Dear Shareholder,

In the 12 months ended October 31, 2018, ongoing strength in corporate profits drove the equity market higher, while rising interest rates constrained bond returns. Though the market s appetite for risk remained healthy, risk-taking was tempered somewhat, as shorter-term, higher-quality securities led the bond market, and U.S. equities outperformed most international stock markets.

In international markets, the rising value of the U.S. dollar limited U.S. investors returns for the reporting period. When the U.S. dollar appreciates relative to foreign currencies, the value of international investments declines in U.S. dollar terms. Volatility rose in emerging market stocks, which are relatively sensitive to changes in the U.S. dollar. U.S.-China trade relations and debt concerns adversely affected the Chinese stock market, while Turkey and Argentina became embroiled in currency crises, largely due to hyperinflation in both countries. An economic slowdown in Europe led to negative performance for European equities.

In fixed income markets, short-term U.S. Treasury interest rates rose the fastest, while longer-term rates slightly increased. This led to a negative return for long-term U.S. Treasuries and a substantial flattening of the yield curve. Many investors are concerned with the flattening yield curve as a harbinger of recession. However, given the extraordinary monetary measures in the last decade, we believe a more accurate barometer for the economy is the returns along the risk spectrums in stock and bond markets. Although the fundamentals in credit markets remained relatively solid, investment-grade bonds declined slightly, and high-yield bonds posted modest returns.

In response to rising growth and inflation, the U.S. Federal Reserve (the Fed) increased short-term interest rates four times during the reporting period. The Fed also continued to reduce its balance sheet during the reporting period, gradually reversing the unprecedented stimulus measures it enacted after the financial crisis. We believe the Fed is likely to continue to raise interest rates in the coming year. By our estimation, the Fed s neutral interest rate, or the theoretical rate that is neither stimulative nor restrictive to the economy, is approximately 3.0%. With that perspective, the Fed s current policy is still mildly stimulative to the U.S. economy, which leaves room for further Fed rate hikes to arrive at monetary policy that is a neutral factor for economic growth.

The U.S. economy continued to gain momentum despite the Fed s modest reduction of economic stimulus; unemployment declined to 3.7%, the lowest rate of unemployment in almost 50 years. The number of job openings reached a record high of more than 7 million, which exceeded the total number of unemployed workers. Strong economic performance has justified the Fed s somewhat faster pace of rate hikes, as several inflation measures and investors expectations for inflation have already surpassed the Fed s target of 2.0% per year.

While markets have recently focused on the risk of rising long-term interest rates, we continue to believe the primary risk to economic expansion is trade protectionism that could lead to slower global trade and unintended consequences for the globalized supply chain. So far, U.S. tariffs have only had a modest negative impact on economic growth, but the fear of an escalating trade war has stifled market optimism somewhat, leading to higher volatility in risk assets. The outcome of trade negotiations between the United States and China is likely to influence the global growth trajectory and set the tone for free trade in many other nations. Easing of tensions could lead to greater upside for markets, while additional tariffs could adversely affect investor sentiment.

In this environment, investors need to think globally, extend their scope across a broad array of asset classes, and be nimble as market conditions change. We encourage you to talk with your financial advisor and visit blackrock.com for further insight about investing in today s markets.

Sincerely,

Rob Kapito

BTZ is presenting the Reference Benchmark to accompany trust performance. The Reference Benchmark is presented for informational purposes only, as the Trust is actively managed and does not seek to track or replicate the performance of the Reference Benchmark or any other index. The portfolio investments of the Trust may differ substantially from the securities that comprise the indices within the Reference Benchmark, which may cause the Trust s performance to differ materially from that of the Reference Benchmark. The Trust employs leverage as part of its investment strategy, which may change over time at the discretion of BlackRock Advisors, LLC (the Manager) as market and other conditions warrant. In contrast, the Reference Benchmark is not adjusted for leverage. Therefore, leverage generally may result in the Trust outperforming the Reference Benchmark in rising markets and underperforming in declining markets. The Board considers additional factors to evaluate the Trust s performance, such as the performance of the Trust relative to a peer group of funds, a leverage-adjusted benchmark and/or other information provided by the Manager.

The following discussion relates to the Trust s absolute performance based on NAV:

What factors influenced performance?

The Trust s small allocation to emerging market-related debt had a negative impact on performance as rising interest rates, a strengthening U.S. dollar and idiosyncratic events weighed on the asset class. Additionally, the Trust s allocations to European investment grade and high yield corporate debt detracted, with exposure to the banking sector weighing most heavily on return.

The Trust s allocation to U.S. high yield corporate bonds helped performance as a positive technical backdrop supported the asset class amid volatility in other credit markets. An allocation to collateralized loan obligations (CLOs) also added to performance as the asset class benefited from rising short-term rates and investor appetite for floating rate debt. Positioning with respect to overall portfolio duration (and corresponding sensitivity to interest rate changes) was positive for performance as well, as the Trust had a relatively short duration in a period of rising rates.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Over the period, the Trust s out-of-benchmark exposure to CLOs was increased in order to benefit from demand for floating rate products in a rising rate environment. Additionally, the Trust increased its exposure to U.S. high yield corporate bonds over the period with an emphasis on the technology and energy sectors, as strong credit fundamentals and an improved technical backdrop have supported the asset class.

The Trust utilized derivatives including financial futures over the period in order to manage interest rate risk in the portfolio. The use of derivatives had a positive impact on performance.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

The Trust was positioned with a constructive view on credit as growth remained strong and corporate fundamentals remained healthy, although increased downside risks led the investment adviser to adopt a slightly more cautious stance. The Trust maintained an underweight position with respect to duration (and interest rate sensitivity) on the view that rates could continue to rise, along with an allocation to CLOs, which benefit from rising short-term rates. The largest overweight positions were to banks within financials and to midstream energy and telecommunication services companies within industrials. The Trust was underweight in sectors viewed as facing structural challenges such as retailers and life insurance companies.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

The following discussion relates to the Trust s absolute performance based on NAV:

What factors influenced performance?

From a sector perspective, the technology, health care and consumer cyclical services sectors were the largest contributors to the Trust s performance. By credit rating, B-rated positions were the largest contributors to performance, followed by BB-rated and CCC-rated positions. In terms of asset allocation, contributions to performance were led by floating rate loan interests (bank loans), followed by high yield bonds and collateralized loan obligations (CLOs).

On the downside, at the sector level, wireless, banking and integrated energy holdings were the largest detractors from the Trust s performance. There were no detractors from a credit rating perspective. Small positions in high yield credit default swaps and bank loan index products detracted slightly as well.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

The majority of the Trust was invested in B-rated bank loans over the 12-month period, with BB-rated names as the second largest allocation. Over the period, the Trust decreased its position in BB-rated loans in favor of B-rated positions. Additionally, the Trust trimmed its small CCC-rated allocation. On a sector basis, the Trust reduced its allocation to the communications space, particularly with respect to cable & satellite and wireless companies. The Trust also decreased its allocation to the gaming sector and continued to avoid cyclical sectors such as retailers and leisure. The Trust reduced its high yield bond exposure over the period and increased its allocation to CLOs.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

At period end, the Trust held the majority of its portfolio in floating rate bank loans, along with modest allocations to high yield bonds and CLOs. The Trust maintained its highest concentration in B-rated loans of select issuers, while limiting exposure to both higher quality loans with less-compelling risk/reward profiles and lower-rated loans with more equity-like profiles and greater downside risk should credit sentiment weaken. From a sector perspective, the Trust s largest overweight positions were within health care, technology and pharmaceuticals issuers. By contrast, the Trust was underweight in the broad consumer cyclicals space, particularly to retailers, automotive and leisure issuers. Within energy, the Trust was focused on higher-quality issuers within the independent energy segment as opposed to the potentially more volatile oil field services space. The Trust remained focused on industries and companies with stable business profiles and consistent cash flows, while avoiding areas of the market with secular concerns and/or deteriorating fundamental trends.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

The following discussion relates to the Trust s absolute performance based on NAV:

What factors influenced performance?

The Trust s positions in asset-backed securities (ABS), senior loans, commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS), and non-agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS) were the largest contributors to Trust performance for the period. Allocations to collateralized loan obligations and high yield corporate issues also contributed.

The Trust s allocation to sovereign plus securities represented the largest detractor from performance during the period. Holdings in investment grade corporate securities, capital securities and emerging market issues also detracted from returns.

For the period, the Trust held derivatives including interest rate swaps and futures as part of its investment strategy. Interest rate derivatives were utilized to manage duration (sensitivity to interest rates) and to express views on swap spreads. The use of these derivative securities had a positive impact on performance during the period.

Describe recent portfolio activity.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Multi-Sector Income Trust - Form N-CSR

At the start of the 12-month period, the Trust was positioned to benefit from a generally supportive market environment for risk assets given synchronized global growth, low volatility and robust economic data, particularly in the United States. As market volatility began to pick up over the course of the period, the Trust s positioning shifted to a more defensive posture, and the investment adviser began to focus on allocating to more liquid sectors within the fixed income market. In addition, the Trust s allocation to emerging market debt was reduced as the segment came under pressure in the latter half of the period due to a stronger U.S. dollar, heightened political uncertainty and global trade tensions. Securitized sectors had been resilient despite broad market volatility, but given that spreads in many areas of the securitized market were at their narrowest levels since the 2008 financial crisis, the Trust reduced its allocations to ABS and CMBS. As valuations improved based on waning demand from banks and overseas investors, the Trust rotated into sectors such as agency MBS. The Trust also added some exposure to U.S. Treasuries. The Trust s duration was reduced over the period, as the investment adviser believed that a combination of increased U.S. Treasury issuance and monetary policy tightening by global central banks would continue to push rates higher.

Describe portfolio positioning at period end.

At period end, the Trust maintained diversified exposure mainly across non-government spread sectors including securitized products, high yield and investment-grade corporate issues, and emerging market debt.

The views expressed reflect the opinions of BlackRock as of the date of this report and are subject to change based on changes in market, economic or other conditions. These views are not intended to be a forecast of future events and are no guarantee of future results.

Using this approach, the investment adviser has deemed U.S. Government Sponsored Agency Securities and U.S. Treasury Obligations as AAA/Aaa.

The Benefits and Risks of Leveraging

The Trusts may utilize leverage to seek to enhance the distribution rate on, and net asset value (NAV) of, their common shares (Common Shares). However, there is no guarantee that these objectives can be achieved in all interest rate environments.

In general, the concept of leveraging is based on the premise that the financing cost of leverage, which is based on short-term interest rates, is normally lower than the income earned by a Trust on its longer-term portfolio investments purchased with the proceeds from leverage. To the extent that the total assets of the Trusts (including the assets obtained from leverage) are invested in higher-yielding portfolio investments, the Trusts shareholders benefit from the incremental net income. The interest earned on securities purchased with the proceeds from leverage is paid to shareholders in the form of dividends, and the value of these portfolio holdings is reflected in the per share NAV.

To illustrate these concepts, assume a Trust s capitalization is $100 million and it utilizes leverage for an additional $30 million, creating a total value of $130 million available for investment in longer-term income securities. If prevailing short-term interest rates are 3% and longer-term interest rates are 6%, the yield curve has a strongly positive slope. In this case, a Trust s financing costs on the $30 million of proceeds obtained from leverage are based on the lower short-term interest rates. At the same time, the securities purchased by a Trust with the proceeds from leverage earn income based on longer-term interest rates. In this case, a Trust s financing cost of leverage is significantly lower than the income earned on a Trust s longer-term investments acquired from such leverage proceeds, and therefore the holders of Common Shares (Common Shareholders) are the beneficiaries of the incremental net income.

However, in order to benefit shareholders, the return on assets purchased with leverage proceeds must exceed the ongoing costs associated with the leverage. If interest and other costs of leverage exceed the Trusts return on assets purchased with leverage proceeds, income to shareholders is lower than if the Trusts had not used leverage. Furthermore, the value of the Trusts portfolio investments generally varies inversely with the direction of long-term interest rates, although other factors can influence the value of portfolio investments. In contrast, the value of the Trusts obligations under their respective leverage arrangements generally does not fluctuate in relation to interest rates. As a result, changes in interest rates can influence the Trusts NAVs positively or negatively. Changes in the future direction of interest rates are very difficult to predict accurately, and there is no assurance that the Trusts intended leveraging strategy will be successful.

The use of leverage also generally causes greater changes in each Trust s NAV, market price and dividend rates than comparable portfolios without leverage. In a declining market, leverage is likely to cause a greater decline in the NAV and market price of a Trust s shares than if the Trust were not leveraged. In addition, each Trust may be required to sell portfolio securities at inopportune times or at distressed values in order to comply with regulatory requirements applicable to the use of leverage or as required by the terms of leverage instruments, which may cause the Trusts to incur losses. The use of leverage may limit a Trust s ability to invest in certain types of securities or use certain types of hedging strategies. Each Trust incurs expenses in connection with the use of leverage, all of which are borne by shareholders and may reduce income to the shareholders. Moreover, to the extent the calculation of the Trusts investment advisory fees includes assets purchased with the proceeds of leverage, the investment advisory fees payable to the Trusts investment adviser will be higher than if the Trusts did not use leverage.

Each Trust may utilize leverage through a credit facility or reverse repurchase agreements as described in the Notes to Financial Statements.

Edgar Filing: BlackRock Multi-Sector Income Trust - Form N-CSR

Under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 1940 Act), each Trust is permitted to issue debt up to 33 1/3% of its total managed assets. A Trust may voluntarily elect to limit its leverage to less than the maximum amount permitted under the 1940 Act. In addition, a Trust may also be subject to certain asset coverage, leverage or portfolio composition requirements imposed by its credit facility, which may be more stringent than those imposed by the 1940 Act.

If a Trust segregates or designates on its books and records cash or liquid assets having a value not less than the value of a Trust s obligations under the reverse repurchase agreement (including accrued interest), then such transaction is not considered a senior security and is not subject to the foregoing limitations and requirements imposed by the 1940 Act.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Trusts may invest in various derivative financial instruments. These instruments are used to obtain exposure to a security, commodity, index, market and/or other assets without owning or taking physical custody of securities, commodities and/or other referenced assets or to manage market, equity, credit, interest rate, foreign currency exchange rate, commodity and/or other risks. Derivative financial instruments may give rise to a form of economic leverage and involve risks, including the imperfect correlation between the value of a derivative financial instrument and the underlying asset, possible default of the counterparty to the transaction or illiquidity of the instrument. BIT may use economic leverage of up to 100% of its net assets (50% of its total managed assets). The Trusts successful use of a derivative financial instrument depends on the investment adviser s ability to predict pertinent market movements accurately, which cannot be assured. The use of these instruments may result in losses greater than if they had not been used, may limit the amount of appreciation a Trust can realize on an investment and/or may result in lower distributions paid to shareholders. The Trusts investments in these instruments, if any, are discussed in detail in the Notes to Financial Statements.
