CVRD settles 2007 iron ore prices with Posco

Rio de Janeiro, December 27, 2006 Companhia Vale do Rio Doce (CVRD), the world's largest iron ore producer, has concluded the iron ore price negotiations for 2007 with Pohang Steel Corporation (Posco), the largest Korean steel maker. As an outcome of these negotiations, iron ore prices for Carajás (SFCJ) and Southern System (SSF) fines increased by 9.5% relatively to 2006.

CVRD reinforces its commitment with clients, investing a substantial amount of resources in increasing production capacity. Despite the sharp rise of investment costs, the Company has managed to increase its iron ore production by 52 million tons over the last couple of years, reaching a total output of approximately 263 million tons in 2006. Our production is expected to reach 300 million tons in 2007 and we will continue to invest to add new capacity of high quality iron ore to meet client needs in the near future.

This press release may contain statements that express management's expectations about future events or results rather than historical facts. These forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected in forward-looking statements, and CVRD cannot give assurance that such statements will prove correct. These risks and uncertainties include factors: relating to the Brazilian and Canadian economy and securities markets, which exhibit volatility and can be adversely affected by developments in other countries; relating to the iron ore and nickel business and its dependence on the global steel industry, which is cyclical in nature; and relating to the highly competitive industries in which CVRD operates. For additional information on factors that could cause CVRD's actual results to differ from expectations reflected in forward-looking statements, please see CVRD's reports filed with the Brazilian Comissão de Valores Mobiliários and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.
