Employee FAQ – Stock Options
April 20, 2007

Q. What will happen to my stock options?

A. Vested options: If you have options which are currently vested, or will vest between now and the transaction closing, you can either exercise them at the current market price or wait until the transaction closes for a final option payment. If you hold your options until the close, you will automatically receive a final option payment based on the amount by which $60 exceeds your option price, multiplied by the number of options you have outstanding, less taxes.

Unvested stock options: Unvested stock options will vest upon closing of the transaction. At close, employees will automatically receive a final option payment. The final option payment will be based on the difference between your option price and $60, multiplied by the number of options you have outstanding, less taxes.

Q. Do the Net-Settled Options that show up in my Merrill Lynch account as Stock Appreciation Rights (SAR) get treated differently?

A. No. All stock options are treated the same way (see question above).

Q. How am I taxed for my stock option exercise or final option payment?

A. You are taxed at ordinary income rates. The taxation is the same for an option exercise or a final option payment at closing. To check your individual tax rates, log onto your Merrill Lynch account (www.benefits.ml.com) and click on “Individual Plan Information” which will list your current tax withholding rates.

Q. Do I have to accept my options before they are exercised or I receive my final option payment?

A. Yes. To accept any pending grants, log onto your Merrill Lynch account (www.benefits.ml.com) and click on the pending grants highlighted in the “alert” section of the main login page.

Q. Do I have to open my Merrill Lynch brokerage account before my options are exercised?

A. Yes. Instructions on how to open a Merrill Lynch account and create a User ID can be found on the Sallie Mae Intranet (http://salliemaecentral.com/legal/esop/pdfs/User%20ID%20Creation%20and%20Account%20Opening_JPEG_.pdf). If you have problems establishing your account, contact the Merrill Lynch call center at 1-877-SLM-ESOP.

Q. Can I buy or sell shares in the open market?

Yes. You can buy and sell SLM stock in the market at any time, as long as you are not subject to the trading window or are not in possession of material non-public information. If you are subject to the trading window, you will be notified when you are able to trade.

Q. What happens to shares that I already own in my brokerage account?

A. If you do not otherwise sell these shares before the transaction close, you will be required to go through the steps and procedures applicable to all shareholders in order to receive $60 per share after the closing. Amounts payable for shares in your brokerage account will be deposited into your brokerage account after the transaction close.

Q. What are the tax consequences of exercising options or receiving the final option payment?

A. Both transactions are taxable events and are taxed at ordinary income rates. Taxes are withheld for both transactions. If you receive a final option payment, taxes will be withheld and this income will flow through your paycheck and show up as income on your year-end W2. Option exercises require additional federal tax reporting which is detailed on the Sallie Mae Intranet at <http://salliemaecentral.com/humanres/benefits/stock/index.htm>.

Q. I have a portion of my 401(k) balance invested in the Sallie Mae Stock Fund. What happens to that investment?

A. At this time, employees are not required to make any changes to a 401(k) savings account, as we continue to be a publicly traded company until the transaction closes. The Sallie Mae Stock Fund continues to be an investment option in the 401(k) plan. At closing employees' 401(k) investments in the stock fund will be liquidated based on the $60 per share purchase price. The proceeds will be deposited in the 401(k) money market for you to re-designate.

Q. Can I make changes into or out of the Sallie Mae Stock fund in the 401(k) Plan?

A. Yes, provided that you are not subject to a trading window or are not in possession of material non-public information you can continue to buy and sell shares in the 401(k) Plan until the transaction closing.
