employees and investors, and are making substantial progress in strengthening Wells Fargo.

The ISS report was also issued without taking into account findings of the Board's independent investigation, which was launched last September and will be made public shortly.

We strongly disagree with the unwarranted recommendation by ISS to vote against 12 of Wells Fargo's 15 directors and urge our shareholders to disregard ISS's director voting recommendations and judge for themselves the findings of the investigation and the strong actions the Board has already taken.

The Board has already taken numerous actions and supported management's steps to promote accountability, strengthen oversight, and hold to account those responsible for improper sales practices, including:
