PART I

ITEM 1 - Business.

The Company

MidSouth Bancorp, Inc. ("MidSouth") is a Louisiana corporation registered as a bank holding company under the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956. Its operations are conducted through, and its primary asset is, MidSouth Bank, N.A. (the "Bank"), a wholly-owned subsidiary. MidSouth is currently liquidating a second subsidiary, Financial Services of the South, Inc. (the "Finance Company"). MidSouth, the Bank and the Finance Company are referred to collectively herein as "the Company."

The Bank

The Bank is a national banking association domiciled in Lafayette, Louisiana. The Bank provides a broad range of commercial and retail banking services primarily to professional, commercial and industrial customers in its market area. These services include, but are not limited to, interest bearing and non-interest bearing checking accounts, investment accounts, credit card services, and loan products. The Bank is an U.S. government depository and is also a member of the Pulse network which provides its customers with automatic teller machine services through the GulfNet, Cirrus and Plus networks. Membership in the Community Cash Network provides MidSouth's customers with additional access throughout the Greater New Orleans area with no surcharge. The Bank operates at the twenty locations described below under "Item 2 - Properties."

Employees

As of December 31, 2003, the Bank employed 216 full-time equivalent employees and the Finance Company had no employees. MidSouth has no employees who are not also employees of the Bank. Through the Bank, employees receive employee benefits, which include an employee stock ownership plan, a 401-K plan and life, health and disability insurance plans. MidSouth considers the relationships of the Bank with their employees to be very good.

Competition

The Bank faces keen competition in its market area not only with other commercial banks, but also with savings and loan associations, credit unions, finance companies, mortgage companies, leasing companies, insurance companies, money market mutual funds and brokerage houses. Several of the banks in the Lafayette area are subsidiaries of holding companies or branches of banks having far greater resources than the Company.

Louisiana state banks may establish branch offices statewide, and national banks domiciled in Louisiana have the power to establish branches to the full extent that Louisiana banks may establish branches. Since 1989, Louisiana has allowed bank holding companies domiciled in any state of the United States to acquire Louisiana banks and bank holding companies, if the state in which the bank holding company is domiciled allows Louisiana banks and bank holding companies the same opportunities.

In 1994, the Interstate Banking and Branching Efficiency Act of 1994 (the "Interstate Act") was enacted. Among other things, the Interstate Act (i) allows bank holding companies to acquire a bank located in any state, subject to certain limitations that may be imposed by the state, (ii) allows banks to merge across state lines, and (iii) permits banks to establish branches outside their state of domicile if expressly permitted by the law of the state in which the branch is to be located. In 1995, the Louisiana legislature enacted legislation permitting out of state bank holding companies after June 1,

Edgar Filing: MIDSOUTH BANCORP INC - Form 10KSB

1997 to convert any banks owned in Louisiana into branches of out of state banks owned by such holding companies, subject to certain limitations.

Supervision and Regulation - Bank Holding Companies

General. As a bank holding company, MidSouth is subject to the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (the "Act") and is supervised by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the "Federal Reserve Board"). The Act requires MidSouth to file periodic reports with the Federal Reserve Board and subjects MidSouth to regulation and examination by the Federal Reserve Board. The Act also requires MidSouth to obtain the prior approval of the Federal Reserve Board for acquisitions of substantially all of the assets of any bank or bank holding company or more than 5% of the voting shares of any bank or bank holding company. The Act prohibits MidSouth from engaging in any business other than banking or bank-related activities specifically allowed by the Federal Reserve Board and from engaging in certain tie-in arrangements in connection with any extension of credit or provision of any property or services.

Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. Signed into law on July 30, 2002, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (the "Act") addresses many aspects of corporate governance and financial accounting and disclosure. Primarily, it provides a framework for the oversight of public company auditing and for insuring the independence of auditors and audit committees. Under the Act, audit committees are responsible for the appointment, compensation and oversight of the work of external and internal auditors. The Act also provides for enhanced and accelerated financial disclosures, establishes certification requirements for a company's chief executive and chief financial officers and imposes new restrictions on and accelerated reporting of certain insider trading activities. Significant penalties for fraud and other violations are included in the Act.

Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act. This financial services reform legislation provides for three basic changes: 1) repeal of certain provisions of the Glass Steagall Act to permit commercial banks to affiliate with investment banks, 2) modification of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 to permit companies that own commercial banks to engage in any type of financial activity, and 3) allows subsidiaries of banks to engage in a broad range of financial activities beyond those permitted for banks themselves. As a result, banks, securities firms, and insurance companies will be able to combine much more readily. The legislation also includes important provisions regarding privacy of customer information; increased access to the Federal Home Loan Bank System by community banks; and significant changes to the requirements of the Community Reinvestment Act.

Under provisions of the legislation, two new types of regulated entities are authorized to engage in a broad range of financial activities much more extensive than those of standard holding companies. A "financial holding company" can engage in all newly-authorized activities and is simply a bank holding company whose depository institutions are well-capitalized, well-managed, and has a CRA rating of "satisfactory" or better. A "financial subsidiary" is a direct subsidiary of a bank that satisfies the same conditions as a "financial holding company" plus several more. The "financial subsidiary" can engage in most of the newly-authorized activities, which are defined as securities, insurance, merchant banking/equity investment, "financial in nature," and "complementary" activities.

The legislation also defines the concept of "functional supervision", meaning similar activities should be regulated by the same regulator, with the Federal Reserve Board serving as an "umbrella" supervisory authority over bank and financial holding companies.

While this legislation created new opportunities for MidSouth to offer expanded services to its customer base in the future, MidSouth has not yet determined the nature of the expanded services or when the services will be offered.

Capital Adequacy Requirements. The Federal Reserve Board monitors the capital adequacy of bank holding companies through the use of a combination of risk-based capital guidelines and leverage ratios.

Risk-based capital requirements are intended to make regulatory capital more sensitive to the risk profile of a company's assets. Certain off-balance sheet items, such as letters of credit and unused lines of credit, are also assigned risk-weights and included in the risk-based capital calculations. The guidelines require a minimum ratio of total qualifying capital to total risk-weighted assets of 8.0%, of which 4.0% must be in the form of Tier 1 capital. At December 31, 2003, the Company's ratios of Tier 1 and total capital to risk-weighted assets were 12.82% and 13.78%, respectively. MidSouth's leverage ratio (Tier 1 capital to total average adjusted assets) was 8.85% at December 31, 2003. All three regulatory capital ratios for the Company exceeded regulatory minimums at December 31, 2003.

Supervision and Regulation - National Banks

General. As a national banking association, the Bank is supervised and regulated by the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (its primary regulatory authority), the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Insurance Deposit Corporation. Under Section 23A of the Federal Reserve Act, the Bank is restricted in extending credit to or making investments in MidSouth and other affiliates defined in that act. National banks are required by the National Bank Act to adhere to branch banking laws applicable to state banks in the states in which they are located and are limited as to powers, locations and other matters of applicable federal law.

Capital Adequacy Requirements. A national bank is subject to regulatory capital requirements administered by the federal banking agencies. Failure to meet minimum capital requirements can initiate certain mandatory, and possibly discretionary, actions by regulators that, if undertaken, could have a direct material effect on a bank's financial statements. Under capital adequacy guidelines and the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action, a bank must meet specific capital guidelines that involve quantitative measures of the bank's assets, liabilities, and certain off-balance-sheet items as calculated under regulatory accounting practices. As of December 31, 2003, the most recent notification from the FDIC categorized the Bank as "well capitalized" under the regulatory framework for prompt corrective action. To be categorized as "well capitalized," the Bank must maintain a minimum of total risk-based capital and Tier 1 capital to risk-weighted assets of 10% and 6%, respectively, and a minimum leverage ratio of 5%. All three regulatory capital ratios for the Bank exceeded these minimums at December 31, 2003.

Governmental Policies

The operations of financial institutions may be affected by legislative changes and by the policies of various regulatory authorities. In particular, bank holding companies and their subsidiaries are affected by the credit policies of the Federal Reserve Board. An important function of the Federal Reserve Board is to regulate the national supply of bank credit. Among the instruments of monetary policy used by the Federal Reserve Board to implement its objectives are open market operations in United States Government securities, changes in the discount rate on bank borrowings and changes in reserve requirements on bank deposits. These policies have significant effects on the overall growth and profitability of the loan, investment and deposit portfolios. The general effects of such policies upon future operations cannot be accurately predicted.

ITEM 2 - Properties.

The Bank leases its principal executive and administrative offices and principal banking facility in Lafayette, Louisiana under a twenty-year lease expiring December 31, 2011. The Bank has six other banking offices in Lafayette, Louisiana, three in New Iberia and one banking office in each of Breaux Bridge, Cecilia, Jeanerette, Opelousas, Morgan City, Jennings, Lake Charles, and Sulphur Louisiana. Thirteen of these offices are owned and five are leased. MidSouth also leases space for two limited service banking offices in Thibodaux and Houma, Louisiana.

ITEM 3 - Legal Proceedings.

The Bank has been named as a defendant in various legal actions arising from normal business activities in which damages of various amounts are claimed. While the amount, if any, of ultimate liability with respect to such matters cannot be determined, management believes, after consulting with legal counsel, that any such liability will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, results of operation, or cash flows.
