Item 8.01 Other Events.

On October 10, 2006, acting through a wholly-owned indirect subsidiary, CMS Enterprises Company ("CMS Enterprises"), in turn a wholly-owned subsidiary of CMS Energy Corporation ("CMS Energy"), signed a series of agreements (the "Agreements") to participate in and co-develop the Prairie State Energy Campus ("Prairie State") with Peabody Energy Corp. Prairie State is a 1,600 megawatt mine-mouth power plant project in southern Illinois, about 40 miles southeast of St. Louis, Missouri. CMS Enterprises will indirectly own 15% of the project and will serve as lead developer, construction manager, and operator of the power plant.

Prior to financial close, upon notice any party may terminate its participation in the project. Financial close is, among other things, contingent upon the parties being able to secure:

- Non-recourse project financing;
- An engineering, procurement, and construction contract for the power plant; and
- Long-term power purchase agreements for a substantial portion of CMS Enterprises' and Peabody Energy Corp.'s share of the project's output.

Attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1 is a CMS Energy News Release dated October 11, 2006, which provides more information about Prairie State.

Item 9.01 Financial Statements and Exhibits.
