PROSPECTUS SUPPLEMENT

(To Prospectus dated November 2, 2012)

Up to $309,848,950
Shares of Common Stock

On November 2, 2012, our Board of Directors declared a special dividend in the amount of $6.84 per share of common stock, or an aggregate of approximately $309.8 million, in connection with our plan to qualify as a real estate investment trust (REIT) for federal income tax purposes effective as of January 1, 2013. The special dividend is payable to stockholders of record as of the close of business on November 13, 2012, and we expect to pay the special dividend on December 21, 2012. Stockholders have the option to elect to receive the special dividend in cash or shares of common stock, as described in more detail in this prospectus supplement. However, the total amount of cash payable to stockholders will be limited to a maximum of 20% of the total value of the special dividend (other than cash payable in lieu of fractional shares). If the total amount of cash elected by our stockholders exceeds 20% of the total value of the special dividend, then the available cash will be prorated among those stockholders who elect to receive cash, as described in more detail in this prospectus supplement.

Shares of our common stock, $.01 par value, are listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol RHP.

The value per share of common stock for purposes of the special dividend will be the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due. The total number of shares of common stock to be issued in the special dividend will depend on such average of the closing prices per share and the total amount of cash payable to stockholders as part of the special dividend. If the total amount of cash payable as part of the special dividend is 20% of the total value of the special dividend (other than cash payable in lieu of fractional shares), the total number of shares of common stock to be issued in the special dividend will be determined by dividing the aggregate value of the special dividend less the total amount of cash payable as part of the special dividend, by such average of the closing prices per share. Based on a price of $32.52 per share (the closing price per share on November 12, 2012) and assuming that 20% of the total value of the special dividend is payable in cash, we estimate that approximately 7,622,361 shares of common stock will be issued in the special dividend.

If you are a stockholder of record, to make your election, complete and sign the enclosed election form and deliver it to Computershare, the election agent for the special dividend, no later than 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. You may change your election by delivering a new, properly completed election form bearing a later date than your previously submitted election form to the election agent by 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. The election form should be completed only by holders of record as of November 13, 2012. If your shares are held in the name of a bank, broker, or nominee, please promptly inform such bank, broker or nominee of your election. If you do not timely return a properly completed election form, you will receive your special dividend in shares of common stock (and cash in lieu of any fractional share), subject to the ownership limitations of our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

Before making your election, you should carefully consider each of the factors described under Risk Factors beginning on page S-4 of this prospectus supplement and the risk factors described in our periodic reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Neither the Securities and Exchange Commission nor any state securities commission or other regulatory body has approved or disapproved of these securities or passed upon the adequacy or accuracy of this prospectus supplement or the accompanying prospectus. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense.

Ryman Hospitality Properties, Inc.

Ryman Hospitality Properties, Inc., successor by merger with Gaylord Entertainment Company, a leading hospitality and entertainment company based in Nashville Tennessee, is in the process of restructuring its assets and operations in order to elect to be taxed as a real estate investment trust (REIT) for federal income tax purposes effective as of January 1, 2013, at which time, we intend to specialize in group-oriented, destination hotel assets in urban and resort markets. Our owned assets include a network of four upscale, meetings-focused resorts totaling 7,795 rooms that are managed by world-class lodging operator Marriott International, Inc., or Marriott, under the Gaylord Hotels brand. Other owned assets, managed or to be managed prior to the REIT election by Marriott, include Gaylord Springs Golf Links, the Wildhorse Saloon, the General Jackson Showboat and the Radisson Hotel at Opryland, a 303-room overflow hotel adjacent to Gaylord Opryland. We also own and operate media and entertainment assets including the Grand Ole Opry, the legendary weekly showcase of country music's finest performers for nearly 90 years; the Ryman Auditorium, the storied former home of the Grand Ole Opry located in downtown Nashville; and WSM-AM, the Opry's radio home.

As part of the plan to restructure our business operations to facilitate our qualification as a REIT for federal income tax purposes, effective at 12:01 a.m. on October 1, 2012, Gaylord merged with and into Ryman with Ryman surviving the merger and succeeding to the business of Gaylord. Gaylord was originally incorporated in 1956 and was reorganized in connection with a 1997 corporate restructuring.

To be eligible to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective as of January 1, 2013, we must distribute to our stockholders, on or before December 31, 2013, our current and accumulated earnings and profits, or E&P, generated through December 31, 2012. The special dividend is intended to fully distribute our current and accumulated E&P. Our Board of Directors reserves the right not to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes, even after we distribute our current and accumulated E&P, if it determines that, based on developments that currently cannot be foreseen, such as a change in tax law, it is in the best interests of our stockholders not to make the election.

Our principal executive offices are located at One Gaylord Drive, Nashville, Tennessee 37214, and our telephone number is (615) 316-6000. We maintain a corporate website at www.rymanhp.com. The reference to our website does not constitute incorporation by reference into this prospectus supplement of any of the information contained on our website.

The Special Dividend

On November 2, 2012, our Board of Directors declared a special dividend in the amount of $6.84 per share of common stock, or an aggregate of approximately $309.8 million, in connection with our plan to qualify as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective as of January 1, 2013. The special dividend is payable to stockholders of record as of the close of business on November 13, 2012, and we expect to pay the special dividend on December 21, 2012. Stockholders have the option to elect to receive the special dividend in cash or shares of common stock. However, the total amount of cash payable to stockholders will be limited to a maximum of 20% of the total value of the special dividend (other than cash payable in lieu of fractional shares). If the total amount of cash elected by our stockholders exceeds 20% of the total value of the special dividend, then the available cash will be prorated among those stockholders who elect to receive cash. The number of shares of common stock that a stockholder may receive in the special dividend may be limited by the ownership limitations of our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, which are intended to allow us to comply with and have maximum business flexibility under certain federal communications laws, including the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and for us to qualify as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. We have received a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service that the special dividend will be a taxable distribution to our stockholders for federal income tax purposes, without regard to the form of payment.

The Election

Stockholders entitled to the special dividend have the option to elect to receive the special dividend in the form of cash or shares of common stock.

Cash Election. We will pay up to 20% of the total value of the special dividend, or approximately $62.0 million (other than cash payable in lieu of fractional shares), in cash to stockholders who elect to receive the special dividend in cash. If you elect to receive your special dividend in cash and the total amount of cash payments to all stockholders who elect to be paid in cash exceeds 20% of the total value of the special dividend, you will receive a portion (but not less than 20%) in cash, and the remaining portion in shares of common stock. The number of shares of common stock that you will receive will be determined by dividing the value of your special dividend not paid in cash by the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due.

Common Stock Election. If you elect to receive the special dividend in the form of shares of common stock, you will receive a whole number of shares, plus cash in lieu of any fractional share. The number of shares you receive will be determined by dividing the value of your special dividend by the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due.

Completed election forms must be delivered to Computershare, the election agent for the special dividend, no later than 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. You may change your election by delivering a new, properly completed election form bearing a later date than your previously submitted election form to the election agent by 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. If you do not timely return a properly completed election form, you will receive your special dividend in shares of common stock (and cash in lieu of any fractional share), subject to the ownership limitations of our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

Election Procedure – Stockholders of Record

If you hold shares of common stock of record, please complete and sign the election form and return it to Computershare, the election agent, in the enclosed postage-paid envelope as soon as possible. To be effective, Computershare must receive your election no later than 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. You may change your election by delivering a new, properly completed election form bearing a later date than your previously submitted election form to the election agent by 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012.

If you are a stockholder of record and have any questions about completing or submitting the election form, or need a new election form, please call Computershare at 1-877-581-5548.

RISK FACTORS

Electing to receive shares of common stock in connection with the special dividend involves risks. You should carefully consider the risks described below and under the caption "Risk Factors" in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2011 and our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2012, which are incorporated by reference into this prospectus supplement. You should also consider the other risks and uncertainties discussed elsewhere in this prospectus supplement, the accompanying prospectus, and the documents incorporated by reference herein and therein.

The special dividend will be a taxable distribution to stockholders for federal income tax purposes, without regard to the form of payment.

We have received a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, or the IRS, that the special dividend will be a taxable distribution to stockholders without regard to the form of payment. Therefore, the sum of the value of the shares of common stock and cash that a stockholder receives in the special dividend must be included in a U.S. stockholder's gross income or a non-U.S. stockholder's ordinary income for federal income tax purposes to the extent of such stockholder's share of our current and accumulated E&P. Even if a stockholder elects to receive the special dividend in cash, the amount of cash received in the special dividend may not be sufficient to cover the federal income tax that may be due on such stockholder's portion of the special dividend.

If you elect to receive the special dividend in cash, your relative percentage ownership in our outstanding common stock will decrease, and at this time, we cannot determine the extent to which your percentage ownership will decrease if a cash election is made.

If you elect to receive the special dividend in cash, your relative percentage ownership in our outstanding common stock will decrease compared to stockholders who elect to receive the special dividend in shares of common stock. The total number of shares of common stock to be issued in the special dividend will depend on the total amount of cash payable as part of the special dividend and the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due. Therefore, at this time we cannot determine the extent to which a stockholder's percentage ownership will decrease if a cash election is made.

There are uncertainties relating to the estimate of our current and accumulated E&P generated through December 31, 2012.

To be eligible to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective January 1, 2013, we must distribute to our stockholders, on or before December 31, 2013, our current and accumulated E&P generated through December 31, 2012. Our failure to distribute our current and accumulated E&P could result in our disqualification for taxation as a REIT. The amount of our current and accumulated E&P is a complex factual and legal determination. We may have had less than complete information at the time we estimated our E&P or may have interpreted the applicable law differently from the IRS. We currently believe and intend that the special dividend will satisfy the requirements relating to the distribution of our current and accumulated E&P. There are, however, substantial uncertainties relating to the computation of our current and accumulated E&P, including the possibility that the IRS could, in auditing tax years through 2012, successfully assert that our taxable income should be increased, which could increase our current and accumulated E&P. Thus, we may fail to satisfy the requirement that we distribute all of our current and accumulated E&P by the close of our first taxable year as a REIT. Moreover, although there are procedures available to cure a failure to distribute all of our current and accumulated E&P, we cannot now determine whether we will be able to take advantage of them or the economic impact to us of doing so.

In the event of developments that currently cannot be foreseen, such as changes in tax law, our Board of Directors may determine not to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective January 1, 2013, even after we pay the special dividend.

Our Board of Directors reserves the right not to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes, even after we pay the special dividend, if it determines that, based on developments that currently cannot be foreseen, such as a change in tax law, it is in the best interests of our stockholders not to make the election.

THE SPECIAL DIVIDEND

To be eligible to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective January 1, 2013, we must distribute to our stockholders, on or before December 31, 2013, our current and accumulated earnings and profits, or our E&P, generated through December 31, 2012. To satisfy this requirement, on November 2, 2012, our Board of Directors declared a special dividend in the amount of $6.84 per share of common stock, or an aggregate of approximately $309.8 million, payable to stockholders of record as of the close of business on November 13, 2012. We expect to pay this special dividend on December 21, 2012. We currently estimate that the total value of the special dividend will be sufficient to fully distribute our current and accumulated E&P, and we expect that a portion of the value of the special dividend will exceed our current and accumulated E&P. We have received a ruling from the IRS that the special dividend will be a taxable distribution to our stockholders for federal income tax purposes, without regard to the form of payment.

Stockholders have the option to elect to receive the special dividend in cash or shares of common stock. However, the total amount of cash payable to stockholders will be limited to a maximum of 20% of the total value of the special dividend, or approximately $62.0 million. Any cash paid in lieu of fractional shares will not be counted against this 20% limitation. If the total amount of cash elected by our stockholders exceeds 20% of the total value of the special dividend, then the available cash will be prorated among those stockholders who elect to receive cash. As a result, if you elect to be paid the special dividend in cash and the total amount of cash payments to all stockholders who elect to be paid cash exceeds 20% of the total value of the special dividend, you will not receive your entire special dividend in the form of cash. Instead, you will receive a portion, but not less than 20%, in cash and the remaining portion in shares of common stock. The number of shares of common stock that you will receive will be determined by dividing the value of your special dividend not paid in cash by the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due.

The total number of shares of common stock to be issued in the special dividend will depend on the total amount of cash payable as part of the special dividend and the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due. If the total amount of cash payable as part of the special dividend exceeds 20% of the total value of the special dividend (other than cash payable in lieu of fractional shares), the total number of shares of common stock to be issued in the special dividend will be determined by dividing the aggregate value of the special dividend less the total amount of cash payable as part of the special dividend, by the average of the closing prices per share of our common stock on the New York Stock Exchange for the three trading days following December 7, 2012, the date that election forms are due. Based on a price of $32.52 per share of common stock (the closing price per share on November 12, 2012) and assuming that 20% of the total value of the special dividend is payable in cash, we estimate that approximately 7,622,361 shares of common stock will be issued in the special dividend, or approximately 0.1683 share for each share of common stock outstanding on the record date. To satisfy the requirement of the NYSE Listed Company Manual that a listed company obtain prior approval of its stockholders if such company issues a number of shares that is equal to or exceeds 20% of the number of that company's outstanding shares of common stock, our stockholders approved the issuance of up to 34 million shares of common stock at a special meeting of stockholders held on September 25, 2012. The number of shares of common stock actually issued in the special dividend may be less than 20% of the number of outstanding shares of common stock, and in no event will the special dividend result in the issuance of a number of shares of common stock that exceeds the number of shares of common stock then available for issuance (i.e., the number of shares authorized for issuance by our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, less the number of shares outstanding and those reserved for issuance).

We intend to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective January 1, 2013. However, our Board of Directors reserves the right not to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes effective on such date or at all, even after we distribute our current and accumulated E&P, if it determines that, based on developments that currently cannot be foreseen, such as a change in tax law, it is in the best interests of our stockholders not to make the election.

THE ELECTION

Stockholders who are entitled to the special dividend have the option to elect to receive the special dividend in cash or shares of common stock. We have enclosed an election form with this prospectus supplement so that you can inform us whether you want to receive your special dividend in cash or shares of common stock. If you do not timely return a properly completed election form, you will receive your special dividend in shares of common stock (and cash in lieu of any fractional share), subject to the ownership limitations of our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

All shares of common stock issued in connection with the special dividend will be issued in book-entry form. Cash will be paid in lieu of any fractional share. On or about the payment date, our transfer agent, Computershare, will issue and mail to each of our stockholders of record that is a recipient of shares of common stock in the special dividend a statement listing the number of shares of common stock credited to such stockholder's book-entry account and a payment check or direct deposit for any cash to which such stockholder is entitled (including, if applicable, cash in lieu of any fractional share) in the special dividend. All cash payments to which a stockholder is entitled in the special dividend will be rounded to the nearest penny.

Election Procedure Stockholders of Record

If you hold shares of common stock of record, please complete and sign the election form and return it to Computershare, the election agent, in the enclosed postage-paid envelope as soon as possible. To be effective, Computershare must receive your election no later than 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. You may change your election by delivering a new, properly completed election form bearing a later date than your previously submitted election form to the election agent by 5:00 p.m. eastern time on December 7, 2012. The method of delivery of the election form is at the option and risk of the stockholder making the election. The delivery will be deemed to be made only when the election form is actually received by Computershare. The submission of an election form with respect to the special dividend will constitute the electing stockholder's representation and warranty that such stockholder has full power and authority to make such election.

We will resolve in our sole discretion any question as to the validity, form, eligibility (including time of receipt) and acceptance by us of any election form for the special dividend, and our decision regarding any such questions will be final and binding. We reserve the absolute right to reject, in our sole discretion, any and all election forms that we decide are not in proper form, not received by the election deadline, ineligible or otherwise invalid or the acceptance of which may, in the opinion of our counsel, be unlawful. We also reserve the absolute right to waive any defect or irregularity in the election form submitted by any particular stockholder, whether or not similar defects or irregularities are waived for other stockholders. No valid election will be deemed to have been made until all defects or irregularities have been cured or waived to our satisfaction. Neither we nor the election agent nor any other person will be under any duty to give notification of any defects or irregularities in election forms or incur any liability for failure to give any such notification. Our interpretation of the terms and conditions of the special dividend will be final and binding.

Special Note Regarding Holders of Certificates of Gaylord Common Stock

Effective October 1, 2012, Gaylord merged with and into its wholly-owned subsidiary, Ryman, as part of our plan to restructure our business operations to facilitate our qualification as a REIT for federal income tax purposes. If you hold certificates of Gaylord, the special dividend and any future dividends or distributions declared by our Board of Directors will be held for you by our transfer agent in a special account until you have submitted such certificates to our transfer agent in exchange for shares of Ryman common stock. For assistance with the exchange of Gaylord certificates or to request a letter of transmittal, please contact our transfer agent, Computershare, at 1-800-546-5141.

DESCRIPTION OF COMMON STOCK

Our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation authorizes us to issue up to 500,000,000 shares of capital stock, consisting of 400,000,000 shares of common stock, $0.01 par value, and 100,000,000 shares of preferred stock, $.01 par value, of which 45,299,554 and no shares were outstanding as of November 13, 2012, respectively. For more information concerning the material terms of the shares of common stock and undesignated preferred stock, see Exhibit 99.1 to the Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the Commission on November 2, 2012, which is incorporated by reference herein. The summary contained therein also describes certain restrictions on ownership and transfer set forth in our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, which are intended to allow us to comply with and have maximum business flexibility under certain federal communications laws, including the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and for us to qualify as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. All shares of common stock to be issued pursuant to this prospectus supplement and the accompanying prospectus have been duly authorized and, when issued, will be fully paid and non-assessable.

EFFECT OF OWNERSHIP LIMITATION

Our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation provides that, subject to certain exceptions, no person may beneficially own, or be deemed to own by virtue of the attribution provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, more than 9.8% in value or in number of shares, whichever is more restrictive, of the outstanding shares of our capital stock, or any class or series of our capital stock. In addition, our Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation permits us to restrict the ownership or proposed ownership of shares of common stock if such ownership or proposed ownership, or the exercise of any rights of ownership with respect to such ownership, by any person could result in any inconsistency with, or violation of, certain federal communications laws, including the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. These ownership limitations will apply to the special dividend. If your receipt of shares of common stock in connection with the special dividend would cause you to exceed the applicable ownership limitation, you will receive cash in lieu of shares of common stock to the extent required to ensure that your ownership remains within these ownership limitations.

CERTAIN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES

The following discussion is a summary of certain federal income tax consequences of the special dividend. This discussion is based upon the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the Code, Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder, administrative pronouncements and judicial decisions as of the date of this prospectus supplement, all of which are subject to change or differing interpretations at any time, possibly with retroactive effect.

This discussion does not address all potential tax consequences that may be relevant to a particular stockholder in light of its particular circumstances. Further, this discussion does not address holders of common stock who are subject to special treatment under federal income tax laws, including: (i) tax-exempt organizations; (ii) S corporations and other pass-through entities and owners thereof; (iii) entities taxable as a partnership for federal income tax purposes and owners thereof; (iv) insurance companies and other financial institutions; (v) mutual funds; (vi) dealers in stocks and securities; (vii) traders or investors in common stock who elect the mark-to-market method of accounting for such stock; (viii) stockholders who received common stock from the exercise of employee stock options or otherwise as compensation; (ix) stockholders who hold common stock in a tax-qualified retirement plan, individual retirement account or other qualified savings account; (x) stockholders who hold common stock as part of a hedge, straddle, or a constructive sale or conversion transaction or other risk reduction or integrated investment transaction; and (xi) certain U.S. expatriates. This discussion assumes that holders of common stock hold such stock as a capital asset, i.e., property generally held for investment. This discussion also does not address the effect of any state, local or foreign tax laws that may apply or the application of the federal estate and gift tax or the alternative minimum tax.

For purposes of the following discussion, a U.S. stockholder is a holder of common stock who, for federal income tax purposes, is:

a citizen or resident of the United States;

a corporation created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States, or any state thereof, or the District of Columbia;

an estate, the income of which is includible in gross income for federal income tax purposes regardless of its source; or a trust if a U.S. court is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of such trust and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

If a partnership, including for this purpose any entity that is treated as a partnership for federal income tax purposes, holds common stock, the tax treatment of a partner in the partnership will generally depend upon the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. A stockholder that is a partnership and the partners in such partnership should consult their tax advisors about the federal income tax consequences of the special dividend.

Holders of common stock should consult their tax advisors regarding the application of the federal income tax laws to their particular situations as well as the applicability of any federal estate and gift, state, local or foreign tax laws to which they may be subject.

The Special Dividend Generally

The special dividend is intended to meet the requirement, in connection with our planned election to qualify for taxation as a REIT effective as of January 1, 2013, that we distribute to our stockholders all of our current and accumulated E&P generated through December 31, 2012.

Taxation of U.S. Stockholders

We have received a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, or the IRS, that the special dividend will be a taxable distribution. Accordingly, each U.S. stockholder must include the sum of the value of the shares of common stock and the amount of cash received, if any, in its gross income as dividend income to the extent of such stockholder's share of our current and accumulated E&P. For this purpose, the shares received are valued at their fair market value on the payment date of the special dividend. A U.S. stockholder that receives shares of common stock pursuant to the special dividend will have a tax basis in such stock equal to the fair market value of such stock on the payment date of the special dividend, and the U.S. stockholder's holding period in such stock would begin on the day following such date.

We expect that a portion of the special dividend will exceed our current and accumulated E&P. Any such amounts would first be treated as a tax-free return of capital to the extent of the U.S. stockholder's tax basis in its shares of common stock and would thereafter be treated as a capital gain. The determination of E&P is complex and depends on facts with respect to which we may not have complete information as well as the application of law which is subject to differing interpretations. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that the IRS will agree with our determination of the amount of our current and accumulated E&P or the portion of the special dividend that is taxable as a dividend.

The maximum tax rate available to non-corporate U.S. stockholders for qualified dividend income is currently 15%. This rate is unavailable unless the stock on which an otherwise qualifying dividend is paid has been held for more than 60 days during the 120-day period beginning 60 days before the date on which the shares become ex-dividend. For purposes of calculating this 60-day period, any period in which the holder has an option to sell, is under a contractual obligation to sell, has made and not closed a short sale of, or has granted certain options to buy substantially identical stock or securities, or holds one or more other positions in substantially similar or related property that diminishes the risk of loss from holding common stock will not be counted toward satisfying the required holding period. Assuming that these holding period requirements are met, the special dividend should qualify for the maximum 15% tax rate available to non-corporate U.S. stockholders.

For some U.S. stockholders, the special dividend may be an extraordinary dividend. An extraordinary dividend is a dividend that is equal to at least 10% of a stockholder's adjusted tax basis in its shares of common stock or, alternatively, if an election is made, is equal to at least 10% of the fair market value of that stock based on the stock's trading price on the day before the ex-dividend date. A non-corporate U.S. stockholder that receives an extraordinary dividend and later sells its underlying shares at a loss will be treated as realizing a long-term capital loss, regardless of its holding period in its shares, to the extent of the extraordinary dividend. Corporate U.S. stockholders should consider the possible effects of section 1059 of the Code, which reduces a corporate holder's tax basis in its shares, but not below zero, by the non-taxed portion of an extraordinary dividend, where the holder has not held such shares for more than two years before the dividend announcement date.

Taxation of Non-U.S. Stockholders

A non-U.S. stockholder will treat any cash and the fair market value of common stock received in the special dividend as ordinary income to the extent of such stockholder's share of our current and accumulated E&P. A non-U.S. stockholder is any person other than a U.S. stockholder or a partnership.

Table of Contents

For non-U.S. stockholders whose receipt of the special dividend is not effectively connected with the conduct of a U.S. trade or business of the non-U.S. stockholder, the amount received by such holder in the special dividend will be subject to U.S. withholding tax at the rate of 30%, unless reduced or eliminated by treaty and the non-U.S. stockholder provides appropriate documentation regarding its eligibility for treaty benefits. To the extent that any cash payable to a non-U.S. stockholder in the special dividend is insufficient to satisfy the required withholding, we or our withholding agent will collect the amount required to be withheld by reducing to cash for remittance to the IRS a sufficient number of shares of common stock that the non-U.S. stockholder would otherwise receive in the special dividend, and the non-U.S. stockholder may bear brokerage or other costs for this withholding procedure. If withholding is applied to any portion of the special dividend that represents a return of capital or capital gain, rather than a distribution out of our current and accumulated E&P, the non-U.S. stockholder must first reduce its tax basis in its shares by such portion and treat any excess as capital gain (which gain generally will not be subject to federal income tax unless it is effectively connected with the conduct of a U.S. trade or business of the non-U.S. stockholder) and may file for a refund from the IRS for the amount withheld in excess of its actual tax liability.

In general, non-U.S. stockholders will not be considered to be engaged in a U.S. trade or business solely as a result of owning common stock. In cases where the amount received in the special dividend is, or is treated as, effectively connected with the non-U.S. stockholder's conduct of a U.S. trade or business, the non-U.S. stockholder generally will be subject to federal income tax at graduated rates, in the same manner as U.S. stockholders are taxed with respect to such amount, and the income may also be subject to the 30% branch profits tax in the case of a non-U.S. corporate stockholder. Certain certification and disclosure requirements must be satisfied for the stockholder to be exempt from withholding under the effectively connected income exemption.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

This prospectus supplement relates to the issuance by us of shares of common stock having an aggregate market value up to $309.8 million in connection with the special dividend. We will not receive any proceeds from this issuance of shares of common stock to our stockholders. We will apply to list these additional shares on the New York Stock Exchange. All shares of common stock issued in connection with the special dividend will be issued in book-entry form. All costs, expenses and fees in connection with the registration of these shares of common stock will be borne by us.

Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements include, among other things, the following risks and uncertainties: those associated with economic conditions affecting the hospitality business generally; our ability to elect and qualify for REIT status, and the timing and effect(s) of that election; our ability to remain qualified as a REIT; the form, timing and amount of the special distribution of our accumulated earnings and profits in connection with the REIT conversion; our third party hotel manager's ability to profitably operate our hotel properties; operating costs and business disruption relating to the management transition and the REIT conversion may be greater than expected; and our ability to realize cost savings and revenue enhancements from the Marriott management agreements and the REIT conversion.

Additional factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, those described in the sections entitled Risk Factors of this prospectus and any applicable prospectus supplement and in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2011 and our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2012, as well as the risks described in our other filings with the Commission that we incorporate by reference into this prospectus and any applicable prospectus supplement.
