RISK FACTORS

This investment involves a high degree of risk and you should purchase shares only if you can afford a complete loss of your investment. Consider carefully these risk factors and other information in this prospectus.

The potential increase in common shares due to the conversion, exercise or vesting of outstanding derivative securities may have a depressive effect upon the market value of the Company's shares.

Up to 15,793,032 shares of the Company's common stock are potentially issuable upon the conversion, exercise or vesting of outstanding convertible preferred stock, warrants, options and restricted stock awards ("derivative securities"). The shares of common stock potentially issuable upon conversion, exercise or vesting of derivative securities are substantial compared to the 24,906,160 shares of common stock currently outstanding.

Earnings per share relative to the Company's common stock, as and when generated, will be calculated assuming the issuance of all dilutive derivative securities. Earnings per share of common stock will be substantially diluted by the existence of these derivative securities regardless of whether they are converted, exercised or issued. This dilution of earnings per share could have a depressive effect upon the market value of the Company's common stock.

Table of Contents

The Company has generated only nominal income and it cannot guarantee future profitability.

The Company earned net income of $330,790 (unaudited) in the second quarter of 2006, $57,720 (unaudited) in the first quarter of 2006, $22,241 in 2003, $61,368 in 2002 and $192,398 in 2001 and incurred losses of $909,104 in 2005, $2,338,693 in 2004, $2,581,337 in 2000 and $2,998,919 in 1999. At June 30, 2006, the Company had an accumulated deficit of $13,580,530 (unaudited). Although the Company achieved nominal profitability in the first and second quarters of 2006, in 2003, 2002 and 2001, the Company cannot offer any assurance that it will be able to generate sustained or significant earnings.

The Company's stock price has been volatile and this volatility is likely to continue.

Historically, the market price of the Company's common stock has been volatile. The high and low prices for the years 2001 through 2005 and the first nine months of 2006 are set forth in the table below:

*Derma Sciences
Trading Range - Common Stock*

Year	Low	High
2001	$0.22	$0.80
2002	$0.35	$0.85
2003	$0.35	$2.30
2004	$0.43	$1.90
2005	$0.42	$0.78
2006(*)	$0.45	$0.97

(*) January 1 through September 30.

Events that may affect the Company's common stock price include:

- Quarter to quarter variations in its operating results;
- Changes in earnings estimates by securities analysts;
- Changes in interest rates or other general economic conditions;
- Changes in market conditions in the wound care and skin care industries;
- The introduction of new products either by the Company or by its competitors; and
- The loss of a major customer.

Table of Contents

Although all publicly traded securities are subject to price and volume fluctuations, it is likely that the Company's common stock will experience these fluctuations to a greater degree than the securities of more established and better capitalized organizations.

The Company has not paid, and is unlikely to pay in the near future, cash dividends on its securities.

The Company has never paid any cash dividends on its common or preferred stock and does not anticipate paying cash dividends in the foreseeable future. The payment of dividends by the Company will depend on its future earnings, financial condition and such other business and economic factors as the Company's management may consider relevant.

The Company's foreign operations are essential to its economic success and are subject to various unique risks.

The Company's future operations and earnings will depend to a large extent on the results of its operations in Canada and its ability to maintain a continuous supply of basic wound care products from its operations and suppliers in China. While the Company does not envision any adverse change to operations in Canada and China, adverse changes to these operations, as a result of political, governmental, regulatory, economic, exchange rates, labor, logistical or other factors, could have an adverse effect on the Company's future operating results.

The rate of reimbursement for the purchase of the Company's products by government and private insurance is subject to change.

Sales of several of the Company's wound care and specialty fastener products depend partly on the ability of its customers to obtain reimbursement for the cost of its products from government health administration agencies such as Medicare and Medicaid. Both government health administration agencies and private insurance firms continuously seek to reduce healthcare costs. These cost reduction efforts may adversely affect both the eligibility of the Company's products for reimbursement and the rate of reimbursement. Although management believes that reimbursement policies relative to the Company's products will remain stable for the foreseeable future, it can offer no assurance that the Company's products will continue to be eligible for reimbursement indefinitely or that the rate of reimbursement will not be reduced.

The Company's success may depend upon its ability to protect its patents and proprietary technology.

The Company owns patents, both in the United States and abroad, for several of its products, and relies upon the protection afforded by its patents and trade secrets to protect its technology. The Company's success may depend upon its ability to protect its intellectual property. However, the enforcement of intellectual property rights can be both expensive and time consuming. Therefore, the Company may not be able to devote the resources necessary to prevent infringement of its intellectual property. Also, the Company's competitors may develop or acquire substantially similar technologies without infringing the Company's patents or trade secrets. For these reasons, the Company cannot be certain that its patents and proprietary technology will provide it with a competitive advantage.

If members of the Company's management and their affiliates were to exercise all warrants and options held by them, and if substantially all of the restricted stock awards granted to members of management were to vest, members of management and their affiliates could acquire a majority of the voting stock of the Company.

The executive officers and directors of the Company, together with institutions with which they are affiliated, own substantial amounts of the Company's common stock, together with outstanding options and warrants to purchase the Company's common stock. In addition, the Company has adopted, and its shareholders have approved, a restricted stock plan pursuant to which the Company's outside directors and executive officers may be awarded up to 2,500,000 shares of restricted stock. Outside directors have been awarded to date 175,000 shares of restricted common stock that have not yet vested. Depending upon the warrants and options exercised by outside investors, if directors and affiliates were to exercise their options and warrants, and if additional shares of restricted stock are awarded to the Company's directors and executive officers and such awards vest, members of management and their affiliates could obtain a majority of the Company's voting stock. As a result, these officers, directors and affiliates of the Company would be in a position to significantly influence the strategic direction of the Company, the composition of its board of directors and the outcome of fundamental transactions requiring shareholder approval.

Government regulation plays a significant role in the Company's ability to acquire and market products.

Government regulation by the United States Food and Drug Administration and similar agencies in other countries is a significant factor in the development, manufacturing and marketing of many of the Company's products and in the Company's acquisition or licensing of new products. Complying with government regulations is often time consuming and expensive and may involve delays or actions adversely impacting the marketing and sale of the Company's current or future products.

Approximately half of the Company's products are manufactured by third party manufacturers.

Approximately one half of the Company's products are manufactured by third party manufacturers. One manufacturer produces advanced wound care products which account for about ten percent of the Company's sales. Each of the Company's other manufacturers produces products that individually account for less than ten percent of the Company's sales.

Edgar Filing: DERMA SCIENCES, INC. - Form S-3

Management considers the Company's relationships with its third party manufacturers to be excellent. Although there are several manufacturers potentially available for each of the Company's products, if a current manufacturer were unable or unwilling to continue to manufacture the Company's products, distribution and sales of the affected products could be delayed for the period necessary to secure a replacement.

Competitors could invent products superior to those of the Company and cause its products and technology to become obsolete.

The Company operates in an industry where technological developments occur at a rapid pace. The Company competes with a large number of established companies and institutions many of which have more capital, larger staffs and greater expertise than the Company. The companies with which the Company competes include Bristol Myers Squibb-Convatec, Smith & Nephew, Johnson & Johnson, 3M, Kendall, Hermitage, Medical Action, Cyprus, DeRoyal, Provon, Calgon Vestal-Steris, Chester Laboratories, Medicom and Medical Mart, together with a number of smaller companies. The Company's competitors currently manufacture and distribute a variety of products that are in many respects comparable to those of the Company. While management has no specific knowledge of products under development by the Company's competitors, it is possible that these competitors may develop technologies and products that are more effective than any the Company currently has. If this occurs, any of the Company's products and technology affected by these developments could become obsolete.

Although the Company is insured, any material product liability claims could adversely affect its business.

The Company sells over-the-counter products and medical devices and is exposed to the risk of lawsuits claiming alleged injury caused by its products. Among the grounds for potential claims against the Company are injuries due to alleged product inefficacy and injuries resulting from infection due to allegedly non-sterile products. Although the Company carries product liability insurance with limits of $1.0 million per occurrence and $2.0 million aggregate with $5.0 million in umbrella coverage, this insurance may not be adequate to reimburse the Company for all damages that it could suffer as a result of successful product liability claims. No material product liability claim has ever been made against the Company and management is not aware of any pending product liability claims. However, a successful material product liability suit could adversely affect the Company's business.

USE OF PROCEEDS

All of the net proceeds from the sale of the shares will go to the selling shareholders who offer and sell their shares. Accordingly, we will not receive any proceeds from the sale of the shares.

SELLING SHAREHOLDERS

On August 3, 2006, we privately sold to Comvita New Zealand Ltd. 2,000,000 shares of our common stock at $0.75 per share. During the period August 1, 1996 through May 12, 2006 we issued compensatory options to purchase common stock to our executive officers and outside directors (the "Optionees"). The per share exercise prices of these options range from $0.37 to $10.63 and none of the options have been exercised. The term "selling shareholder" refers both to Comvita New Zealand Ltd. and the Optionees. At the time of acquisition of the common stock and options, no selling shareholder had any agreements or understandings, directly or indirectly, with any person relative to distribution of these securities.

We have agreed with Comvita New Zealand Ltd. to register the 2,000,000 shares of our common stock that it purchased on August 3, 2006. We also agreed with Comvita New Zealand Ltd. to use our best efforts to keep the registration statement effective until the earlier of three years from the date the registration statement becomes effective or until the shares may be publicly sold in accordance with SEC rules. There are no agreements with any of the other selling shareholders relative to registration of the shares. Our registration of the shares does not necessarily mean that the selling shareholders will sell all or any of the shares.

The following table presents information regarding the selling shareholders' ownership of our common stock as of September 30, 2006. We determine each selling shareholder's pre-offering ownership by assuming that all exercisable options and warrants held by the selling shareholder have been exercised and all shares of convertible preferred stock held by the selling shareholder have been converted into common stock. We determine each selling shareholder's post-offering ownership by assuming that all of the shares (and only the shares) offered by this registration statement are sold. Unless otherwise noted, no selling shareholder has had any position, office or other material relationship with Derma Sciences, or any of its affiliates, during the past three years other than as an owner of our securities:

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

The selling shareholders may offer their shares of our common stock at various times in one or more of the following transactions:

In the over-the-counter market;

On the OTC Bulletin Board, the Boston Stock Exchange or any national securities exchange or market or securities trading medium on which our common stock may be listed at the time of sale;

Through block trades in which the broker or dealer so engaged will attempt to sell the shares as agent, but may position and resell a portion of the block as principal to facilitate the transaction;

Through purchases by a broker or dealer as principal and resale by such broker or dealer for its account pursuant to this prospectus;

Table of Contents

In ordinary brokerage transactions and transactions in which the broker solicits purchasers;
Through options, swaps or derivatives;
In privately negotiated transactions;
In transactions to cover short sales;
Through any other legally permissible method; and
Through a combination of any of the previous methods of sale.

The selling shareholders may sell their shares of our common stock directly to purchasers or may use brokers, dealers, underwriters or agents to sell the shares. In effecting sales, brokers and dealers engaged by the selling shareholders may arrange for other brokers or dealers to participate. Brokers or dealers may receive commissions, discounts or concessions from a selling shareholder or, if any broker-dealer acts as agent for the purchaser of the shares, from a purchaser in amounts to be negotiated. This compensation may, but is not expected to, exceed that which is customary for the types of transactions involved. Broker-dealers may agree with a selling shareholder to sell a specified number of shares at a stipulated price per share. If the broker-dealer is unable to sell the shares as agent for a selling shareholder, it may purchase as principal any unsold shares at the price required to fulfill the broker-dealer's commitment to the selling shareholder. Broker-dealers who acquire shares as principal may thereafter resell such shares from time to time in transactions in the over-the-counter market or otherwise at market prices and terms then prevailing or in negotiated transactions.

The selling shareholders and any broker-dealers or agents that participate with the selling shareholders in sales of our common stock may be deemed to be underwriters within the meaning of the Securities Act in connection with such sales. In this event, any commissions received by the broker-dealers or agents and any profit on the resale of the shares purchased by them may be deemed to be underwriting commissions or discounts under the Securities Act.

From time to time the selling shareholders may engage in puts and calls and other hedging transactions in our securities and may sell and deliver their shares of our common stock in connection with these transactions or in settlement of securities loans. In addition, selling shareholders may pledge their shares pursuant to the margin provisions of customer agreements with their broker-dealers. Upon delivery of these shares or upon default by a selling shareholder, the broker-dealer or financial institution may offer and sell the shareholder's pledged shares.

LEGAL MATTERS

Item 17. Undertakings.

The undersigned Registrant undertakes:

(I) To file, during any period in which offers or sales are being made, a post-effective amendment to this registration statement:

(i) To include any prospectus required by Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act of 1933;

(ii) To reflect in the prospectus any facts or events arising after the effective date of the registration statement (or the most recent post-effective amendment thereof) which, individually or in the aggregate, represent a fundamental change in the information set forth in the registration statement; notwithstanding the foregoing, any increase or decrease in volume of securities offered (if the total dollar value of the securities offered would not exceed that which was registered) and any deviation from the low or high end of the estimated maximum offering range may be reflected in the form of prospectus filed with the Commission pursuant to Rule 424(b) if, in the aggregate, the changes in volume and price represent no more than a 20 percent change in the maximum aggregate offering price set forth in the Calculation of Registration Fee table in the effective registration statement; and

(iii) To include any material information with respect to the plan of distribution not previously disclosed in the registration statement or any material change to such information in the registration statement; provided, however, that paragraphs (l)(i) and (l)(ii) do not apply if the registration statement is on Form S-3 or Form S-8, and the information required to be included in a post-effective amendment by those paragraphs is contained in periodic reports filed by the registrant pursuant to Section 13 or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 that are incorporated by reference in the registration statement.

(2) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

(3) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remain unsold at the termination of the offering.

(4) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, That, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933 each filing of the Registrant's annual report pursuant to Section 13(a) or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 that is incorporated by reference in the registration statement shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the Registrant pursuant to the provisions described under Item 15 above, or otherwise, the Registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the Registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the Registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the Registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.
